Wording Up To Courts . . .

Unicameral Liberalizes Malpractice Regulations

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Friday liberalized proposed medical malpractice legislation to allow a patient to recover for damages other than financial or economic loss

Or at least it believes it did Grappling with the complicated malpractice issue for the third consecutive day, senators accepted an amendment which redefined economic losses to include "the loss of the reasonable expectations of any benefits which could reasonably have flowed to the injured party at any time in the future

Sen Steve Fowler of Lincoln sponsor of the change, said the courts should understand in interpreting that language that its intent was to include losses other than financial damage

For instance, he said damages could be rewarded for the lost benefits of the companionship of a relative or a reduced ability to fully enjoy life

The amendment also incorporated a change suggested by Sen John DeCamp of Neligh which includes in the definition of damages the impairment of ' present or future conditions in any way '

Exact interpretation of the meaning of that language would be the task of the courts

But Fowler said he wanted the courts to be guided by what he expressed as the intent of the Legislature prior to the adoption of the changes

Sen Loran Schmit of Bellwood, sponsor of the bill, LB703, said he had no objection to the amendment and it was adopted on a 35-0 vote

The malpractice legislation is strongly supported by the Nebraska Medical Association

LB703 is needed, Schmit said, to hold down health care costs and protect the quality and availability of medical service

Legislature stories on Page 7

As the Legislature bogged down in a raging debate for the third straight day, Speaker Jules Burbach called a halt to the proceedings so senators could attend to other business

The bill will face renewed discussion next week

Concerned that the measure could "drift into limbo ' during the concluding days of the legislative session Schmit served notice that he will attempt to reopen debate on Monday

Several senators indicated that Friday s changes will not temper their opposition

It s a doctor s bill, filled with protection for physicians at the expense of the rights of patients Sen Ernest Chambers of Omaha declared

' Dr Sanguinary, Dracula or Frankenstein could operate with impunity under this law "

Sen Donald Dworak of Columbus said the real answer to medical malpractice insurance problems lies in LB809 a bill which would allow doctors and hospitals to form their own insurance association

Senators accepted on a 15-12 vote Schmit s wording for a proposal which would allow patients to file in advance of treatment a declaration that they do not wish to be subject to the provisions of LB703

Supporters of the bill are concerned that its $500 000 limit on damages could infringe on constitutional rights if citizens are not allowed the opportunity to follow such an option

Sen George ' Bill ' Burrows of Adams said that option is a phony technicality" to circumvent constitutional guarantees

Any citizen who signed such a declaration would face the prospect of dying in the ambulance going across the state line seeking treatment, he said

Schmit said citizens would have to weigh the risk of malpractice against the risk of possibly being unable to receive treatment if they chose to disclaim the provisions of LB703

Reagan: Ford Men Lie

Campaign Tactics Sharply Attacked

Chicago (UPI) — Ronald Reagan in his most bitter attack on President Ford so far Friday accused the President s campaign leaders of lying in their teeth and said Ford himself is using questionable campaign tactics

The cheapest kind of politics is being played by the campaign forces of President Ford Reagan said The effort is to portray me (as if) I must win in the first few primaries

They know better than that They re lying in their teeth they know better

Ford has defeated Reagan in three primaries so far — New Hampshire Massachusetts and Florida — and won the Vermont primary Reagan did not contest

Even before the outcome of those races Ford campaign manager Howard Callaway was saying New Hampshire and Florida were Reagan s best states After Reagan lost Callaway began questioning his ' viability

Reagan in an interview with ABC and at several campaign stops criticized Ford directly for what he termed a misuse of presidential power

He said There you are you re campaigning in Florida and suddenly in one county the President comes in and with the power that he has as President tells them he will build a highway that really isn t scheduled to be built for a number of years

In the next county he tells them he is going to deliver the international Chamber of Commerce convention to that particular county next year

In the third county he tells a group of veterans face to face that he is going to build them a new hospital and then in the fourth county he announces a $34 million expansion program for a military base that is a large part of the economy there

I don t know how long the list was of things that have been promised but I think they re considerable

Reagan said he could also make promises but I think that s what s wrong today and I m campaigning on the basis that we ve had enough of politics as usual

The former California governor also lit into Secretary of State Henry Kissinger saying Kissinger s criticism of him in Boston shows desperation and hysteria

Ford Says Pardon Of Nixon Was Right

Chicago (AP) — President Ford said Friday he was right when he pardoned former President Richard M Nixon for Watergate offenses and would do it again

The President also defended his foreign policy saying the United States must deal from strength but that a confrontation with the Soviet Union could destroy the world

The Nixon-Watergate question was raised during a question-and-answer session with the Northern Illinois Newspaper Association when Ford was asked whether the pardon was hurting his campaign

I really didn t do it for political purposes Ford said I made the decision just because I thought it was in the national interest not his interest but the national interest to get that tragedy that traumatic period behind us

He said any political consequences would be up to the voters in the Illinois primary next week and in the national presidential election next fall

But I m convinced it was right and in the national interest and I would do it again he said

No Accord Reached At Oil Talks

Panama City, Fla (AP) — Talks aimed at the purchase by Saudi Arabia of all remaining American interests in the world's largest oil producing company concluded Friday with no final agreement

The end was cloaked in the same secrecy that had surrounded the high-level negotiations all week

Saudi oil minister Sheik Ahmed Yamani remained secluded at a heavily guarded luxury resort in this Gulf Coast city, but some executives of the Arabian-American Oil Co (Aramco) apparently departed before dawn

Aramco officials in New York confirmed in a terse statement that the meeting had ended

"General accord was reached on major issues," a spokesman said But he added that no final pact was reached on the transfer of the 40% of Aramco still owned by four American firms

There will be additional meetings of the legal and technical staff to prepare for a further meeting which will be necessary to reach complete agreement," Aramco said

Executives from Mobil, Exxon, Texaco and Standard Oil of California negotiated with Yamani for five days Published reports said the purchase price for the American shares may reach $2 billion

Besides a final price, Yamani and the American oil chieftains also were said to be working on an greement for a continued flow of oil at guaranteed prices for a specified period of time

Exxon board chairman Clifton Garvin and William P Tavolaureas, president of Mobil Oil Corp , confirmed that the talks had ended but would not discuss what issues remained unresolved They also would not comment on why the meeting lasted a day longer than expected

The executives and Yamani arrived at the exclusive Bay Point Yacht and Country Club on Saturday night for what they had hoped would be a series of meetings away from public attention But the 50 shotgun-toting federal and private security guards who patroled the resort s perimeter by car boat and helicopter soon attracted reporters

The tight security was to ensure there would be no repeat of a terrorist attack on an Arab oil ministers' meeting in Vienna last December in which three persons were killed

Spencer Lloyd, the resort s manager, said Thursday that Yamani was planning a brief vacation before department Saturday or Sunday

Latter-Day Zorros Spring 16 From Jail In Mexico

Eagle Pass, Tex (UPI) — The young Americans sprung from a little Mexican jail by two modern-day "Zorros ' will never be sent back Maverick County Cheif Deputy Esteban Cortez said Friday

"No way ' Cortez said "They are American citizens and they are staying here "

Cortez, delicately critical of the conditions in a Mexican jail and of the country's legal system compared the two rescuers with the legendary Mexcian bandit Zorro who operated like a Robin Hood in California in the 1800s

Dale Chenoweth, 29 of Moss, Tex said conditions in the jail were atrocious

' We were kept in a concrete cubicle that measured 8 by 9 feet, he said "The fewest we ever had in there was six the average was nine and often there were 12

"I was there for 11 months and I never saw the sun Some had been there less. The most was 20 months We didn t get out of the cell except to take a bath once a day and for about five minutes when they searched the cell.

' There was no room to walk. No exercise I had to run a block and a half to the river and I was exhausted You are a prisoner and you re less than human They care if you die because that reflects badly on them, but they don t care if you completely degenerate

Two men wearing green ski masks and green clothes broke into the jail in the tiny border town of Piedras Negras at 3 10 a m Thursday tied up five guards and then released the 16 young American prisoners from the cells The 18 people then ran a block and a half to the Rio Grande and swam to freedom

Six of the 18 were taken into custody by U S authorities and held until noon Friday while checks were made on whether they were wanted for crimes in the United States.

An exchange between two young fans who were among the second day s crowds to pack the Nebraska Sports Center for the state high school basketball tourney Friday

Wandering through the red-walled corridors seemed to provide adventure for packs of younger, not-so-interested-in-the-game types The groups of concession-gobbling juveniles, at times seemed lost

Speaking of which unless one has a compass it s easy to get lost in that mass of red and white look-alike

A trick to remember is that, if you come in the north doors (from the Fairgrounds) you'll find the entrance for aisle Number One directly in front of you Consecutive aisles run to the right and through Number 20 The numbers are ceiling to floor white graphics that are easy to spot

Don't tell a friend that you'll meet them by the concessions stand because there s four on the main floor, and they all look alike. The same goes for restrooms since there s a matched set of those on the upper floor too

As for seats in the arena they re all red with white N s on the end of the row so good luck

Taking all the red and white into account with some blue thrown in for the bicentennial and some green for relief it was rather mind boggling to the fans to see two red and white clad teams in the Friday night opener as Aurora s Huskies and Sidney s Red Raiders tangled The former was victorious

Even though the Aurora pep club was separated from the pep band by a distance of several sections, the chants of Go Big Red although a bit unoriginal, were nonetheless inspiring considering that an adjacent section of fans early rooted for the Northeast Prep tilt which followed helped out a bit

As the Aurora fans and cheerleaders exchanged victory hugs a group of Lincoln-Omaha people waited outside the complex sometimes hugging one another to fight off a blustery cold as the interior of the sports machine was faced with another change of scenery, soon to follow

Tornadoes Swoop Across Three States

By United Press International

Tornadoes raced across portions of Indiana, Illinois and Michigan Friday, one of them swooping down near a motorcade in which President Ford was riding.

At least four persons were killed and more than 100 injured in the spate of twisters.

Several tornadoes swept the Chicago area as the presidential motorcade moved through the city. Olne came down only one-half mile from the hotel where the President was staying during an Illinois campaign trip. One person was killed and at least 60 injured in the Chicago area.

Indiana Gov. Otis Bowen put the National Guard on alert, telling guardsmen their services may be needed in tornado-pocked northern Indiana, where twisters left at least three persons dead and 48 injured. Illinois Gov. Daniel Walker declared four counties in the Chicago area a disaster area.

Houses were turned into tinderboxes by surging winds, trees were uprooted and cars were damaged.

Northern Indiana Power and Light Co. sent crews out to restore power to several communities and to patch downed lines that had temporarily closed parts of Interstate 65 and several state roads in the Lake-Jasper-Newton County area.

One person was killed by a twister that demolished a home and several buildings at a farm near the Jasper-Newton County line.

Five persons were seriously injured when two mobile homes were destroyed by the storm in Newton County. Allen County police said one person was killed when the storm leveled a mobile home near New Haven.

Twisters swept Chicago's Northwest Side and surrounding suburbs, unroofing a Howard Johnson's Motel along the President's motorcade route and only a half mile from the President's hotel.

A number of persons in the Howard Johnson's Restaurant were cut by flying glass as a tornado swept over the inn, ripping the roof from one wing and blowing out windows on the motel's south side.

One tornado fatality was reported in Chicago's suburban Franklin Park.

Hundreds of homes and buildings were damaged, roofs blown off, trees knocked down and power lines out.

By late afternoon, area hospitals reported at least 60 injuries from the storm.

The storm also hit other parts of northern Illinois, destroying five vehicles and causing an estimated $100,000 damage at a farm east of Kankakee near the Indiana border.

A violent line of late-winter thunderstorms rumbled over southern Michigan, dropping tornadoes and causing scattered damage in several isolated areas.

A blizzard howled over the upper Midwest.

The wide-ranging storm rode from the northern Rockies to the Great Lakes on winds up to 93 miles an hour. It speared deep into the Central Plains.

The blizzard vented most of its force on Minnesota. Authorities urged persons to stay off the highways. Many country roads drifted shut. Hundreds of schools in the state called off classes and others opened late.

Shapp Quits; Brown Runs In California

By The Associated Press

The field of major Democratic presidential candidates dwindled to six Friday with the withdrawal of Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp, whose early primary campaigns failed to generate votes or money.

Shapp said he would not run even as a favorite son in his own state's primary. But another Democratic governor, Edmund Brown Jr. of California, disclosed Friday that he will run as a favorite son in his state's primary.

The 37-year-old Brown said he would not run in any other primaries.

Meanwhile, the campaign continued with President Ford defending his foreign policy, under attack by Republican challenger Ronald Reagan, and his pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon.

Shapp, citing lack of time, money, organization and media coverage, turned loose the 98 delegates who had filed for him on the ballot. He declined to back any other candidate.

Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington and Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona said they would step up campaigning in Pennsylvania as a result of Shapp's action.

Ford and Reagan, seeking votes in next Tuesday's primary, were in Illinois, as were Democrats George Wallace, Sargent Shriver and Fred Harris. Jimmy Carter, who had been in Illinois, flew to California, but planned to return before the primary.

"Our foreign policy is moving forward very constructively," said Ford. Answering a question from a student at Wheaton College just outside Chicago, the President said: "I would not under any circumstances want (Secretary of State) Henry Kissinger to quit."

The major speech of the Ford's day was prepared for the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations.

"Under no circumstances will we play second fiddle to anybody militarily," Ford said in apparent response to Reagan claims that administration policies have weakened the United States.

Ford emphasized his national security motto of "peace with strength," while saying he wanted to negotiate a new U.S.-Soviet arms limitation agreement.

Reagan, who had been centering his attacks on Ford's foreign policy, switched his target on Friday, concentrating on the theme that he is not running against Gerald Ford the man, but against the office and power of the presidency.

New York — A research group in Florida reported that syphilis bacterium has been grown in a test tube for the first time and then used to develop an experimental vaccine that might eventually make human beings immune to the disease. Injections of the experimental vaccine into rabbits were said to have given promising results, but four more years of experimentation with animals will be necessary, the researchers said, before it could be injected into humans under experimental conditions.

Ford Aide Lobbied For More Federal Land

Washington (AP) — A retired federal official says President Ford's campaign chief, Howard "Bo" Callaway, lobbied in his Pentagon office last year for reversal of a U.S. Forest Service decision to disallow expansion of a ski resort partly owned by Callaway on federal land.

A Senate subcommittee will investigate the use of Forest Service land in western Colorado for Callaway's Crested Butte ski resort.

Former Undersecretary of Agriculture Phil Campbell said Friday night that he met with Callaway and Forest Service officials at Callaway's request when Callaway was secretary of the Army last summer.

"There was no pressure, no nothing," said Campbell. "He doesn't have to pressure prople. He's a high-class gentleman."

This is how Campbell described the discussion:

"The Forest Service produced figures showing the volume of people at Crested Butte was not as heavy for a ski run as at other Colorado ski areas.

"He (Callaway) said — 'that's just the point. We think that kind of volume is bad for the environment,' and he made his case for more area."

Sen. Floyd Haskell, D-Colo., said his Interior Environment and Public Lands subcommittee would investigate the apparent reversal of the Foest Service's recommendation to deny expansion of the ski resort.

"I've been very concerned as to how the Forest Service dishes out ski areas," said Haskell in a telephone interview. Many ski areas are located on public lands leased from the Forest Service.

Callaway owns an interest in the ski area.

3 Firms Made Payoffs

Washington (AP) — Three more multinational corporations disclosed overseas payoffs Friday, including International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., which paid out $3.8 million to foreign customers or government officials over the past five years.

General Tire and Rubber Co. said it kept a secret fund of $1 million, much of it paid out to consultants in Arab nations and behind the Iron Curtain.

Westinghouse Electric Corp. reported that a search of its records turned up questionable payments of less than $300,000 over the past five years, $70,000 of that in 1975.

All three firms said internal investigations were conducted as a result of disclosures of foreign bribes by other firms and investigations by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

ITT also reported making $60,000 in political contributions overseas during the same five-year period. All were legal, the firm said.

A fourth firm, Universal Oil Products Co., reported Thursday making $290,000 in questionable overseas payments since 1970.

Sleuths Nab Nixon's Tree

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plant sleuths at the Agriculture Department have confiscated a 15-inch dwarf tree that former President Richard M. Nixon brought back from the People's Republic of China last month. Officials say Nixon will not get it back.

The tree, believed to be a miniature flowering cherry or apricot, was taken from Nixon's plane after it arrived in Los Angeles on Feb. 29. It is being held at the department's quarantine station in Glenn Dale, Md., to see if it is diseased.

Eugene M. Farkas of USDA's animal and plant health inspection service said the tree will have to be quarantined four years "if it survives" and then could end up for public display at the National Arboretum.

Farkas said it had not been determined whether Nixon's tree is diseased.

"I was told that it is not a very good specimen," he added.

Federal law prohibits the importation of plants unless they measure up to strict health and quarantine standards to prevent the introduction of foreign diseases which might endanger U.S. crops and other plants.

DWARF FRUIT TREE . . . in quarantine.

While the Nixon tree is subject to a four-year quarantine, 53 miniature bonsai trees given to the United States last year by Japan as a bicentennial gift will have a briefer isolation.

Farkas said the Japanese bonsai trees were granted a special permit that specified detailed examinations and certification before they left Japan and during a one-year quarantine here. The Japanese trees will be open to public view July 10 at the National Arboretum.

He also said the bonsai trees are dwarf non-fruit specimens including maple, elm, pine, geingko and juniper. The Chinese tree carried by Nixon is a miniature fruit tree, and those are banned completely and when seized are not returned to their owners, Farkas said.

Farkas said it had not been determined how Nixon acquired the dwarf tree or who gave it to him while he was on his China trip.

"The only thing we do know is that it was on the plane returning from China with him and his family," Farkas said.

The tree was seized in Los Angeles and then transferred to the quarantine station in Glenn Dale, Md.

"It was all handled routinely," Farkas said.

When he returned from his first trip to China in 1972, while he was President, Nixon brought back some miniature trees, including several that he displayed at the White House. Those, apparently, were not inspected by USDA or subjected to any quarantine, Farkas said.

According to The Washington Post, only five of the original eight trees survived, and after Nixon resigned they wound up at the National Arboretum.

Asked why USDA apparently had not checked Nixon's Chinese trees in 1972, Farkas said he could not explain that but added that "you just don't go and shake down the President's plane" when it comes back from an official foreign visit.

"We can do it in this case because he is traveling, technically, as a private citizen," Farkas said.

Auto Makers: Repair Parts' Prices In Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for the nation's big three auto makers contended Friday that prices of auto body repair parts are in line with cost increases in other segments of the economy.

Officials of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler denied manipulation of "crash parts" prices and defended their system of selling the parts only through franchised new car dealers.

In testimony before the Senate consumer subcommittee, the officials challenged the accuracy of the price index of State Farm Mutual Automotive Insurance Co. which showed a 64% increase in the prices of parts damaged in crashes in the past two years.

11 Safety Volunteers Die In Mine Which Killed 15

Partridge, Ky. (UPI) — Eleven men on a volunteer safety mission deep underground were found dead Friday, raising to 26 the death toll from twin methane gas explosions in the same Kentucky mountainside mine in two days.

Fifteen miners were killed by a blast that rocked the Scotia Coal Co. mine Tuesday. The 11 victims were found Friday huddled in the same shaft. They had climbed inside to try to find out what caused the first explosion and to clear the mine of poisonous gas.

Friday's dead included three federal mine inspectors and one miner who had been working underground Tuesday, escaped safely and then volunteered to go back into the tunnel Thursday night to help find the cause of the first blast.

"These men . . . gave their lives in the pursuit of information that would help prevent further tragic accidents," said Kentucky Gov. Julian Carroll. "The cost of 26 lives is a price too high for Kentucky families, the famlies of the federal mine safety officers, for any family to pay. But it has been paid."

The blasts and underground cave-ins occurred 59 hours apart.

Two other mine inspectors survived the latest explosion, stumbling 5,000 feet through the tunnels to safety early Friday.

Unseating Of Franjieh Demanded

Beirut, Lebanon (AP) — The armed forces command announced early Saturday it considered Suleiman Franjieh no longer president of Lebanon, which has been ravaged by Christian-Moslem civil war since last spring.

The defiant Christian leader refused to relinquish his office.

The ninth communique issued by the National Corrective Movement — headed by Brig. Aziz Ahdab, the Moslem leader of Thursday's military coup — called on the Lebanese parliament to elect a new president.

"President Suleiman Franjieh has been considered as resigned for not responding to our appeals," the communique said.

Fighting took 23 lives Friday and left more than 40 wounded, according to a compilation of reports from various sources.

The military leaders demanded Friday that Franjieh give up his office "in response to popular feelings" shown by widespread public support for the coup.

Tornadoes Swoop Across Three States

By United Press International

Tornadoes raced across portions of Indiana, Illinois and Michigan Friday, one of them swooping down near a motorcade in which President Ford was riding.

At least four persons were killed and more than 100 injured in the spate of twisters.

Several tornadoes swept the Chicago area as the presidential motorcade moved through the city. Olne came down only one-half mile from the hotel where the President was staying during an Illinois campaign trip. One person was killed and at least 60 injured in the Chicago area.

Indiana Gov. Otis Bowen put the National Guard on alert, telling guardsmen their services may be needed in tornado-pocked northern Indiana, where twisters left at least three persons dead and 48 injured. Illinois Gov. Daniel Walker declared four counties in the Chicago area a disaster area.

Houses were turned into tinderboxes by surging winds, trees were uprooted and cars were damaged.

Northern Indiana Power and Light Co. sent crews out to restore power to several communities and to patch downed lines that had temporarily closed parts of Interstate 65 and several state roads in the Lake-Jasper-Newton County area.

One person was killed by a twister that demolished a home and several buildings at a farm near the Jasper-Newton County line.

Five persons were seriously injured when two mobile homes were destroyed by the storm in Newton County. Allen County police said one person was killed when the storm leveled a mobile home near New Haven.

Twisters swept Chicago's Northwest Side and surrounding suburbs, unroofing a Howard Johnson's Motel along the President's motorcade route and only a half mile from the President's hotel.

A number of persons in the Howard Johnson's Restaurant were cut by flying glass as a tornado swept over the inn, ripping the roof from one wing and blowing out windows on the motel's south side.

One tornado fatality was reported in Chicago's suburban Franklin Park.

Hundreds of homes and buildings were damaged, roofs blown off, trees knocked down and power lines out.

By late afternoon, area hospitals reported at least 60 injuries from the storm.

The storm also hit other parts of northern Illinois, destroying five vehicles and causing an estimated $100,000 damage at a farm east of Kankakee near the Indiana border.

A violent line of late-winter thunderstorms rumbled over southern Michigan, dropping tornadoes and causing scattered damage in several isolated areas.

A blizzard howled over the upper Midwest.

The wide-ranging storm rode from the northern Rockies to the Great Lakes on winds up to 93 miles an hour. It speared deep into the Central Plains.

The blizzard vented most of its force on Minnesota. Authorities urged persons to stay off the highways. Many country roads drifted shut. Hundreds of schools in the state called off classes and others opened late.

Shapp Quits; Brown Runs In California

By The Associated Press

The field of major Democratic presidential candidates dwindled to six Friday with the withdrawal of Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp, whose early primary campaigns failed to generate votes or money.

Shapp said he would not run even as a favorite son in his own state's primary. But another Democratic governor, Edmund Brown Jr. of California, disclosed Friday that he will run as a favorite son in his state's primary.

The 37-year-old Brown said he would not run in any other primaries.

Meanwhile, the campaign continued with President Ford defending his foreign policy, under attack by Republican challenger Ronald Reagan, and his pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon.

Shapp, citing lack of time, money, organization and media coverage, turned loose the 98 delegates who had filed for him on the ballot. He declined to back any other candidate.

Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington and Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona said they would step up campaigning in Pennsylvania as a result of Shapp's action.

Ford and Reagan, seeking votes in next Tuesday's primary, were in Illinois, as were Democrats George Wallace, Sargent Shriver and Fred Harris. Jimmy Carter, who had been in Illinois, flew to California, but planned to return before the primary.

"Our foreign policy is moving forward very constructively," said Ford. Answering a question from a student at Wheaton College just outside Chicago, the President said: "I would not under any circumstances want (Secretary of State) Henry Kissinger to quit."

The major speech of the Ford's day was prepared for the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations.

"Under no circumstances will we play second fiddle to anybody militarily," Ford said in apparent response to Reagan claims that administration policies have weakened the United States.

Ford emphasized his national security motto of "peace with strength," while saying he wanted to negotiate a new U.S.-Soviet arms limitation agreement.

Reagan, who had been centering his attacks on Ford's foreign policy, switched his target on Friday, concentrating on the theme that he is not running against Gerald Ford the man, but against the office and power of the presidency.

Washington — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has officially reprimanded two of his closest State Department associates for disclosing without specific authorization some excerpts from Kissinger's hitherto unpublished conversations with Middle East leaders.

Emigration Okayed

Bonn — A treaty that provides for the emigration of up to 125,000 ethnic Germans from Poland was unanimously ratified Friday by the West German Parliament after a week of tense round-the-clock negotiations between Warsaw and Bonn.

Gandhi Takes Last State

New Delhi — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government assumed direct control over the west coastal state of Gujarat in India after the defeat of the local government, headed by Chief Minister Babubhai Patel, in a vote in the state assembly. Patel had headed a nine-month-old coalition that had been united mainly by its opposition to Mrs. Gandhi and her Congress Party. Gujarat was put under the so-called president's rule — direct administration of the state from New Delhi. Now all of India's 22 states are controlled by the Congress Party, the dominant party on the national level.

Ford Aide Lobbied For More Federal Land

Washington (AP) — A retired federal official says President Ford's campaign chief, Howard "Bo" Callaway, lobbied in his Pentagon office last year for reversal of a U.S. Forest Service decision to disallow expansion of a ski resort partly owned by Callaway on federal land.

A Senate subcommittee will investigate the use of Forest Service land in western Colorado for Callaway's Crested Butte ski resort.

Former Undersecretary of Agriculture Phil Campbell said Friday night that he met with Callaway and Forest Service officials at Callaway's request when Callaway was secretary of the Army last summer.

"There was no pressure, no nothing," said Campbell. "He doesn't have to pressure prople. He's a high-class gentleman."

This is how Campbell described the discussion:

"The Forest Service produced figures showing the volume of people at Crested Butte was not as heavy for a ski run as at other Colorado ski areas.

NFO Suspends Cattle Withholding

Corning, Iowa (UPI) — The National Farmers Organization said the results of a cattle marketing "vacation" were better than hoped for and suspended the action, a week after it was called to try to unite cattlemen against dropping prices

"The results have been more than the NFO hoped for when the vacation was called," said Oren Lee Staley, NFO president

He said the action was ended "until further notice to permit the NFO to negotiate contracts for the increased volume of cattle which have been committed to the NFO for bargaining by hundreds of cattle producers during the vacation"

Although market reports during the week have indicated little change in the number of cattle brought to the major markets, Staley said the action was aimed at giving cattlemen an opportunity to unite to price their production, and not primarily at prices and volume being marketed

'Since NFO cattle are not marketed through terminal markets volume at terminals cited by our critics has been meaningless' Staley said "The NFO and the packers know that supply was substantially affected'

As a result of the vacation, he said, the NFO has been able to improve its contracts with packers substantially both as to prices and weight range of cattle especially at top level prices

Wheat Allotment Comments Invited

Washington (UPI) — The Agriculture Department is inviting public advice on the proposed size of the national wheat allotment for 1977

The allotment does not put a ceiling on the amount of wheat farmers can plant It is significant to some growers, however, because it defines how many acres will be eligible for disaster payments when crops are lost to droughts and other weather calamities, and it also puts a ceiling on acreage eligible for federal support payments if market prices drop below a preset "target" level

Under farm law, the Agriculture Department must announce the allotment for next year s crop — much of which will be planted in late summer and fall of 1976 — by April 15

Officials noted that under the law, the allotment is basically required to provide enough acreage to meet combined domestic and export needs The secretary of agriculture has power, however to raise or lower the allotment if he rules tht reserve carryovers should be increased or decreased

The allotment for this year's crop was set at 61 6 million acres, up sharply from the 1975 allotment of 53 5 million acres The increase proved welcome for plains farmers who suffered drought damage and will be eligible for more disaster payment protection than a year ago

Agriculture officials said they are inviting public comment through April 8 on factors such as probable per-acre yields, production and demand for next year s wheat crop for consideration in determining the 1977 allotment

NFO Suspends Cattle Withholding

Corning, Iowa (UPI) — The National Farmers Organization said the results of a cattle marketing "vacation" were better than hoped for and suspended the action, a week after it was called to try to unite cattlemen against dropping prices.

"The results have been more than the NFO hoped for when the vacation was called," said Oren Lee Staley, NFO president.

He said the action was ended "until further notice . . . to permit the NFO to negotiate contracts for the increased volume of cattle which have been committed to the NFO for bargaining by hundreds of cattle producers during the vacation."

Although market reports during the week have indicated little change in the number of cattle brought to the major markets, Staley said the action was aimed at giving cattlemen an opportunity to unite to price their production, and not primarily at prices and volume being marketed.

"Since NFO cattle are not marketed through terminal markets, volume at terminals cited by our critics has been meaningless," Staley said. "The NFO and the packers know that supply was substantially affected."

As a result of the vacation, he said, the NFO has been able to improve its contracts with packers substantially both as to prices and weight range of cattle especially at top level prices.

Wheat Allotment Comments Invited

Washington (UPI) — The Agriculture Department is inviting public advice on the proposed size of the national wheat allotment for 1977.

The allotment does not put a ceiling on the amount of wheat farmers can plant. It is significant to some growers, however, because it defines how many acres will be eligible for disaster payments when crops are lost to droughts and other weather calamities, and it also puts a ceiling on acreage eligible for federal support payments if market prices drop below a preset "target" level.

Under farm law, the Agriculture Department must announce the allotment for next year's crop — much of which will be planted in late summer and fall of 1976 — by April 15.

Officials noted that under the law, the allotment is basically required to provide enough acreage to meet combined domestic and export needs. The secretary of agriculture has power, however, to raise or lower the allotment if he rules tht reserve carryovers should be increased or decreased.

The allotment for this year's crop was set at 61.6 million acres, up sharply from the 1975 allotment of 53.5 million acres. The increase proved welcome for plains farmers who suffered drought damage and will be eligible for more disaster payment protection than a year ago.

Agriculture officials said they are inviting public comment through April 8 on factors such as probable per-acre yields, production and demand for next year's wheat crop for consideration in determining the 1977 allotment.

Curtis Votes No But Bill Passes

Washington (AP) — Nebraska Sen. Carl T. Curtis was among the Republicans voting against a bill to remove the Hatch Act ban on partisan political activities by federal employes.

However, the bill passed Thursday night on a 47-32 roll call vote in the Senate.

Bank Going Solar

Adel, Iowa (UPI) — The directors of an Adel bank have decided to invest $75,000 in a solar heating and cooling unit for the bank's new building, to combat soaring energy costs.

The Malpractice Muddle

There is no conclusive evidence to date that new legislation will stem the tide of rising medical malpractice insurance premium costs which are passed along to patients.

That is not to say that legislative remedies should not be sought.

But Nebraskans have a right to be uneasy as they watch their state senators in the process of legislating away a patient's rights to recover damages for negligence, as the lawmakers have been doing this week in debating LB703, a physicians' protection bill offered by the Nebraska Medical Association under the sponsorship of Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood.

A majority of the Legislature is settled, apparently, on placing a dollar ceiling on damages and on limiting recovery to an inexact definition of economic loss suffered from medical negligence. Claims by sponsors of an earlier amendment that the amendment is so broad that "anything in any way which would be interpreted as a loss would be an economic loss," and claims by sponsors of a proposal which allows recovery in a rather hazy area outside strict economic loss do not do much to allay fears that patient rights are being ground under foot of an overpowering effort on the part of the medical lobby.

A most troubling aspect of the malpractice debate is that even those skeptical of LB703 conceded rights before the floor fight ensued, giving credence to the assumption that the medical association had done its groundwork well. It isn't a question of whether or not recovery should be more restrictive than present law, but how much more restrictive.

Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh, who offered the earlier economic loss proviso claimed to be broad, said his amendment was the best proposal he thought would survive the doctors' intense lobbying effort. This prompted Sen. John Cavanaugh of Omaha, who believes the bill too restrictive, to acknowledge the medical lobby's strength in the Legislature and a lobbying effort Cavanaugh says cost $130,000.

"This bill is bought and paid for," Cavanaugh said at that point.

He is not the only senator to utter that statement.

And if it is true, it would not be the first time a bill was "bought and paid for."

A broader recovery amendment offered Friday still seems to unjustly compromise patients' ability to claim loss from medical negligence. This revision of the DeCamp amendment, accepted readily by Schmit and the rest of the Legislature, still poses numerous unanswered questions.

We realize that whatever happens in the end, patients will be paying. We hope, however, that the medical malpractice problem can be resolved after the consideration of the requirements of all parties concerned and that victims' rights will not be crushed in the collision between powerful interests.

Extra Seats Needed?

Having a Lincoln team with as rich a tournament history as Northeast undoubtedly helped to fill the brand new Nebraska Sports Center to capacity for the Class A Nebraska high school basketball tournament opener Thursday night. Overflow evening crowds should be the tourney norm this year.

Riotous Rocket rooters helped to press the opening crowd past the center's temporary capacity of 13,000. When finished, the modern sports complex will have 15,000 permanent seats for basketball, with room for expansion.

But is it enough room, we ask with a little uncertainty.

The opening game crowd certainly was auspicious, and one night in the new barn does wonders in wiping away the sentimental pains associated with leaving the old barn.

Again, we ponder the opening night sell-out.

Terry Carpenter can take immense satisfaction in that.

The salty western Nebraska politician fought for a 20,000-seat capacity in the new sports center, but the Legislature opted instead for the more modest 15,000 seats with possible expansion to 18,000. A more prudent course, probably.

But Terry believes in thinking big in planning for the future.

Maybe he was right.

If the opening crowd was any indication, the new sports center may be obsolete before it is officially dedicated.

CHARLES B. SEIB

Burden Of Decision

WASHINGTON — My mail tells me that the public today sees the press as an arrogant and heedless institution, whose motto is: "When in doubt, publish."

And with some reason. The press — print and broadcast — is in a publishing mood. Anything goes, it seems, if an argument — even a tortured one — can be made that the public has a right to know.

There are times, however, when editors do agonize over whether the public's right to know outweighs arguments for suppression.

Such arguments generally fall into two categories: Publication would endanger national security, or publication would cause harm to a person or persons.

In peacetime and in today's mood, the press has little problem with the national security issue. The basic assumption is that in a democracy the public not only has a right to know but must know what its institutions, public and private, are up to. The danger to the nation must be both clear and present before it outweighs that assumption.

When potential damage to individuals is involved, the laws of libel and privacy impose some restraints, but they don't solve all the problems.

Sometimes the press accedes to official requests for suppression when an individual's safety is at stake. Most newspapers and broadcasters have cooperated with authorities to delay publication in order to avoid the risk of harm to a kidnap victim.

And then there are the cases where the subject of a proposed story attempts to bring pressure directly as a matter of self-preservation.

Such pressure is easy to deal with when it takes the conventional forms — a threat to withdraw advertising or an attempt to invoke friendship with the publisher. But when the subject threatens suicide if the story appears — in effect, makes his own person the hostage — the burdens of editorship suddenly seem very heavy, indeed.

Such a situation attracted national attention two weeks ago. On the morning of Sunday, Feb. 29, the Dallas (Tex.) Times Herald published a story about a distinguished petroleum engineer who, the paper said, had been a Soviet spy for many years and more recently a double-agent for the FBI. The story was carefully detailed and emphatically displayed. It was based on a three-month investigation by a team of reporters and on interviews with the engineer himself.

It quoted the subject's own admission that he had spied for the Russians for pay. And it quoted an unnamed intelligence officer as saying that the engineer was "the single most important individual in the development of the Russian oil and gas industry" in the 1945-60 period.

During interviews with Times Herald reporters, the engineer had pleaded that his name not be published and had mentioned suicide. The day before the story was to appear, he called the Times Herald and asked if his name were going to be used. He was told it was.

Then, according to Ken Johnson, the paper's executive editor, "he said that such a disclosure left him no choice but suicide."

Johnson says that two editors talked to the man for about 20 minutes. After the conversation, the decision was to publish as planned. The next morning, the engineer was found dead in his Connecticut home of a gunshot wound authorities said was self-inflicted.

Had the engineer not carried out his threat, the Times Herald's story would have been simply an example of good investigative reporting. But in view of what happened, it is appropriate to ask some questions.

Was it a valid public-interest story? Assuming the facts were correctly stated, the answer must be yes. It appears that the information supplied by the engineer materially helped the Russians develop their oil industry. For that information he received substantial reward, including a pension (which the FBI took over). He even was awarded a Soviet medal, although he apparently never took delivery.

Could the story have been published without identifying the engineer? It is difficult to see how that could have been done effectively without omitting much of the specific information. Also, it undoubtedly would have been only a matter of time before the name was disclosed in some other publication. In the meantime, American petroleum engineers generally would have been under a cloud.

Should someone on the Times Herald have tried to warn the engineer's family that the story was about to appear and that he was talking of suicide? This is the most difficult question, in my opinion.

The situation was complicated by the fact that the engineer's family knew nothing of his service to the Russians. So the paper not only would have had to warn them, it would have had to fill them in on the story itself.

Newspaper people resist leaving their own line of work — publishing the news — and injecting themselves into private matters. But that excuse has a hollow ring in view of the fact that a story like the one in question is bound to enter the private life of the subject with explosive force.

In any case, no one was warned and the story was published. So now the public knows that important industrial secrets were transmitted to the Russians and by whom. And a man is dead.

Did the balance tip in the right direction? That is a judgment I can't make. I will say, however, that while each case must be weighed individually, the suicide threat, like any form of blackmail, cannot be allowed to become an effective impediment to the flow of legitimate, important news.

The Kissinger Boston Speech

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger has always said he didn't want to be an issue in the presidential election, and that he wouldn't get involved personally in the campaign debates, but like so many of his other dreams and plans, this one has gone awry.

His speech in Boston this week was billed as a diplomatic tour of the horizon. But it was about as diplomatic as a punch in the nose, and a clear challenge to those candidates and other critics who have been inviting him, in effect, to get tough with the Soviets or get out.

Henry had a rock in every snowball. He warned the Soviets against "any more Angolas." He warned the European allies against flirting with communist coalition governments. He warned the developing countries against "extortion . . . self-righteous rhetoric or adolescent posturing." And he clearly accepted the challenge that he was an issue in the campaign and intended to get involved.

"What do those who speak so glibly about one-way streets or pre-emptive concessions propose concretely that this country should do?" he asked. "What precisely has been given up? What level of confrontation do they seek? What threats would they make? What risks would they run? What precise changes in our defense posture, what level of expenditure over what period of time do they advocate? How, concretely, do they suggest managing the U.S.-Soviet relationship in an era of strategic equality? It is time we heard answers to these questions."

This outburst has been coming on for a long time. In fact, it has been rattling the chandeliers in the privacy of the seventh and eighth floors of the State Department for weeks, but two recent political events have made it easier for him to say in public what he has been saying in private.

First, President Ford's four straight victories in the early primaries have eased the anxiety at the White House over Ronald Reagan's threat from the Republican right. And second, Scoop Jackson, Ronald Reagan, and George Wallace, Kissinger's principal tormentors in the campaign, have not gained but lost ground since they increased their attacks on U.S.-Soviet policy.

Henry Kissinger has fallen from his pinnacle of popularity in recent months, and is now under heavy attack in the Congress, the universities and the press, but he still stands higher in the general popularity polls than any of the candidates, and he will be carrying his defense to Texas, Arizona and elsewhere in the country in the coming weeks.

This could have some effect, maybe even a decisive effect, on Senator Jackson's campaign. Unless he wins decisively in New York and the rest of the populous industrial northern states, the chances are that the leaders of the party will have to select the candidate who can put what Jackson calls the "grand Roosevelt coalition" together again, and here Jackson has a serious problem.

For he is much too hawkish on Soviet and Middle Eastern policy to get the support of the majority of the party leaders, and if they have to choose between Jackson, who divides the party on foreign policy, and Humphrey, who has been Kissinger's most effective supporter in the Senate, they might very well go to a Humphrey-Carter ticket.

Kissinger has no intention of stumping personally against Jackson — he mentioned no names in his Boston speech — but it would be hard to overestimate his opposition to Jackson's militant approach to the Soviet Union, or his conviction that Jackson's policies would plunge the nation and the alliance into a world crisis.

"Our greatest foreign policy problem is our divisions at home," he said in Boston. "Our greatest foreign policy need is national cohesion . . . The world watches with amazement — our adversaries with glee and our friends with growing dismay — how America seems bent on eroding its influence and destroying its achievements in world affairs through an orgy of recrimination . . ."

Whether Kissinger's defense will ease or envenom, the recrimination remains to be seen, but as he sees it, Jackson, Reagan, and Wallace have been free to make widely publicized attacks on the administration's policies without any detailed or coherent defense or demand for alternative policies.

Thus, presumably with the approval of the President, he has jumped into the pit himself, and this could involve him too in some risks, for the battle is likely to get fierce, and he may have to resign after all in order to carry his convictions to the voters.

Anybody who takes the trouble to read the Boston speech will recognize him as a formidable opponent, for while his attacks were sharp, the whole document is by far the most impressive foreign policy speech yet delivered in the campaign.

☆ ☆ ☆

Even Jimmy Carter, whose foreign policy criticisms have been moderate, and who stands to gain as Jackson declines, can scarcely ignore Kissinger's questions. He has not been answering the hard foreign policy issues so much as he has been evading them, but the secretary of state has now drawn the issue and diverted Jackson from domestic affairs, where he is strongest, to foreign affairs, where he is weakest.

No More Laws For Five Years

Waverly, Neb.

Hurrah for the Waverly farmer for telling it like it is!

I, too, have been raising game for the hunter and the Game and Parks Commission for many a year. We have a good-sized stream running through several hundred acres. We farm near the channel on part, pasture some, and the remainder is a game habitat in its natural state. We allow hunting if permission is asked.

Don't let anyone tell you that there are only a few slob hunters. There are more cheaters than respectable ones. When the supposedly good hunters think your back is turned, they steal melons, vegetables, nuts, eggs and even poultry. On opening day of pheasant season, at least 80% of the hunters break the law. I would like to prove this to anyone, including the G & P directors if any of them had the guts to hide in a small grove, heavy with underbrush. But they had better dig themselves a deep fox-hole.

I have never called the G & P for protection. Never called the sheriff, either. Farmers have a saying in this part of the county that you might as well call your grandmother!

If I wished to harvest any of this game (which I don't), I would be forced to secure a permit and pay a fee to shoot or trap these birds or animals that I have helped to raise and feed and which the G & P have never seen. Doesn't that seem unfair? The G & P sell several hundred thousand permits to hunt, but they want the hunters to kill this game on the land of the farmers and ranchers.

I have no quarrel with the state that they own the game birds and animals, nor that the hunters should be able to shoot them, but I do think the G & P should do a much better job of policing.

Several years ago I visited a rancher in central Nebraska during pheasant season. He had many requests from hunters, and permission was freely given, with one condition — that the hunters shoot every hen possible. When asked why, he said: "We farm only the small narrow valleys between the hills and the pheasants and deer severely damage a large part of our crop. We have asked for help from the G & P but they don't care about us, so we don't care about them."

In our Legislature, we have a senator from Omaha who seems to be the guiding influence on game laws. In my opinion (and no one has asked for it), what he doesn't know about game management and farmers and ranchers would fill a few pages in a small book. If he would push a law through that would place all guns under lock and key until the hunters had written permisson to hunt, I believe the numbers would double. A large percentage of the game is killed illegally.

On second thought, cancel that law — I am against any more laws being enacted for at least five years.

Two Pending Bills

Milford, Neb.

The year 1975 will go down in history as one in which many cattle feeders in Nebraska sustained great losses in their sales to American Beef. When a business fails, there has to be some explanation for its sudden demise.

One reason in the case of American Beef is "reckless and irresponsible" management coupled with a long float in "accounts receivable," which stopped a large line of credit for American Beef.

What protection did the cattle feeders have who sustained the huge losses last year? According to William Albers of the State Agriculture Office, who testified before the ag committee last week, it was revealed that all sales made through the Omaha stockyards were protected by packer bonding. However, all sales made direct to packers were not bonded. I am wondering how this practice escaped the ever watchful eye of our state ag director. Surely this incident should be very embarrassing to Governor Exon who has placed so much confidence in Glenn Kreuscher. Someone has said they did not know it was going to happen. Suddenly the dam burst, carrying many cattle feeders with it. If this is true, how does it happen that some farmers were warned to steer clear of American Beef several weeks before the tragic incident?

There are two bills pending in the State Legislature that should help alleviate some of the problems of the meat-packing industry. The first bill is LB544 which sets bonding requirements over a five-day kill rather than a two-day kill. The second is LB434 which prescribes time limits for meat retailers to settle their accounts with the meat packers. This bill calls for 48 hours but may be amended to seven days or so. If these two bills were enacted, it would certainly help a great deal to stabilize the packing industry. The delays in payment of meat products to the packers represents a loss in "interest cost" which reverts all the way back to the producer. This is not a good business practice and should not be condoned.

Poor Turnout

Lincoln, Neb.

I am writing in regard to the poor turnout for the performance of the world-known master of the art of mime, Marcel Marceau. I think he is the greatest.

He was here in the small town of Lincoln, Nebraska, at Pershing Auditorium. The turnout was shocking. I could not believe that just a few hundred people were there to welcome him.

After his performance, I had the honor to talk with one of his representatives. He asked the reason that so few people showed up. He asked if the prices were too high. He asked how many young people had come. There was about one high school student to every 10 college-age person or older. I did not think the prices too high. Where else could one see such a famous person for $6, $7 or $8? It was worth the time and money.

I am greatly ashamed that this great man could find time to come here and give us an experience of a lifetime and all we had to give him in return was a small group of people.

Why can't mime classes be taught in our junior and senior high schools?

By contrast with this performance, I have seen rock concerts and basketball games where it is so crowded, a person can't even walk down the aisles. It only goes to show just how illiterate we really are.

A Means To Be Heard

Lincoln, Neb.

This is in regard to Bob Guenther's article (Star, Mar. 11) "Is Prairie Dog Board Doing Job Or Not?"

Senator Syas and his research committee shouldn't lose sight of the fact that they, too, are playing a part in this bureaucracy. There no doubt is a considerable amount of time, effort and money being spent in this endeavor to "show other legislators what they've done."

There are numerous important bills before our legislators presently, needing much time on their part as well as their research assistants to study in order to make the right decisions.

I feel confident that this is what my own senator, Senator S. March, and others are doing — directing their efforts to those bills before them.

Without commissions, councils and boards, how do we as citizens have input? It's one means that taxpayers has of still being heard.

The Malpractice Muddle

There is no conclusive evidence to date that new legislation will stem the tide of rising medical malpractice insurance premium costs which are passed along to patients.

That is not to say that legislative remedies should not be sought.

But Nebraskans have a right to be uneasy as they watch their state senators in the process of legislating away a patient's rights to recover damages for negligence, as the lawmakers have been doing this week in debating LB703, a physicians' protection bill offered by the Nebraska Medical Association under the sponsorship of Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood.

A majority of the Legislature is settled, apparently, on placing a dollar ceiling on damages and on limiting recovery to an inexact definition of economic loss suffered from medical negligence. Claims by sponsors of an earlier amendment that the amendment is so broad that "anything in any way which would be interpreted as a loss would be an economic loss," and claims by sponsors of a proposal which allows recovery in a rather hazy area outside strict economic loss, do not do much to allay fears that patient rights are being ground under foot of an overpowering effort on the part of the medical lobby.

A most troubling aspect of the malpractice debate is that even those skeptical of LB703 conceded rights before the floor fight ensued, giving credence to the assumption that the medical association had done its groundwork well. It isn't a question of whether or not recovery should be more restrictive than present law, but how much more restrictive.

Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh, who offered the earlier economic loss proviso claimed to be broad, said his amendment was the best proposal he thought would survive the doctors' intense lobbying effort. This prompted Sen. John Cavanaugh of Omaha, who believes the bill too restrictive, to acknowledge the medical lobby's strength in the Legislature and a lobbying effort Cavanaugh says cost $130,000.

"This bill is bought and paid for," Cavanaugh said at that point.

He is not the only senator to utter that statement.

And if it is true, it would not be the first time a bill was "bought and paid for."

A broader recovery amendment offered Friday still seems to unjustly compromise patients' ability to claim loss from medical negligence. This revision of the DeCamp amendment, accepted readily by Schmit and the rest of the Legislature, still poses numerous unanswered questions.

We realize that whatever happens in the end, patients will be paying. We hope, however, that the medical malpractice problem can be resolved after the consideration of the requirements of all parties concerned and that victims' rights will not be crushed in the collision between powerful interests.

Extra Seats Needed?

Having a Lincoln team with as rich a tournament history as Northeast undoubtedly helped to fill the brand new Nebraska Sports Center to capacity for the Class A Nebraska high school basketball tournament opener Thursday night. Overflow evening crowds should be the tourney norm this year.

Riotous Rocket rooters helped to press the opening crowd past the center's temporary capacity of 13,000. When finished, the modern sports complex will have 15,000 permanent seats for basketball, with room for expansion.

But is it enough room, we ask with a little uncertainty.

The opening game crowd certainly was auspicious, and one night in the new barn does wonders in wiping away the sentimental pains associated with leaving the old barn.

Again, we ponder the opening night sell-out.

Terry Carpenter can take immense satisfaction in that.

The salty western Nebraska politician fought for a 20,000-seat capacity in the new sports center, but the Legislature opted instead for the more modest 15,000 seats with possible expansion to 18,000. A more prudent course, probably.

But Terry believes in thinking big in planning for the future.

Maybe he was right.

If the opening crowd was any indication, the new sports center may be obsolete before it is officially dedicated.

Burden Of Decision

WASHINGTON — My mail tells me that the public today sees the press as an arrogant and heedless institution, whose motto is: "When in doubt, publish."

And with some reason. The press — print and broadcast — is in a publishing mood. Anything goes, it seems, if an argument — even a tortured one — can be made that the public has a right to know.

There are times, however, when editors do agonize over whether the public's right to know outweighs arguments for suppression.

Such arguments generally fall into two categories: Publication would endanger national security, or publication would cause harm to a person or persons.

In peacetime and in today's mood, the press has little problem with the national security issue. The basic assumption is that in a democracy the public not only has a right to know but must know what its institutions, public and private, are up to. The danger to the nation must be both clear and present before it outweighs that assumption.

When potential damage to individuals is involved, the laws of libel and privacy impose some restraints, but they don't solve all the problems.

Sometimes the press accedes to official requests for suppression when an individual's safety is at stake. Most newspapers and broadcasters have cooperated with authorities to delay publication in order to avoid the risk of harm to a kidnap victim.

And then there are the cases where the subject of a proposed story attempts to bring pressure directly as a matter of self-preservation.

Such pressure is easy to deal with when it takes the conventional forms— a threat to withdraw advertising or an attempt to invoke friendship with the publisher. But when the subject threatens suicide if the story appears — in effect, makes his own person the hostage — the burdens of editorship suddenly seem very heavy, indeed.

Such a situation attracted national attention two weeks ago. On the morning of Sunday, Feb. 29, the Dallas (Tex.) Times Herald published a story about a distinguished petroleum engineer who, the paper said, had been a Soviet spy for many years and more recently a double-agent for the FBI. The story was carefully detailed and emphatically displayed. It was based on a three-month investigation by a team of reporters and on interviews with the engineer himself.

It quoted the subject's own admission that he had spied for the Russians for pay. And it quoted an unnamed intelligence officer as saying that the engineer was "the single most important individual in the development of the Russian oil and gas industry" in the 1945-60 period.

During interviews with Times Herald reporters, the engineer had pleaded that his name not be published and had mentioned suicide. The day before the story was to appear, he called the Times Herald and asked if his name were going to be used. He was told it was.

Then, according to Ken Johnson, the paper's executive editor, "he said that such a disclosure left him no choice but suicide."

Johnson says that two editors talked to the man for about 20 minutes. After the conversation, the decision was to publish as planned. The next morning, the engineer was found dead in his Connecticut home of a gunshot wound authorities said was self-inflicted.

Had the engineer not carried out his threat, the Times Herald's story would have been simply an example of good investigative reporting. But in view of what happened, it is appropriate to ask some questions:

Was it a valid public-interest story? Assuming the facts were correctly stated, the answer must be yes. It appears that the information supplied by the engineer materially helped the Russians develop their oil industry. For that information he received substantial reward, including a pension (which the FBI took over). He even was awarded a Soviet medal, although he apparently never took delivery.

Could the story have been published without identifying the engineer? It is difficult to see how that could have been done effectively without omitting much of the specific information. Also, it undoubtedly would have been only a matter of time before the name was disclosed in some other publication. In the meantime, American petroleum engineers generally would have been under a cloud.

Should someone on the Times Herald have tried to warn the engineer's family that the story was about to appear and that he was talking of suicide? This is the most difficult question, in my opinion.

The situation was complicated by the fact that the engineer's family knew nothing of his service to the Russians. So the paper not only would have had to warn them, it would have had to fill them in on the story itself.

Newspaper people resist leaving their own line of work—publishing the news — and injecting themselves into private matters. But that excuse has a hollow ring in view of the fact that a story like the one in question is bound to enter the private life of the subject with explosive force.

In any case, no one was warned and the story was published. So now the public knows that important industrial secrets were transmitted to the Russians and by whom. And a man is dead.

Did the balance tip in the right direction? That is a judgment I can't make. I will say, however, that while each case must be weighed individually, the suicide threat, like any form of blackmail, cannot be allowed to become an effective impediment to the flow of legitimate, important news.

"Now and then,
"He, though a lawyer,
"Was an honest man "

On the plains, the epitaphs, if written at all, were starkly real

"Here rests the mother and three children of the Ball family who perished from exposure in a railroad camp in the winter of 1870-71 when the 'big cut was made 1½ miles northeast of here "

Or

"Leaving nine children, the youngest nine months old — murdered by her brother F W Schultz two and one half miles S E of Pleasant Hill He killed her with an ax, and he then ran a mile and cut his throat with his pocket knife "

Preserved in record books at the Nebraska State Historical Society, the pioneer epitaphs, like the pioneers were German, Dutch, Swedish, Danish Bohemian, sometimes Chinese or Japanese The tombstones, when graves were marked, were usually small and simple, sometimes made of wood

Some epitaphs had broad appeal

"Budded on earth to bloom in heaven ' was common on children s graves A lamb often was carved on the stone Also popular was

"Stop, dumb ones, as you pass by,
"As you are now, so once was I
"As I am now, someday you ll be—
"Prepare for death and pray for me "

A faith in God is evident

"The golden gates were opened,
' The gentle voice said come,
"And with farewell unspoken,
' The angels called her home

And simple pride shows in the Civil War vets graves, marked only with their names and regiment numbers One vet added this verse

"Hats off, boys, to the sailor
"Who fought the best he knew,
"Helping Our Abe to keep old Glory
"Proudly flying over you '

A few epitaphs are humorous Atheist John W Gilbert put this message in his family cemetery

"Think of a Peace of fifty years,
"Of lives devoid of hellish fears,
"Died without fear of gods or ghosts
"Or heaven or hell with all their hosts '

And Nebraska has some unusual monuments

J Sterling Morton, founder of Arbor Day, marked his Nebraska City grave with an eight-ton, 20-foot tall tree replica The top branches are broken, and the notes to "Rock of Ages ' are carved at the bottom

A full-size stone rolltop desk marks the grave of Nebraska Citian N S Harding

(A traveling tombstone salesman cornered Morton and Harding one day and sold them on selecting their own monuments)

But the simplest monuments and messages are best

Life's work well done,
' Life's race well run,
"Life s crown well won
' Now comes rest '

The simplest, and proudest, epitaph of all was

"Nebraska Territorial Pioneer

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

This deal occurred in a match between England and Scotland. When the famous Sharples twin brothers of England were North-South at the first table, they arrived at the proper contract of five clubs on the bidding shown.

Four spades played by North was a reasonable alternative, but actually this contract could have been stopped with a club lead by East, a low diamond return by West, another club lead by East and a high diamond return.

Declarer made five clubs, losing only the first two tricks, and it seemed to the Sharples brothers at the time that a standoff on the deal was extremely likely They were therefore greatly surprised when they later learned what had happened at the second table, where the bidding went:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 NT	Pass	3 NT
Dble	Pass	Pass	Pass

The Scottish North-South pair were playing weak notrumps (12 to 14 points) and North opened with one notrump, raised by South to three. West doubled conventionally, putting East on notice that if he somehow found the right lead the contract would fail.

It is hard to say what East should have led under the circumstances, but, after considering the matter at length he came forth with a spade, hoping that this would be the killing lead.

This choice by East led to an unmitigated disaster Instead of collecting 200 points, which would have been his lot had he chosen a diamond lead, East had to shell out 1,550 points for leading a spade instead Declarer made the contract with four overtricks, and the Sharples team wound up losing 950 points on the deal.

Their Parties May Be Too Hard To Equal

DEAR ABBY What has happened to good manners? My husband and I have a lovely large home, and we love to entertain, but our friends do not know the meaning of the word 'reciprocate "

We've had elegant sit-down dinner parties, small brunches, outdoor barbecues, cocktail parties and buffets, but we're never invited to our guests' homes Why?

We've lived in a number of towns and have always had our invitations reciprocated, but in Los Angeles it s different

We enjoy being with people, and we realize that some of them can t afford to entertain the way we do but we'd be satisfied to accept an invitation for coffee and cake After all, it's the people not the refreshments, that make the party

LEFT OUT IN L A

DEAR LEFT OUT I am not defending those who accept invitations and fail to reciprocate, but I suspect that you entertain so lavishly that your guests feel inadequate to entertain you on the same grand scale and therefore make no effort to entertain you at all. Try having smaller groups for coffee, cake and conversation, and see what happens.

DEAR ABBY My grandmother belongs to a senior citizens group She told me that she met a very nice woman at this group who has a grandson she thinks I ought to meet

Even though I told my grandmother that I can take care of my own social life she went ahead and gave my telephone number to this woman to give to her grandson He hasn't called yet but he might

Is there any way I can prevent my grandmother from doing this again? I don t think it s right for other people to make MY business their business I m 21 and can choose my own friends

NEEDS NO HELP

DEAR NEEDS: Don't make a federal case out of it. If someone calls as a result of your grandmother's "help" and you don't want to meet him, tell him you're not available Unless you're already involved with someone, why not meet him for coffee? You could be passing up a gem

DEAR ABBY Over the years many of our neighbors have gotten married and on every wedding invitation it says, No children

We kids who are not invited are very disgusted We need to have fun too

What do you think of those people We think they are very unfair and we hope you will print this so they will see it and invite us next time

DISGUSTED IN PENNA

DEAR DISGUSTED Children are sometimes excluded from weddings and receptions to keep the cost and or the noise down Also, some receptions are held when children should be in bed. Since most weddings are the stuff of which beautiful memories are made, it's unfortunate that more children can't witness them

DEAR ABBY My problem is my 16-year-old son Ever since Sonny was 12 years old he has been in love with someone Right now he s in love with a 13-year-old girl She lives out of town and the phone bills he s been laying on me are unbelievable He gave her a ring for Christmas It wasn t very expensive It looks like a diamond but isn t

Anyway Sonny wants to quit school and get a job so he can marry this girl When I told him he was foolish to think of marriage at his age he said that Romeo and Juliet were only 13 years old (Is that true or did Sonny just make that up?

Actually I don t care what Romeo and Juliet did I don t want my son to marry any 13-year-old girl

Can I stop him?

UPSET IN MINNESOTA

DEAR UPSET Yes Sonny and his girlfriend are much too young to marry in Minnesota without parental consent And even though Juliet was 13 and Romeo was slightly older, times have changed a lot since 1300 A D (P S But use friendly persuasion before resorting to the law)

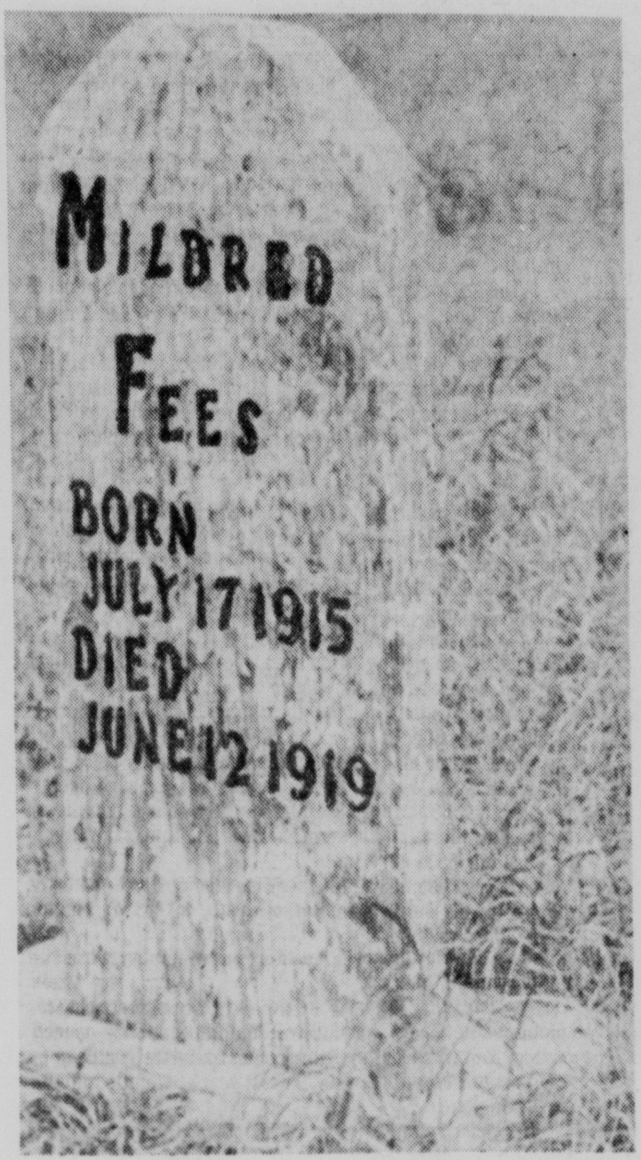
'Remember You Are Dust'

Pioneer Life Revealed By Reading Epitaphs



CHILD . . . remembered by wooden marker.

By WES ALBERS
Star Staff Writer

Weathered tombstones poke from the prairie like crooked teeth. Some huddle together as if for warmth — a family, felled by diptheria. Some stand alone — a child, abandoned by parents moving west.

Death caused by cyclone. Drowned while skating.

The wind and rain try to erase what is written there, perhaps ashamed of what they did to these people. The stony faces fight back, stubborn as pioneers.

Here, where the early settlers came in death, is written the story of their lives.

Back east, epitaphs were sometimes whimsical:

"Underneath this pile of stones,
"Her name was Lord, it was not Jones.
"But Jones was used to rhyme with stones."

Or:

"Beneath this stone our baby lays.
"He neither cries or hollers.
"He lived but one and twenty days
"And cost us forty dollars."

And:

"Now and then,
"He, though a lawyer,
"Was an honest man."

On the plains, the epitaphs, if written at all, were starkly real:

Man Shoots Wife, Kills Himself

Beatrice (AP) — A Beatrice man shot and killed himself after shooting his wife Thursday night, Gage County authorities said Friday

Sheriff Fred W Steinkamp Jr , identified the victims as Robert Bates Jr , 43, and his wife, Judy, 33

According to Steinkamp, Bates had been drinking and apparently got into a domestic fight with his wife Steinkamp said the woman was then shot in the abdomen with a 22-caliber handgun

The Bates children, who were upstairs at the time, heard the shot, and fled to a neighbors house The neighbor notified authorities, but Bates left the home in a pickup truck before deputies could arrive

Steinkamp said one of his deputies sighted the Bates pickup, and began following it The sheriff said Bates drove into Pawnee County and stopped the truck about five miles east of Liberty

Pawnee County authorities joined the Gage County deputy on the scene, and floodlights were played on the Bates pickup

Bates held his pistol to his head, but when deputies tried to advance, he would point the weapon at them

Steinkamp said Bates then shot himself in the head

Mrs Bates was taken to a Beatrice hospital where she underwent surgery Her condition was not immediately available, but officials said she is expected to live

Gordon Police Face Investigation

Gordon (AP) — The Gordon City Council has ordered a probe into allegations of brutality and misconduct by members of the Gordon Police Department

In addition the council will ask the U S Justice Department for guidelines in the mediation of local confrontations

The actions were taken Thursday during a sometimes-heated, 90 minute council meeting

About 100 persons many of them Indians attended the meeting to listen to a discussion of police brutality and misconduct charges leveled at the Gordon Police Department

The allegations include the use of Mace on unresisting suspects improper use of handcuffs verbal and physical threats use of riot shotguns unjustified license checks illegal searches improper frisking, and assault

Steve Janis acting director of the Nebraska Indian Commission handed Mayor Jane Morgan a list of signed complaints against Gordon police and asked the council to respond within 30 days

Bob Yellow Bird the state coordinator for the American Indian Movement in Nebraska accused the council of giving Indians the run around and trying to avoid the issue

However the council passed a motion calling for an impartial and complete investigation of the allegations The probe is to be undertaken by the Gordon Police Department with the aid of the Sheridan County sheriff s office and the State Patrol

The council also went on record in favor of contact with the Department of Justice for help in determining what procedures should be used in mediating community conflicts and for help in researching human relations and citizens review board ordinances passed in other cities

The council will again consider the allegations following the conclusion of the investigation

The Nebraska Indian Commission also held a meeting here Thursday and members attending went on record in support of the effort to investigate the allegations in Gordon

You can only kick somebody so long before they get tired of that kicking said AIM leader Russell Means protesting the alleged brutality and misconduct

The commission slated a meeting April 9 to discuss the problems in Sheridan County and Gordon

Lacking a quorum the 14 commission members attending were not able to vote on a successor to commission director Robert Mackey, who was fired in January

More Tourists Saw Nebraska Last Year

The State Department of Economic Development Friday released a travel study which said tourists spent an estimated $404 million in Nebraska last year

The study also reported the state hosted an estimated 13 1 million travelers from outside the state during 1975 up from nonresident tourist estimates for both 1973 and 1974

Of the $404 million the study said $156 2 million was spent by Nebraskans on vacation in their own state

The department said its research division drew three major conclusions from the information about trends in travel habits

The first was a sharp reversal of a downward trend in both numbers of tourists and traveler expenditures in 1973 and 1974 The increases the division said indicated old patterns of long distance travel may be again emerging despite continued inflation recession and fuel costs

The division said its second conclusion was the importance of summer travel is readily apparent Nearly 45% of the annual trips taken by residents and nonresidents occurred from Memorial Day to Labor Day

Finally the division said while Nebraskans accounted for more trips in the state during 1975 than nonresidents the nonresident group accounted for more expenditures.

The study said Nebraskans made a total of 15 2 million trips while nonresidents made 13 1 million trips of a tourism nature

Nebraskan Killed When Plane Crashes In Iowa

MCGREGOR, Iowa (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) sifted through wreckage of a single-engine light plane near here Friday hoping to find the cause of a crash that killed four men

The bodies of the four were found in a farm field on the Bill Meyer farm about six miles west of this northeast Iowa farming community Thursday afternoon

The Clayton County sheriff's office identified the victims as Gerald Gunn, 45, of Lake Wa-Con-Da, Neb , owner of the plane, Gary Erbes, 34, and Jerome Legan, 40, both of Council Bluffs, and George Johnson, 37, of Brainerd, Minn

Erbes and Legan operate Aergo, Inc , a flying service based at Eppley Field, Omaha

Authorities said the plane crashed about 3 p m. Meyer said he watched from the window as it exploded in mid-air and nosedived into a field

The craft was partially buried on impact and a crane was needed to let rescue workers reach the victims

An FAA spokesman in Dubuque said the plane left Dubuque at 1 20 p m , stopped in Guttenberg and crashed about 15 minutes later The eventual destination of the flight was Minneapolis, Minn , officials said

Lee Johnson knows it takes more than a blade and a breeze to make a windmill

The College View Academy senior has invested hours of time energy and ingenuity in his homemade power project

I thought it would be much easier than it was," he sighed after his first wind-driven contraption neared completion

"Wind energy is not free for the taking," the 18-year-old is quick to point out He has discovered there's a lot of work involved not to mention expense for a generator and batteries

But Lee figured his 3½-foot blade mill didn t warrant the investment of expensive parts because the whole system is too small to be a practice power generating device

However the scaled-down project gave Lee some insight into the workings of windmills

The angled precision of the yard-long wooden blade took some 20 hours to cut and rub smooth 'I m glad I didn t make a longer one Lee laughed

The son of Mr and Mrs Melvin Johnson, 5125 Linden Lee mounted his propeller on a pivot made of a caster with the wheel removed A piece of channel iron connected to an aluminum pipe kept the device mounted on a telephone pole in Lee s backyard For a tail, Lee chose a broom stick attached to a square tin sheet

Rigged up with an old bicycle generator, Lee s windmill generated enough power to turn on a bicycle light But he never set the whole system up permanently ice collected on the edge of the blade, throwing it off balance and creating a violent shaking

Now Lee s turning his attention to a large-scale windmill project By chance he met a man who had a 10 foot airplane propeller he was willing to give away

Much to Lee s delight the propeller' after hours of sanding revealed a decal proclaiming it a Wincharger wind generator blade He had happened on the real McCoy

Although Lee feels there s a real need for wind energy especially for lighting homes he concedes that windmills are impractical for city dwellers However, he thinks they might be useful for country homes

He says he might implement his idea next year when he moves to his family s unfinished house in the Washington state countryside

Lee stresses that windmills are just a hobby and not an all-consuming interest

A wintry day might well find him indoors practicing his violin while a new snowfall will find him out cross-country skiing And when summertime comes round he s liable to be on a long-distance bike ride like last year s 185-mile solo trip to Lexington

Iowan Wins $125,000 For Malpractice

Omaha (AP) — A U S District Court jury in Omaha has awarded Robert Morris Hansen of Elk Horn, Iowa, $125,000 in a malpractice suit against an orthopedic surgeon

The jury ruled Thursday following a six-day trial that Hansen was entitled to the award from Dr Michael T O Neil of Omaha Hansen contended that surgery performed by Dr O Neil in October 1972, caused him 'to suffer permanent paralysis and incontinence '

The suit contended Hansen was injured in an auto accident Sept. 4, 1971, and was under Dr O'Neil s care from that time until December of 1973

Hansen originally asked for a judgment of $1 million

Hansen and his attorney, Martin Cannon, contended that Dr O'Neil was negligent in that he failed to inform Hansen of potential risks prior to surgery, and that he failed to employ preoperative X rays to locate segments of Hansen s vertebrae

The suit contended the parlysis resulted from Dr O Neil "erroneously placing metal screws in Hansen s medullary canal

Joe Cashen Dr O Neil s attorney argued before the jury in Judge Albert Schatz' court that Hansen s care and surgery were performed correctly, using accepted medical practices

Daniel Dolan chairman of the medical malpractice committee of the Nebraska Association of Trial Lawyers said as far as he knows "this is the largest award against a doctor to come from a jury verdict in Nebraska

Man Shoots Wife, Kills Himself

Beatrice (AP) — A Beatrice man shot and killed himself after shooting his wife Thursday night, Gage County authorities said Friday.

Sheriff Fred W. Steinkamp Jr., identified the victims as Robert Bates Jr., 43, and his wife, Judy, 33.

According to Steinkamp, Bates had been drinking and apparently got into a domestic fight with his wife. Steinkamp said the woman was then shot in the abdomen with a .22-cailber handgun.

The Bates children, who were upstairs at the time, heard the shot, and fled to a neighbors house. The neighbor notified authorities, but Bates left the home in a pickup truck before deputies could arrive.

Steinkamp said one of his deputies sighted the Bates pickup, and began following it. The sheriff said Bates drove into Pawnee County, and stopped the truck about five miles east of Liberty.

Pawnee County authorities joined the Gage County deputy on the scene, and floodlights were played on the Bates pickup.

Bates held his pistol to his head, but when deputies tried to advance, he would point the weapon at them.

Steinkamp said Bates then shot himself in the head.

Mrs. Bates was taken to a Beatrice hospital where she underwent surgery. Her condition was not immediately available, but officials said she is expected to live.

Gordon Police Face Investigation

Gordon (AP) — The Gordon City Council has ordered a probe into allegations of brutality and misconduct by members of the Gordon Police Department.

In addition, the council will ask the U.S. Justice Department for guidelines in the mediation of local confrontations.

The actions were taken Thursday during a sometimes-heated, 90-minute council meeting.

About 100 persons, many of them Indians, attended the meeting to listen to a discussion of police brutality and misconduct charges leveled at the Gordon Police Department.

The allegations include the use of Mace on unresisting suspects, improper use of handcuffs, verbal and physical threats, use of riot shotguns, unjustified "license checks," illegal searches, improper frisking, and assault.

Steve Janis, acting director of the Nebraska Indian Commission, handed Mayor Jane Morgan a list of signed complaints against Gordon police, and asked the council to respond within 30 days.

Bob Yellow Bird, the state coordinator for the American Indian Movement in Nebraska, accused the council of giving Indians the run-around and trying to avoid the issue.

However, the council passed a motion calling for an impartial and complete investigation of the allegations. The probe is to be undertaken by the Gordon Police Department, with the aid of the Sheridan County sheriff's office and the State Patrol.

The council also went on record in favor of contact with the Department of Justice for help in determining what procedures should be used in mediating community conflicts and for help in researching human relations and citizens' review board ordinances passed in other cities.

The council will again consider the allegations following the conclusion of the investigation.

The Nebraska Indian Commission also held a meeting here Thursday, and members attending went on record in support of the effort to investigate the allegations in Gordon.

"You can only kick somebody so long before they get tired of that kicking," said AIM leader Russell Means, protesting the alleged brutality and misconduct.

The commission slated a meeting April 9 to discuss the problems in Sheridan County and Gordon.

Lacking a quorum, the 14 commission members attending were not able to vote on a successor to commission director Robert Mackey, who was fired in January.

More Tourists Saw Nebraska Last Year

The State Department of Economic Development Friday released a travel study which said tourists spent an estimated $404 million in Nebraska last year.

The study also reported the state hosted an estimated 13.1 million travelers from outside the state during 1975, up from nonresident tourist estimates for both 1973 and 1974.

Of the $404 million, the study said $156.2 million was spent by Nebraskans on vacation in their own state.

The department said its research division drew three major conclusions from the information about trends in travel habits.

The first was a sharp reversal of a downward trend in both numbers of tourists and traveler expenditures in 1973 and 1974. The increases, the division said, indicated old patterns of long distance travel may be again emerging despite continued inflation, recession and fuel costs.

The division said its second conclusion was the importance of summer travel is "readily apparent." Nearly 45% of the annual trips taken by residents and nonresidents occurred from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Finally, the division said while Nebraskans accounted for more trips in the state during 1975 than nonresidents, the nonresident group accounted for more expenditures.

The study said Nebraskans made a total of 15.2 million trips while nonresidents made 13.1 million trips of a tourism nature.

Nebraskan Killed When Plane Crashes In Iowa

MCGREGOR, Iowa (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) sifted through wreckage of a single-engine light plane near here Friday hoping to find the cause of a crash that killed four men.

The bodies of the four were found in a farm field on the Bill Meyer farm about six miles west of this northeast Iowa farming community Thursday afternoon.

The Clayton County sheriff's office identified the victims as Gerald Gunn, 45, of Lake Wa-Con-Da, Neb., owner of the plane, Gary Erbes, 34, and Jerome Legan, 40, both of Council Bluffs, and George Johnson, 37, of Brainerd, Minn.

Erbes and Legan operate Aergo, Inc., a flying service based at Eppley Field, Omaha.

Authorities said the plane crashed about 3 p.m. Meyer said he watched from the window as it exploded in mid-air and nosedived into a field.

The craft was partially buried on impact and a crane was needed to let rescue workers reach the victims.

An FAA spokesman in Dubuque said the plane left Dubuque at 1:20 p.m., stopped in Guttenberg and crashed about 15 minutes later. The eventual destination of the flight was Minneapolis, Minn., officials said.

Businessman, UNL Students Given Awards

An Omaha agribusinessman, and two University of Nebraska-Lincoln students were honored here Friday evening during the NU Agricultural Economics-Agribusiness Club annual awards banquet.

Weston W. Furrer, vice president of Farmers National Company of Omaha, received the 1976 Service to Agriculture Award for his leadership in agribusiness and for his contributions to Nebraska agriculture and the NU Agricultural Economics-Agribusiness Club.

This year's Wall Street Journal Award and Advisor Award went to Martin Koopman from Meadow Grove, a senior in agricultural economics and president of the NU Agricultural Economics-Agribusiness Club.

Tom Lipps of Tekamah was awarded the Outstanding Undergraduate Award and the Outstanding Senior Award based on service activities in the Department of Agricultural Economics and for his scholarship. A senior in the agricultural honors program at NU, Lipps plans to attend law school following graduation.

Gunman Takes $8,633 From Mid-City Bank

Omaha (UPI) — An unmasked gunman entered the Mid-City Bank in central Omaha Friday and took $8,633 from two tellers before escaping on foot, police said.

Police said one of the tellers chased the fugitive for about a block before he disappeared.

Police said the man entered the bank, handed a cashier a brown sack and told her to fill it up. He then robbed a second teller.

The man opened the front of his dark brown hip-length leather jacket and revealed a pistol stuck in the front of his pants. However, police said the weapon wasn't brandished and no shots were fired.

Police said the suspect was described as a white male, about 35 to 40 years old, weighing 140 pounds with medium length "dishwater blond" hair, and having a mustache and sideburns.

Foster Accepts Alliance Post

Hastings (AP) — John Foster, manager of Hastings utilities, said Friday he will leave the post Monday to become head of the utilities department in Alliance, effective April 1. Foster will succeed Roger Andrews, who is retiring after more than 20 years on the job. Foster, who has been with the Hastings utilities since 1959, announced his resignation last week, but didn't disclose his plans at that time. Former Lincoln resident Lee Blocker, Foster's assistant, will take over the Hastings post Monday.

Flu Closes Harrisburg Schools

Harrisburg (AP) — Banner County school officials canceled Friday's classes in the schools because of an outbreak of influenza. Students attending the Harrisburg schools were sent home early Thursday, as officials reported half of the student body and about one-third of the teachers were out with the flu. School officials in Potter reported a 50% absent rate last week, but said the situation is now improved.

Collegiate Stock Judging Meet Set

Omaha (AP) — For the ninth straight year, Ak-Sar-Ben will host the "world series of collegiate livestock judging contests." J.D. Anderson, chairman of the Ak-Sar-Ben Agricultural Committee, said Friday the Ak-Sar-Ben meat animal evaluation contest will be held in Omaha next Thursday through Saturday. About 180 contestants, including 33 girls, from 19 colleges or universities are expected to compete.

Commencement Slated At Milford

Milford — Sidney Smith, design engineer of the Amana Refrigeration, Inc., will deliver the main address at the winter quarter commencement of the Southeast Community College, Milford campus, at 8 p.m. Wednesday. James C. Power, coordinator of instruction on the Milford campus, will present the class. Presentating the degrees and diplomas will be Ted Doyle of Fairbury, member of the SCC board of governors. Dr. Robert Eicher, area president of SCC, will preside at the ceremonies, slated at the Lowell A. Welsh Center.

Omaha To Host Petroleum Marketers

Omaha (UPI) — The Nebraska Petroleum Marketers annual convention and trade show will be held in Omaha Tuesday. Otis H. Ellis, who served 22 years as executive vice president of the National Oil Jobbers Council, will be the featured speaker.

Fieldman Award Goes To Fredricksen

George Fredricksen, a supervisory fieldman for Mid-America Dairies in the Lincoln area, was awarded the outstanding fieldman of the year award here during the annual Dairy Fieldmen's conference at the Nebraska Center. Fredricksen, who works with approximately 100 producers of both Grade A and manufacturing grade milk in the Lincoln area, has spent most of his life in the dairy industry.

LEE . . . displays blades for his projects.

Youth in Action

He's Jousting With Windmills

By PATTY BEUTLER
Star Staff Writer

Lee Johnson knows it takes more than a blade and a breeze to make a windmill.

The College View Academy senior has invested hours of time, energy and ingenuity in his homemade power project.

"I thought it would be much easier than it was," he sighed, after his first wind-driven contraption neared completion.

"Wind energy is not free for the taking," the 18-year-old is quick to point out. He has discovered there's a lot of work involved, not to mention expense for a generator and batteries.

But Lee figured his 3½-foot blade mill didn't warrant the investment of expensive parts because the whole system is too small to be a practice power generating device.

However, the scaled-down project gave Lee some insight into the workings of windmills.

The angled precision of the yard-long wooden blade took some 20 hours to cut and rub smooth. "I'm glad I didn't make a longer one," Lee laughed.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Johnson, 5125 Linden, Lee mounted his propeller on a pivot made of a caster with the wheel removed. A piece of channel iron connected to an aluminum pipe kept the device mounted on a telephone pole in Lee's backyard. For a tail, Lee chose a broom stick attached to a square tin sheet.

Rigged up with an old bicycle generator, Lee's windmill generated enough power to turn on a bicycle light. But he never set the whole system up permanently; ice collected on the edge of the blade, throwing it off balance and creating a violent shaking.

Now Lee's turning his attention to a large-scale windmill project. By chance he met a man who had a 10 foot airplane propeller he was willing to give away.

Much to Lee's delight, the "propeller" after hours of sanding, revealed a decal proclaiming it a "Wincharger" wind generator blade. He had happened on the real McCoy.

Although Lee feels there's a real need for wind energy, especially for lighting homes, he concedes that windmills are impractical for city dwellers. However, he thinks they might be useful for country homes.

He says he might implement his idea next year when he moves to his family's unfinished house in the Washington state countryside.

Lee stresses that windmills are just a hobby and not an all-consuming interest.

Filings Swell Primary Ballot

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

A flurry of last-minute election filings Friday stretched Nebraska's primary ballot to its longest length in history, according to election officials.

Secretary of State Allen J. Beermann said the composite sample ballot for the May 11 primary election will be approximately 16 feet long, the longest ever.

More than 500 delegate candidate filings for the Republican, Democrat and American party conventions swelled the ballot this year, the first year delegate candidates were not required to pay a filing fee.

Beermann attributed free placement on the ballot as well as heated races in both major parties and a convention in nearby Kansas City as playing a role in the number of delegates filing.

The last-minute filings for elective offices attracted many anxious on-lookers but few surprises.

Among the surprises were:

—Mrs. Fred (Gladys) Seaton, widow of the late U.S. secretary of the interior and newspaper publisher from Hastings, filed for the University of Nebraska Board of Regents from the fifth district. She is challenging incumbent Robert Koefoot of Grand Island.

—Former President Richard M. Nixon's name will appear on the ballot. Peteris Taurins of Lincoln filed for delegate to the Republican convention committed to Nixon.

Taurins said, "My candidacy offers Nebraskans a chance to protest President Nixon's martyrdom by media."

—Mrs. Ruth Swanson, wife of former State Treasurer Wayne Swanson, filed as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Nebraska Public Service Commission's southeast Nebraska seat.

Her husband ran unsuccessfully in 1974 for the Republican nomination for the commission from western Nebraska. Questioned about his residency, Wayne said he and his wife are residing in Lincoln.

—Lincoln Sen. Shirley Marsh's bid for re-nomination in the primary faces more opposition than any other incumbent state legislator. Mrs. Marsh will face a field of six other candidates in the primary, including Gerald Sasek, whose dismissal last year from the Public Service Commission stirred controversy.

—Three incumbent senators face no opposition in the primary — Richard Marvel of Hastings, Bob Clark Sidney and Dennis Rasmussen of Scotia.

Nine senators are assured of a spot on the general election ballot because only one opponent filed against each of them. Under state law, the top two vote-getters in the primary advance to the general election.

The nine are Orval Keyes of Springfield, George Syas of Omaha, John Murphy of South Sioux City, Loran Schmit of Bellwood, Jerry Warner of Waverly, Ralph Kelly of Grand Island, Frank Lewis of Bellevue, Herb Duis of Gothenburg and Leslie Stull of Alliance.

—Merle Hansen of Newman Grove filed for the Board of Regents seat held by incumbent Kermit Wagner of Schuyler.

Saying it's time the regents had "a dirt farmer" among them, Hansen announced his candidacy. He said the university is directing too much of its efforts in agriculture toward benefiting corporate agriculture instead of family farms.

Hansen noted that NU President D. B. Varner serves on the board of directors of Beatrice Foods, a conglomerate which distributes over 5,000 food products. Hansen questioned whether this is an indication that the university's agriculture research is too corporate-oriented.

Officers Elected By Homemakers

The Rev. Warren C. Swartz has been elected president of Madonna Homemakers Inc. for 1976-77.

Other officers elected at the board of directors annual meeting were Ruth Amen, vice-president; Mrs. Sally Van Zandt, secretary; William Sonderegger, treasurer.

The board also approved a 1977 budget of $312,737, and heard the agency director, Donna M. Burkhardt, report that currently 350 households a month are being served by 52 full and parttime homemakers

Special Ed, Unemployed Bills Moved

The Legislature Friday gave second round approval to bills designed to increase special education funding and keep the state's unemployment insurance fund solvent.

The Legislature advanced LB761 on a 27-2 vote after lengthy debate about whether it would open up special education in years to come to constantly-increasing state-level funding.

Also advanced by voice vote was LB761A, which appropriates nearly $1 million more for special education next fiscal year.

Hastings Sen. Richard Marvel said provisions of this year's bill requiring state payment of initial diagnosis and evaluation costs to pinpoint handicapped children would be "just the beginning" of spiraling funding.

Before it advanced, senators added an amendment designed to make certain there are no double payments in transportation reimbursement.

The legislation to keep the unemployment insurance fund solvent advanced on a 28-1 vote. Omaha Sen. Ernest Chambers, who offered a kill motion on LB819 Thursday, withdrew his kill effort but still cast the lone vote against the measure's advancement.

The bill requires a 7-10 week waiting period before collection of benefits if the employe quit a job voluntarily or was fired for misconduct. Under current law, the disqualification period is 2-6 weeks.

Gauger Faces Tefft For Place On Ballot

County Commissioner Jan Gauger will face a primary battle against local businessman Larry Tefft for Republican nomination to the 1st District commissioner job.

Democrat Ted Kossack, who filed late Friday afternoon for the commissioner race, is unopposed

Tefft, 49, owner of Larry Tefft Conoco at 70th and A Sts., said he hopes to bring more common sense and business sense to the County Board.

Tefft, of Walton Rt. 1, was born and raised in Lancaster County. He is married and has two grown children.

Mrs. Gauger, 47, of 1404 N. 46th, has been a strong voice for consolidation of county and city government and has worked to modernize the county's budgeting process and fiscal system during her first four-year term.

Kossack, 38, of Lincoln Rt. 4, a bookkeeper in the county engineer's office has been a county employe since 1958.

Kossack said his major campaign theme will be the excessive growth of the county commissioner's staff and budget in recent years.

Kossack, who farms part-time near Emerald, has been active in county employe affairs. He is past president of the County Employees Association and is current chairman of the county employe advisory group on the personnel plan. He is also the employe representative on the county's Personnel Policy Board.

Kossack has also been active with local =2468 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes. He is a member of the Lancaster County Fair Board and secretary of School District No. 5 in Emerald

Voters in the 1st District, northeast Lincoln and northeast Lancaster County, will select the Republican and Democratic candidates during the May 11 primary.

The two candidates will face in the Nov. 2 general election on a county-wide basis.

Seven other county residents have filed for spots in the remaining two county races open this election year, and about 350 Republicans and 450 Democrats have filed for the county conventions.

County Planning To Cinch Its Belt

By NANCY HICKS
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County Commissioners may not make many friends this summer when they try to keep the country's departmental budgets within the maximum mill levy allowed by law.

Department heads already have been warned in a letter from Board Chairman Bruce Hamilton that the budget philosophy will be "conservative" and the funds available will allow only maintenance of necessary programs.

"I have a feeling we're going to have a lot of unhappy department heads, this year," said Commissioner Bob Colin as the board discussed the coming budget sessions during a Friday morning staff meeting.

"I'd say all of them will be unhappy," said Jan Gauger.

The board approved a tentative budget schedule which will take up most of the summer. The budget request deadline is June 7, with review of budgets continuing through June and July

A public hearing on the county's more than 25 budgets has been tentatively set for August 5, with final approval August 10.

The county's 1976-77 fiscal year, from July 1, 1976, to June 30, 1977, "is going to be real tough," said Fiscal Analyst Elmer Cheek.

Last year's $22 7 million budget was only 2.285 mills from the maximum mill levy — and the budget included $2.4 million in federal revenue sharing funds.

Continued revenue sharing funding probably will be tied up in Congress until fall, and the county can only count on a half-year share of about $500,000 for next year's budget.

If revenue sharing is extended, the county can have an emergency budget hearing later in the year to appropriate the funds, said Mrs Gauger "But we can't count on it during budget time," she said.

The additional mill increase from this year's 11 995 to the maximum 14.28 means only about $1,200,000 in additional tax money to work with And $400,000 to $700,000 will be eaten up in salary raises, Cheek said.

Firth Farmer Files For Weed Control Board

A farmer from Firth filed Friday for a seat on the Lancaster County Weed Control Authority

Glen Kroese said he is primarily interested in weed control as a farmer. He doesn't think "we need more governmental control with more herbicides and chemicals" Kroese said farmers are trained in their use

He said he supports the work of the authority and said he thinks cooperation between county officials and the weed board is needed.

Pay Hike For Senators Passes 1st Floor Vote

State senators Friday gave preliminary approval to a proposed constitutional amendment that would increase legislative pay to $8,100 a year.

The vote to advance the bill past the initial floor action stage was 32-0. The legislation, originally introduced by Adams Sen. George Burrows in a form that would have resulted in annual pay of about $12,000, was changed via amendments.

The senators currently earn $4,800 a year or $400 a month. The $675 a month in the proposal to change the constitution is the same amount called for in another constitutional amendment turned down by the voters in May 1974.

In Nebraska, pay of state legislators is set in the constitution and the people have the final say via the ballot as to whether senators get an increase.

Omaha Sen. George Syas, chairman of the Constitutional Revision and Recreation Committee which heard the bill, said several organizations promised to back the pay hike proposal if a reasonable flat figure were involved.

Unicam OKs Requirement For Teachers' Degrees

The Legislature passed a bill Friday to require new teachers to have four-year college degrees and require teachers who have been certified without college degrees to work toward them.

The bill, LB833, is similar to one vetoed by Gov. J. James Exon last year. Under current law, teachers can begin work in rural elementary schools with only a two-year college degree. The bill requires teachers who are currently certified without four-year college degrees to obtain eight hours of college credit every three years. The bill passed on a vote of 34-2.

The Unicameral also passed a $1.48 million package to aid disabled welfare recipients. The federal government has recently required a one-year waiting period before the disabled can receive welfare.

On a vote of 29-5, the Unicameral passed LB454 to reduce the waiting period to six months.

Passed on a vote of 33-2, LB454A appropriates the money.

Exon Asks Money For ENCOR

Gov J. James Exon Friday proposed a fund shift that would make more money available to the Eastern Nebraska Office of Mental Retardation for preschool work with mentally retarded children.

Exon's proposal would increase ENCOR's share of a $[illegible] deficiency appropriation from $122,[illegible] to $[illegible].

The money for the five-county, Omaha-area retardation program would be taken away from the other community mental retardation programs in the state

Exon said they have reduced their programs and don't need all the funds proposed in the deficiency appropriation bill, LB972.

23 Church Delegates File

A number of well-known Democrats, including labor leaders and party officers, are included on the slate of national convention delegate candidates pledged to support Sen. Frank Church for the presidential nomination.

The 23-member slate was filed with the secretary of state's office Friday.

It includes Lancaster County Commissioner H. Bruce Hamilton; Victor Meyers of Omaha, chairman of the State AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE), and Lincoln labor leader Rex King.

Party officers include Associate State Chairman Buster Brown and Shelie Hartman, president of the Young Democrats.

"This is a remarkable expression of support for an unannounced (presidential) candidate after only one visit to Nebraska," Church's state coordinator, Don Geis of Lincoln, said.

The Church slate:

Filings Swell Primary Ballot

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

A flurry of last-minute election filings Friday stretched Nebraska's primary ballot to its longest length in history, according to election officials.

Secretary of State Allen J. Beermann said the composite sample ballot for the May 11 primary election will be approximately 16 feet long, the longest ever.

More than 500 delegate candidate filings for the Republican, Democrat and American party conventions swelled the ballot this year, the first year delegate candidates were not required to pay a filing fee.

Beermann attributed free placement on the ballot as well as heated races in both major parties and a convention in nearby Kansas City as playing a role in the number of delegates filing.

The last-minute filings for elective offices attracted many anxious on-lookers but few surprises.

Among the surprises were:

—Mrs. Fred (Gladys) Seaton, widow of the late U.S. secretary of the interior and newspaper publisher from Hastings, filed for the University of Nebraska Board of Regents from the fifth district. She is challenging incumbent Robert Koefoot of Grand Island.

—Former President Richard M. Nixon's name will appear on the ballot. Peteris Taurins of Lincoln filed for delegate to the Republican convention committed to Nixon.

Taurins said, "My candidacy offers Nebraskans a chance to protest President Nixon's martyrdom by media."

—Mrs. Ruth Swanson, wife of former State Treasurer Wayne Swanson, filed as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Nebraska Public Service Commission's southeast Nebraska seat.

Her husband ran unsuccessfully in 1974 for the Republican nomination for the commission from western Nebraska. Questioned about his residency, Wayne said he and his wife are residing in Lincoln.

—Lincoln Sen. Shirley Marsh's bid for re-nomination in the primary faces more opposition than any other incumbent state legislator. Mrs. Marsh will face a field of six other candidates in the primary, including Gerald Sasek, whose dismissal last year from the Public Service Commission stirred controversy.

—Three incumbent senators face no opposition in the primary — Richard Marvel of Hastings, Bob Clark Sidney and Dennis Rasmussen of Scotia.

Nine senators are assured of a spot on the general election ballot because only one opponent filed against each of them. Under state law, the top two vote-getters in the primary advance to the general election.

The nine are Orval Keyes of Springfield, George Syas of Omaha, John Murphy of South Sioux City, Loran Schmit of Bellwood, Jerry Warner of Waverly, Ralph Kelly of Grand Island, Frank Lewis of Bellevue, Herb Duis of Gothenburg and Leslie Stull of Alliance.

—Merle Hansen of Newman Grove filed for the Board of Regents seat held by incumbent Kermit Wagner of Schuyler.

Saying it's time the regents had "a dirt farmer" among them, Hansen announced his candidacy. He said the university is directing too much of its efforts in agriculture toward benefiting corporate agriculture instead of family farms.

Hansen noted that NU President D. B. Varner serves on the board of directors of Beatrice Foods, a conglomerate which distributes over 5,000 food products. Hansen questioned whether this is an indication that the university's agriculture research is too corporate-oriented.

Unicam OKs Requirement For Teachers' Degrees

The Legislature passed a bill Friday to require new teachers to have four-year college degrees and require teachers who have been certified without college degrees to work toward them.

The bill, LB833, is similar to one vetoed by Gov. J. James Exon last year. Under current law, teachers can begin work in rural elementary schools with only a two-year college degree. The bill requires teachers who are currently certified without four-year college degrees to obtain eight hours of college credit every three years. The bill passed on a vote of 34-2.

The Unicameral also passed a $1.48 million package to aid disabled welfare recipients. The federal government has recently required a one-year waiting period before the disabled can receive welfare.

On a vote of 29-5, the Unicameral passed LB454 to reduce the waiting period to six months.

Passed on a vote of 33-2, LB454A appropriates the money.

Exon Asks Money For ENCOR

Gov. J. James Exon Friday proposed a fund shift that would make more money available to the Eastern Nebraska Office of Mental Retardation for preschool work with mentally retarded children.

Exon's proposal would increase ENCOR's share of a $528,000 deficiency appropriation from $122,285 to $208,697.

The money for the five-county, Omaha-area retardation program would be taken away from the other communitz mental retardation programs in the state.

Exon said they have reduced their programs and don't need all the funds proposed in the deficiency appropriation bill, LB972.

23 Church Delegates File

A number of well-known Democrats, including labor leaders and party officers, are included on the slate of national convention delegate candidates pledged to support Sen. Frank Church for the presidential nomination.

The 23-member slate was filed with the secretary of state's office Friday.

It includes Lancaster County Commissioner H. Bruce Hamilton; Victor Meyers of Omaha, chairman of the State AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE), and Lincoln labor leader Rex King.

Party officers include Associate State Chairman Buster Brown and Shelie Hartman, president of the Young Democrats.

"This is a remarkable expression of support for an unannounced (presidential) candidate after only one visit to Nebraska," Church's state coordinator, Don Geis of Lincoln, said.

The Church slate:

First District: Rosemary Bauer, Donna Polk, Mack Backhaus, Gwen Searcy, James McGinn, Dorothy Boettner, King and Hamilton.

Second District: Michael Wellman, Joan Cooney, Marilyn Felion, William Berryman, Arthur Scherr, Robert Brennan, Rowena Moore, Meyers.

Third District: Ralph Stout, Joyce Purtzer, Joseph Shaughnessy, Wesley Mues, Joseph Johnson, Brown and Ms. Hartman.

Fowler, Hahn Are Candidates Backing Harris

Sen. Steve Fowler of Lincoln and Lancaster County District Court Clerk Kandra Hahn are on the list of 23 Democratic delegate candidates pledged to support Fred Harris for the presidential nomination.

Also filing as a Harris delegate candidate was Bryce Ohmstede of Guide Rock, whose wife, Frances, is a Democratic national committeewoman.

The list of Harris delegate candidates:

First District: Bert Evans, John Hansen, Leola Bullock, Francis Moul, Betty Olson, Karen Buller, Fowler and Ms. Hahn.

Second District: David Marrero, Eugene Crawford, Richard Stoil, Jan Searcey, Mary Dixon, Reynold Cervantes, Frank Merrick and Zenola Hilliard.

Third District: June Popken, Weston Webb, Janet Denison, Jim Bowman, David McCreary, John Boman and Ohmstede.

Grandson Forgets Thank-You Note

By JOANNE FARRIS

QUESTION: Here it is March already and I have not received a thank-you note from my favorite grandson for the Christmas present I sent him. He's 25, and he should know better than to neglect me.

This is not the first time he has been remiss in this regard. His brothers are bad about it too, but they finally came through with their notes by the middle of February.

Have you any suggestions about what I should do to get him to stop this rudeness?

ANSWER: First, I'd take him off my Christmas present list for next year.

You have no duty or obligation to send him a gift, and if you feel hurt and upset about his negligence, as you are entitled to feel, then why not show it?

Send him a Christmas card instead, you won't expect a reply, and he won't expect a reply, and he won't feel obligated to send one

If what you really miss is not hearing from him and are just venting your anger on the Christmas thank-you letter issue, I suggest you write to him and tell him the truth: that you enjoy hearing from him.

You may want to mention the gift in passing, but I believe you get on a good footing with any person you care about when you express your real feelings about them and invite them to be open and honest with you about how they feel.

I hold no brief about not writing thank-you letters for gifts, but I think we older people occasionally take these lapses of courtesy by the young too seriously and feel rejected.

The young person does not always realize how demoralized we may feel when we are ignored when we believe we should be recognized.

We should not read into the matter something that the young person did not intend.

By the same token, the young know enough about themselves to realize that they enjoy recognition when they think they are entitled to it. They must endeavor to grant the same recognition to others when it is due.

QUESTION: Can you talk some sense into my folks? They read your column so maybe you can help me dissuade them from becoming gypsies, as they put it.

They have sold their house and are disposing of the personal possessions they acquired over 38 years of marriage. When they finish selling their stuff they are going to take off in a pickup truck with an 18-foot trailer and two bikes.

Pop is 60 and Mom is 58, and I think they are taking leave of their senses to try this vagabond life. Don't you agree?

ANSWER: Too many people never do what they want in their lives, so they die never having known the joy of true, simple pleasures. I think your parents have a wish to see new places, and they are wise enough to go and see them while they are both healthy enough to enjoy them.

I detect an undertone of fear in your letter, Do not be afraid for them. If, as your letter mentioned, they have been training for this venture by camping and bicycle trips, they know what they are getting into, and they certainly will be taking care of themselves.

If you have fear based on your wish that you and your husband could take off like that but will never be able to, deal with it. Talk to your husband about what you both really want out of life.

You may be in for a pleasant surprise. In any event, you cannot help but benefit from getting your and his feelings out in front of you and dealing with them.

I know a couple who are 79 and 77. Every fall they drive their trailer from Salem, Ore., to Palm Springs, Calif., and in June they drive back, just for the fun of it. If your parents enjoy their new life-style let's hope they're still at it at those ages.

Religious faith is very much like a mighty mountain—its peak seemingly lost in the clouds.

On the lower slopes all you can do is plod onward and upward. You cannot see your goal or even know the many turns of the trail as it rises through the mist.

Yet on the high reaches, the brightness of the sun is everywhere. And with fascination you can look down on the clouds while pursuing your path to the peak.

We are trying to say: Never get discouraged in your quest for Christian faith and strength. One Sunday in church doesn't answer all our questions. One earnest prayer doesn't set up a communications center with God.

But every rising step brings us closer to that vantage point where the heights are clothed in brightness, and faith looks down on the clouds.

"WHY DO THE HEATHEN RAGE?"
Psalms 2 and Acts 4:25

The rage of the heathen or unbelievers, in the God of the Bible, the Book of His revelation of Himself to man, is especially aimed at His Moral Law, His Ten Commandments. The Ten Commandments have a special claim for recognition, consideration and honor, for several reasons that none of the other Scriptures have. They were spoken audibly by God to the nation of Israel out of the midst of fire enveloping Mt. Sinai. The sight was so fearful and terrible "they that heard entreated that the word should not be spoken any more (for they could not endure that which was commanded" ... and so terrible was the sight, that Moses said "I exceedingly fear and quake" ") Hebrews 12 19-21. Consider what sights may be in store for you and me when our spirit leaves this "house of clay" for it's "long home"! And again "And He (God) gave unto Moses ... two tables of testimony, tables of stone, written with the finger of God ... and Moses turned and went down from the mount and the two tables of testimony were in his hand, the tables were written on both their sides; on the one side and on the other were they written. And the tables were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, graven upon the tables." Exodus 31 18 and 32 15-16. Again we say, in view of the way they were given to man, spoken and written with the finger of God, they deserve our special attention and consideration!

When Moses got back down to the camp he found the people worshiping an idol, a golden calf! In his anger he threw the two tables down and broke them. However, in spite of his anger at the people he pleaded with God not to destroy them as He had threatened, and offered to make of Moses' people a great nation. God heard his prayer and spared them utter destruction. "And the Lord said unto Moses, Hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first: and I will write upon these tables the words that were in the first tables, which thou breakest." Exodus 34 1. After breaking the tables that were the work of God, he was ordered himself to hew two tables of stone and present them to God for His finger to write upon them the same Commandments that were in the first stones.

Here we have a good and easily understood explanation of Christianity. Adam broke God's law and all have inherited his rebellious and sinful nature. God now calls upon Adam ... the man ... to bring Him the tables of his heart, that He may write in them His Commandments with The Finger of His Spirit. They are the same ones given Moses, the sum of which is to "Love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, mind, soul and strength, and thy neighbor as thyself." The offer is to Whosoever Will ... to all who want this work done in their heart. It can be done because of the work of Jesus Christ who came in the flesh and perfectly kept God's Commandments for us, and then took our place for our disobedience, suffered our punishment, even death, that we might be made the righteousness of God. In Jeremiah 31 33 we read "I will put my laws in their inward parts and write it in their hearts." You will also find the same message in Ezekiel 11.19, and 36 26, 27, and many other places in The Old Testament either stated or indicated. The New Testament confirms this truth over and over again in many places, especially in Hebrews 8 10, and 10 16, where we are told The New Covenant means the writing of God's Law and Commandments upon the heart. The necessity of this work is revealed right at the end of the Bible where we are told that they who have a right to The Tree of Life and to enter in through the gates into the city are those who "do His Commandments." "Blessed are they that do His Commandments, that they may have a right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city." Rev. 22 14

Last week we expressed the opinion that The Fourth Commandment was raged and rebelled against more so than any of the others. Attention was also called to the terrible judgment of God upon an individual and also upon the king and nation for disobedience. There is a wonderful promise of blessing and good in Isaiah 58 13, 14 to all that keep and hallow The Day acceptable to God. Quote:

"IF THOU TURN AWAY THY FOOT FROM THE SABBATH, FROM DOING THY PLEASURE ON MY HOLY DAY; AND CALL THE SABBATH A DELIGHT, THE HOLY OF THE LORD, honourable; AND SHALT HONOR HIM, NOT DOING THINE OWN WAYS, NOR FINDING THINE OWN PLEASURE, NOR SPEAKING THINE OWN WORDS: THEN SHALT THOU DELIGHT THYSELF IN THE LORD; AND I WILL CAUSE THEE TO RIDE UPON THE HIGH PLACES OF THE EARTH, AND FEED THEE WITH THE HERITAGE OF JACOB, THY FATHER: FOR THE MOUTH OF THE LORD HATH SPOKEN IT."

The promise and the implication herein is that obedience to the Fourth Commandment acceptable to God will result and lead to obedience to all the other nine and the "heritage of Jacob" which means Jesus Christ, Everlasting Life and blessing!

The testimony of this witness is that those who claim to be Christian and yet no zeal for keeping and establishing every one of the Ten Commandments must have a foreign form of Christianity, unless perhaps they are "babes in Christ" and have had no nourishing food or time to grow. Without such a zeal how can we pray "Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth, as it is in Heaven"?

"Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God and keep His Commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil." Eccles. 12 13, 14

Psalms 2 and Acts 4:25

The rage of the heathen, or unbelievers, in the God of the Bible, the Book of His revelation of Himself to man, is especially aimed at His Moral Law, His Ten Commandments. The Ten Commandments have a special claim for recognition, consideration and honor, for several reasons that none of the other Scriptures have: They were spoken audibly by God to the nation of Israel out of the midst of fire enveloping Mt. Sinai. The sight was so fearful and terrible "they that heard entreated that the word should not be spoken any more (for they could not endure that which was commanded"...and so terrible was the sight, that Moses said, "I exceedingly fear and quake...."). Hebrews 12:19-21. Consider what sights may be in store for you and me when our spirit leaves this "house of clay" for it's "long home"! And again, "And He (God) gave unto Moses...two tables of testimony, tables of stone, written with the finger of God...and Moses turned and went down from the mount and the two tables of testimony were in his hand: the tables were written on both their sides on the one side and on the other were they written. And the tables were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, graven upon the tables." Exodus 31:18, and 32:15-16. Again we say, in view of the way they were given to man, spoken and written with the finger of God, they deserve our special attention and consideration!

When Moses got back down to the camp he found the people worshiping an idol, a golden calf! In his anger he threw the two tables down and broke them! However, in spite of his anger at the people he pleaded with God not to destroy them, as He had threatened, and offered to make of Moses' people a great nation! God heard his prayer, and spared them utter destruction. "And the Lord said unto Moses, Hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first, and I will write upon these tables the words that were in the first tables, which thou breakest." Exodus 34:1. After breaking the tables that were the work of God, he was ordered himself to hew two tables of stone and present them to God for His finger to write upon them the same Commandments that were in the first stones.

Here we have a good, and easily understood explanation of Christianity. Adam broke God's law and all have inherited his rebellious and sinful nature. God now calls upon Adam — the man — to bring Him the "tables of his heart" that He may write in them His Commandments with "The Finger of His Spirit." They are the same ones given Moses, the sum of which is to "Love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, mind, soul and strength; and thy neighbor as thyself." The offer is to "Whosoever Will," to all who want this work done in their heart. It can be done because of the work of Jesus Christ who came in the flesh and perfectly kept God's Commandments for us, and then took our place for our disobedience, suffered our punishment, even death, that we might be made the righteousness of God. In Jeremiah 31:33 we read: "I will put my laws in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts." You will also find the same message in Ezekiel 11:19, and 36:26, 27, and many other places in The Old Testament either stated or indicated. The New Testament confirms this truth over and over again in many places, especially in Hebrews 8:10, and 10:16, where we are told The New Covenant means the writing of God's Law and Commandments upon the heart. The necessity of this work is revealed right at the end of the Bible where we are told that they who have a right to The Tree of Life, and to enter in through the gates into the city, are those who "do His Commandments." "Blessed are they that do His Commandments, that they may have a right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city." Rev. 22:14.

Last week we expressed the opinion that The Fourth Commandment was raged and rebelled against more so than any of the others. Attention was also called to the terrible judgment of God upon an individual, and also upon the king and nation for disobedience. There is a wonderful promise of blessing and good in Isaiah 58:13, 14, to all that keep and hallow The Day acceptably to God. Quote:

"IF THOU TURN AWAY THY FOOT FROM THE SABBATH, FROM DOING THY PLEASURE ON MY HOLY DAY; AND CALL THE SABBATH A DELIGHT, THE HOLY OF THE LORD, honourable; AND SHALT HONOR HIM, NOT DOING THINE OWN WAYS, NOR FINDING THINE OWN PLEASURE, NOR SPEAKING THINE OWN WORDS; THEN SHALT THOU DELIGHT THYESELF IN THE LORD; AND I WILL CAUSE THEE TO RIDE UPON THE HIGH PLACES OF THE EARTH, AND FEED THEE WITH THE HERITAGE OF JACOB, THY FATHER; FOR THE MOUTH OF THE LORD HATH SPOKEN IT."

The promise, and the implication herein is that obedience to the Fourth Commandment acceptable to God, will result and lead to obedience to all the other nine, and the "heritage of Jacob," which means Jesus Christ, Everlasting Life and blessing!

The testimony of this witness is that those who claim to be Christian and yet no zeal for keeping and establishing every one of the Ten Commandments must have a corrupt form of Christianity, unless perhaps they are "babes in Christ" and have had no nourishing food or time to grow. Without such a zeal how can we pray: "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth, as it is in Heaven."

"Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God and keep His Commandments for this is the whole duty of man. God God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil." Eccles. 12:13, 14.

Religious faith is very much like a mighty mountain — its peak seemingly lost in the clouds.

On the lower slopes all you can do is plod onward and upward. You cannot see your goal or even know the many turns of the trail as it rises through the mist.

Yet on the high reaches, the brightness of the sun is everywhere. And with fascination you can look down on the clouds while pursuing your path to the peak.

We are trying to say: Never get discouraged in your quest for Christian faith and strength. One Sunday in church doesn't answer all our questions. One earnest prayer doesn't set up a communications center with God.

But every rising step brings us closer to that vantage point where the heights are clothed in brightness, and faith looks down on the clouds.

Congressman: Leaks Undermine CIA Probe

By WES ALBERS
Star Staff Writer

Rep. William Cohen

News leaks like those during a recent House Intelligence Committee investigation benefit the CIA and FBI by undermining such investigations, Rep. William Cohen (R-Maine) said Friday.

"The agencies have benefited by news leaks even though the initial reaction is harmful," he said. "Leaks discredit the investigations themselves."

Any congressmen who leaks information or documents to the press should be "severely sanctioned," Cohen said.

Cohen, who served on the House Judiciary Committee during its Watergate investigation, spoke at a University of Nebraska-Lincoln political science symposium Friday night. A former University of Maine instructor, he was elected to the House in 1972.

At a press conference, Cohen said "unauthorized disclosures and leaks" affected the Judiciary Committee's "reliability and credibility . . . ultimately undermining the committee investigation."

Cohen and Rep. John Rhodes (R-Arizona) have introduced a bill to establish a joint committee to oversee Congressional investigations and censure congressmen who leak information to the press.

The bill also includes penalties for staff members who leak information.

A House Intelligence Committee report on U.S. intelligence activities recently was published in abbreviated form in a New York weekly newspaper after the House voted to withhold the report.

CBS newsman Daniel Schorr, who arranged the report's publication, has been indefinitely suspended by CBS News. The House Ethics Committee is investigating circumstances surrounding the report's publication.

Cohen said Schorr was wrong to release the report but believes "the principal focus (of the investigation) should be on those who have access to the information — the congressmen and their staffs."

"Once you start dealing with the newspaper reporters, you run into First Amendment freedoms," he said.

Cohen said Sen. Frank Church's (D-Idaho) potential presidential candidacy "might undermine the credibility of his work (as chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee)."

Church will begin his run for the Democratic nomination in Nebraska's May 11 primary but won't officially announce his candidacy until later this month, after the committee's investigation is complete.

"A responsible Congress and a responsible overseeing committee is essential," he said.

"There is a need for a strong CIA and FBI, but there is also need for strong overseeing to prevent abuses of power."

Spectre Of NETV Logo Has Brief Reincarnation

By DICK HOLMAN
Star Staff Writer

The ghost of Nebraska Educational Television's Lost Logo enjoyed a fleeting reincarnation Friday.

But lawyers swiftly drove a stake through the heart of the resurrection attempt and re-entombed forever the prospect of spreading icing over the already sweet windfall.

NETV had entered his stylized "N" logotype in the New York City Type Directors' Club competition before the Feb. 20 deadline.

That was well before NETV knew it would accept a substantial settlement for relinquishing to the National Broadcasting Co. all rights to the symbol last week.

Then came a footnote to the Saga of the Great Logo Controversy, presumed dead.

Friday, NETV Network Art Director Bill Korbus learned the Type Directors' Club had accepted the logo for its 22nd New York City exhibition, as well as two traveling displays in the U.S. and Europe.

Moral Victory

The Korbus-designed logo was to hang with other winners chosen for type design creativity. "It's kind of a moral victory," he said, since the abstract symbol didn't place in the Lincoln Ad Club's contest which allowed broader criteria. "We'd rather win in New York, anyway," he spoofed.

The moral boost was short-lived.

Boyd Rooney, NETV assistant general manager, pulled network lawyers into a quick skull session to decide if NETV could pay the $40 hanging fee and show the logo internationally as its own.

But for giving the logo rights to NBC, Rooney said, the agreement "calls for us not to use it after April 1." The Type Directors' Club exhibition is scheduled for June.

While the NBC settlement permits NETV to continue any logo uses in effect before Jan. 1, the four months following that date are taboo. Rooney said although the club competition was for uses in 1975 (when NETV developed and first displayed its now-lost logo), "we submitted it after Jan. 1."

Hence, the lawyers ruled "we must withdraw it," he said.

Satisfaction At Home

A proud Korbus said the Type Directors' Club honor at least can give NETV satisfaction at home, if not before the world.

Rooney quipped, "NBC could enter it after April 1."

The Nebraska public television network, settled out of court for NBC equipment and cash valued together at more than $555,000. Coughing up what one NETV commissioner described as a "windfall" put NBC's estimated total cost for its corporate identity program at more than $1.3 million.

That jousting prize, meanwhile, apparently struck spin-off hopes into Miami entrepeneurs, who the Wall Street Journal reports have invented a new board pastime: "The Million Dollar Logo — The Great American Game."

The Florida ad man and his associates, following Nebraska form, set up no rules in the play with geometrically shaped, colored pieces that let people create their own logos.

Tom Stoppard's 'Dynamic Duo' Offers Delight For Theater Buff

By BILL WALLIS

The Lincoln Community Playhouse's present production of Tom Stoppard's dynamic duo of one-act plays, "After Magritte" and "The Real Inspector Hound," offers entertainment to delight you — whether you are a theater buff or not. Both satirize theatric convention.

The first play burlesques that area of modern theatre generally called "absurd", and the second play pokes fun (in a very murderous way) at the theater critic. Stoppard, whose "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead" evidences one of the really excellent imaginations in modern playwriting, has a particular talent for off-beat comedy, and making his points indirectly. His characters not only act out their own fantasies, but may in fact themselves be an extension of that fantasy.

"After Magritte" concerns a blond- or white-haired uniped seen on a crowded street. A distinctly odd (mother — Dorothy Stoesz — sleeps on the ironing board) family is set upon by a police inspector who proceeds to brilliantly solve a crime which did not occur.

Larry Zoucha gave a technically delightful performance in both plays. His entrance picked up the first play and provided the most electric moments of the second, where he portrays Birdboot, the elder theater critic.

Don Renaud also does commendable work in both plays. In the first he portrays Harris the husband, in the second Moon the underlying reviewer. His roles are perhaps the most difficult in the plays, and he will grow with them.

The second piece of the evening is a play-within-a-play, involving romance and murder. The major question is one of appearance and reality. What would happen if we were actually able to become the characters on stage and act out our fantasies? See "The Real Inspector Hound" for the answer. The complexities of the play, which involve the entire aesthetic of theatre, and theatric convention of every kind do not in any way mask the open fun of the badly written murder mystery, stylized beautifully by John Wilson's cast, the critics review.

The plays are well-directed, and Wilson, who never lets his cast lose a sense of fun, sees that they capture the serious moments as well. Don Yanik's sets are attractive; sound by John Welch is well done.

It is a pleasure to see the two short jewels alive and well. For those who want to think and enjoy, there is plenty. For those who want to just enjoy, there is also plenty.

Joint Meeting To Discuss Beatrice Panel Problems

U.S. District Judge Albert Schatz, state mental retardation panel members and representatives of Atty. Gen. Paul Douglas will meet 9.30 a.m., March 29, in Schatz's office to discuss disagreements on the retardation panel's role.

The panel, created by a court decree resulting from a lawsuit filed against state officials by advocates of the retarded, has requested the meeting in response to disagreement with Gov. J. James Exon over the panel's duties and funding.

Douglas asked Schatz if the State Justice Department could attend the meeting. In a letter received Friday, Schatz informed Douglas his department could be represented.

The meeting will be in Schatz's chambers and is expected to be closed to the public.

The panel, consisting of five people named by Exon from a field of nominees, is charged with drafting a plan to implement a court decree agreed to by all parties. The decree is intended to shift most of the 1,000 residents of the Beatrice State Home to community-based retardation programs.

Tentative drafts of the plan suggest 349 Beatrice residents be shifted to community programs in two years.

The panel feels it should go beyond drafting the plan and monitor progress at both Beatrice and community programs.

It has also said more funds need to be provided the community programs and the panel

Congressman: Leaks Undermine CIA Probe

By WES ALBERS
Star Staff Writer

Rep. William Cohen

News leaks like those during a recent House Intelligence Committee investigation benefit the CIA and FBI by undermining such investigations, Rep. William Cohen (R-Maine) said Friday.

"The agencies have benefited by news leaks even though the initial reaction is harmful," he said. "Leaks discredit the investigations themselves."

Any congressmen who leaks information or documents to the press should be "severely sanctioned," Cohen said.

Cohen, who served on the House Judiciary Committee during its Watergate investigation, spoke at a University of Nebraska-Lincoln political science symposium Friday night. A former University of Maine instructor, he was elected to the House in 1972.

At a press conference, Cohen said "unauthorized disclosures and leaks" affected the Judiciary Committee's "reliability and credibility . . . ultimately undermining the committee investigation."

Cohen and Rep. John Rhodes (R-Arizona) have introduced a bill to establish a joint committee to oversee Congressional investigations and censure congressmen who leak information to the press.

The bill also includes penalties for staff members who leak information.

A House Intelligence Committee report on U.S. intelligence activities recently was published in abbreviated form in a New York weekly newspaper after the House voted to withhold the report.

CBS newsman Daniel Schorr, who arranged the report's publication, has been indefinitely suspended by CBS News. The House Ethics Committee is investigating circumstances surrounding the report's publication.

Cohen said Schorr was wrong to release the report but believes "the principal focus (of the investigation) should be on those who have access to the information — the congressmen and their staffs."

"Once you start dealing with the newspaper reporters, you run into First Amendment freedoms," he said.

Cohen said Sen. Frank Church's (D-Idaho) potential presidential candidacy "might undermine the credibility of his work (as chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee)."

Church will begin his run for the Democratic nomination in Nebraska's May 11 primary but won't officially announce his candidacy until later this month, after the committee's investigation is complete.

"A responsible Congress and a responsible overseeing committee is essential," he said.

"There is a need for a strong CIA and FBI, but there is also need for strong overseeing to prevent abuses of power."

Spectre Of NETV Logo Has Brief Reincarnation

By DICK HOLMAN
Star Staff Writer

The ghost of Nebraska Educational Television's Lost Logo enjoyed a fleeting reincarnation Friday.

But lawyers swiftly drove a stake through the heart of the resurrection attempt and reentombed forever the prospect of spreading icing over the already sweet windfall.

NETV had entered his stylized "N" logotype in the New York City Type Directors' Club competition before the Feb. 20 deadline.

That was well before NETV knew it would accept a substantial settlement for relinquishing to the National Broadcasting Co. all rights to the symbol last week.

Then came a footnote to the Saga of the Great Logo Controversy, presumed dead.

Friday, NETV Network Art Director Bill Korbus learned the Type Directors' Club had accepted the logo for its 22nd New York City exhibition, as well as two traveling displays in the U.S. and Europe.

Moral Victory

The Korbus-designed logo was to hang with other winners chosen for type design creativity. "It's kind of a moral victory," he said, since the abstract symbol didn't place in the Lincoln Ad Club's contest which allowed broader criteria. "We'd rather win in New York, anyway," he spoofed.

The moral boost was short-lived.

Boyd Rooney, NETV assistant general manager, pulled network lawyers into a quick skull session to decide if NETV could pay the $40 hanging fee and show the logo internationally as its own.

But for giving the logo rights to NBC, Rooney said, the agreement "calls for us not to use it after April 1." The Type Directors' Club exhibition is scheduled for June.

While the NBC settlement permits NETV to continue any logo uses in effect before Jan. 1, the four months following that date are taboo. Rooney said although the club competition was for uses in 1975 (when NETV developed and first displayed its now-lost logo), "we submitted it after Jan. 1."

Hence, the lawyers ruled "we must withdraw it," he said.

Satisfaction At Home

A proud Korbus said the Type Directors' Club honor at least can give NETV satisfaction at home, if not before the world.

Rooney quipped, "NBC could enter it after April 1."

The Nebraska public television network, settled out of court for NBC equipment and cash valued together at more than $555,000. Coughing up what one NETV commissioner described as a "windfall" put NBC's estimated total cost for its corporate identity program at more than $1.3 million.

That jousting prize, meanwhile, apparently struck spin-off hopes into Miami entrepeneurs, who the Wall Street Journal reports have invented a new board pastime: "The Million Dollar Logo — The Great American Game."

The Florida ad man and his associates, following Nebraska form, set up no rules in the play with geometrically shaped, colored pieces that let people create their own logos.

Tom Stoppard's 'Dynamic Duo' Offers Delight For Theater Buff

By BILL WALLIS

The Lincoln Community Playhouse's present production of Tom Stoppard's dynamic duo of one-act plays, "After Magritte" and "The Real Inspector Hound," offers entertainment to delight you — whether you are a theater buff or not. Both satirize theatric convention.

The first play burlesques that area of modern theatre generally called "absurd", and the second play pokes fun (in a very murderous way) at the theater critic. Stoppard, whose "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead" evidences one of the really excellent imaginations in modern playwriting, has a particular talent for off-beat comedy, and making his points indirectly. His characters not only act out their own fantasies, but may in fact themselves be an extension of that fantasy.

"After Magritte" concerns a blond- or white-haired uniped seen on a crowded street. A distinctly odd (mother — Dorothy Stoesz — sleeps on the ironing board) family is set upon by a police inspector who proceeds to brilliantly solve a crime which did not occur.

Larry Zoucha gave a technically delightful performance in both plays. His entrance picked up the first play and provided the most electric moments of the second, where he portrays Birdboot, the elder theater critic.

Don Renaud also does commendable work in both plays. In the first he portrays Harris the husband, in the second Moon the underlying reviewer. His roles are perhaps the most difficult in the plays, and he will grow with them.

The second piece of the evening is a play-within-a-play, involving romance and murder. The major question is one of appearance and reality. What would happen if we were actually able to become the characters on stage and act out our fantasies? See "The Real Inspector Hound" for the answer. The complexities of the play, which involve the entire aesthetic of theatre, and theatric convention of every kind do not in any way mask the open fun of the badly written murder mystery, stylized beautifully by John Wilson's cast, the critics review.

The plays are well-directed, and Wilson, who never lets his cast lose a sense of fun, sees that they capture the serious moments as well. Don Yanik's sets are attractive; sound by John Welch is well done.

It is a pleasure to see the two short jewels alive and well. For those who want to think and enjoy, there is plenty. For those who want to just enjoy, there is also plenty.

Joint Meeting To Discuss Beatrice Panel Problems

U.S. District Judge Albert Schatz, state mental retardation panel members and representatives of Atty. Gen. Paul Douglas will meet 9:30 a.m., March 29, in Schatz's office to discuss disagreements on the retardation panel's role.

The panel, created by a court decree resulting from a lawsuit filed against state officials by advocates of the retarded, has requested the meeting in response to disagreement with Gov. J. James Exon over the panel's duties and funding.

Douglas asked Schatz if the State Justice Department could attend the meeting. In a letter received Friday, Schatz informed Douglas his department could be represented.

The meeting will be in Schatz's chambers and is expected to be closed to the public.

The panel, consisting of five people named by Exon from a field of nominees, is charged with drafting a plan to implement a court decree agreed to by all parties. The decree is intended to shift most of the 1,000 residents of the Beatrice State Home to community-based retardation programs.

Tentative drafts of the plan suggest 349 Beatrice residents be shifted to community programs in two years.

The panel feels it should go beyond drafting the plan and monitor progress at both Beatrice and community programs.

It has also said more funds need to be provided the community programs and the panel

Consumers Can Complain To Industry Associations

By JANE BRYANT QUINN

Jane Bryant Quinn

New York — When you buy something that doesn't work, most of you are not shy about letting the dealer know you're sore In most cases, he'll make an adjustment for you on the spot

But what if he doesn't? Some people call their lawyers, others turn to the Better Business Bureau Yet another possibility is the consumer complaint service run by various industry trade associations Write to an association only if both the dealer and the manufacturer turn a deaf ear (the manufacturer's address should be included in whatever instructional material came with the product) Then fire off all the details to the trade group's consumer affairs director Here are some of the more active groups

MAJOR APPLIANCE CONSUMER ACTION PANEL, 20 North Wacker Dr, Chicago, Ill 60606 (or call collect 312-236-3165) MACAP is sponsored by two appliance associations and the association of retail merchants and handles such things as refrigerators, stoves, dishwashers and washing machines Most complaints can be settled immediately, by phone or mail Problem cases are referred to a non-industry panel that meets every five or six weeks The panel's recommendations are not binding, but MACAP says they're followed in most cases A drawback is that, because of the need to gather information and make a judgment, it may take a few months to settle the matter

MACAP's 1975 record 3,956 complaints received 3,125 settled informally, and 831 passed to the panel There, 246 were settled to the consumers' satisfaction 402 were dismissed as unjustified, 48 proposed settlements were rejected by business 22 were rejected by the customer and the rest fall into miscellaneous categories or are still pending

(Note There's nothing MACAP can do about W T Grant appliances under warranty or service contracts — the bankrupt company can't perform repairs)

FURNITURE INDUSTRY CONSUMER ADVISORY PANEL, P O Box 951, High Point N C 27261 As a rule of thumb, the furniture industry won't accept complaints on furniture more than a year old But it's fair to object to unreasonable wear on newer furniture Like MACAP FICAP resolves most complaints informally, and passes the rest on to a panel Its 1975 record 220 cases resolved informally, 27 referred to the panel 104 complaints on furniture too old to conside, 138 cases pending Although FICAP will write to any furniture dealer on your behalf, the panel will take up only those cases involving members of the Southern Furniture Manufacturers Assn

ELECTRONIC INDUSTRIES ASSN., 2001 Eye St NW, Washington D C 20006 This is the place to go with problems about TV sets, hi-fis and stereo equipment There is no formal panel, instead, the Office of Consumer Affairs writes to the manufacturer on your behalf, then follows up until the matter is settled In 1975, EIA got 1,959 complaints, of which they say 88% were settled on the side of the consumer, 11% a compromise with the dealer, and 1% dismissed as unjustified

Consumer affairs director Sally Browne says that many problems arise just because the consumer fails to read the instruction booklet, and therefore handles the product incorrectly

CARPET AND RUG INSTITUTE, Box 2048, Dalton, Ga 30720 This association used to have a consumer panel, but dropped it last September for lack of funds Complaints are now merely forwarded to the companies or dealers, with no follow-up

AUTOMOBILE CONSUMER ACTION PROGRAMS, sponsored by the National Automobile Dealers Assn, 1640 Westpark Dr, McLean, Va 22101 These are places to bring unresolved problems with auto dealers who belong to NADA So far, there are 34 AutoCAPs, run by state or local automotive trade associations — 17 of them in cities (including Louisville, New Orleans, Detroit, Buffalo, Cleveland and Washington, D C) and the other 17 operating statewide (in states as widely spread as Washington, Kentucky Connecticut, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Iowa) To find out if there's an AutoCAP in your area, ask your dealer or write to NADA

Fair Board Goes Round, Round In Plans For Revolving Stage

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Entertainment at the Nebraska State Fair will be going round and round if Fair Manager Henry Brandt can find someone to build a round stage that will turn during performances

Fair board members Friday authorized a search for such a stage but insisted that a proposal to build one at a cost of $10,000 to $12,000 was excessive

Jack Chapman of Hebron said, "Any pumpkin tosser could build one of those things There might be $3,000 worth of materials in it

The board which is made up mostly of farmers used to building what they can't buy commercially, even considered having the staff of the fair construct the device.

In other action, the board set new rules for a minimum livestock show To qualify for prize money a contest, a livestock breed must be represented by at least five exhibitors and 30 animals Previously the minimum was five exhibitors but no minimum was specified for animal numbers

The board finalized plans for a gigantic opening day show featuring Kate Smith and the Nebraska All State High School Chorus backed by the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra It will be a happy birthday program, a part of a bicentennial festival program supported by the Nebraska Bicentennial Commission

The board approved, providing fair lawyers agree, a proposal by a Canadian firm to place advertising kiosks promoting fair programs around the fairgrounds A small slide show promoting the fair exhibits and some advertising by national advertisers will be placed in each kiosk at no cost to the fair board

The board voted to rebid its proposed new electrical system because of changes in the specifications The new bids will be opened on March 31

Eastern Ambulance will be providing ambulance service at the 10-day fair at a cost of $2,470

Security for the 1976 fair will be provided by Coordinated Services of Omaha

The board also granted $4,000 to the Nebraska Educational Television Network to broadcast daily programs from the fair

The board is nearing completion of a star-studded series of 10 evening programs for the fair A special news conference will be held May 6 to announce the official list of entertainers at the fair

Farmers Fatten 36% More Cattle

Nebraska cattle feeders were fattening 1 310 000 cattle for slaughter markets on March 1 That is 36% more than on the same date last year, but still 10% below 1974

The data issued by Jack Aschwege, state statistician of the State-Federal Division of Agriculture Statistics, indicate feeders put 4 000 more cattle into their feedlots than they sold

Nebraska feeders marketed 260 000 cattle during February and placed 264,000 cattle in their feedlots

The marketing effort was 4% larger than 1975 but 2% smaller than 1974 The number of placements in Nebraska feedlots during February was up 94% from last year and up 38% from two years ago

Seven states keep monthly records on cattle feeding activities: Nebraska, Texas, California, Arizona, Colorado, Iowa and Kansas

The seven states had 8,121,000 cattle and calves on feed on March 1, up 48% from last year which was a record low, and down 12% from March 1 of 1974

Placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven-state report totalled 1,401,000 head, 74% more than last year's record low but 31% above 1974

Fed cattle marketed in the seven states during February totalled 1,517 000 head, up 15% from last year and up 13% from February of 1974

GW Says Sugar Plant Report Very Premature

How sweet it is only it isn't

"The announcement of a possible corn syrup plant to be built in Nebraska is very, very premature said Larry McGee, a spokesman for Great Western United in Denver

McGee said the story came from a meeting that was supposed to be closed to the public

"It was designed to inform the Nebraska congressional delegation that we are thinking about it Some state officials were also at the meeting," McGee said

"We have no approval from our board We have no funding and we have no site selected We are just thinking about a corn sugar plant So is every other sugar company in the world," he said

Great Western officials indicated that the employment figures and data on amount of corn used and syrup produced in the Washington story were inaccurate, but declined to supply accurate figures

Sources in Washington had indicated that such a plant would cost $90 million, would employ 135 to 150 people and would use 18 million bushels of corn to produce 400 million pounds of syrup

McGee said that such a plant was of interest to any sugar company but noted that lower world sugar prices made sugar from other sources readily available to compete with the product of such a plant if it is ever built.

Palmyra Man Heads Dairymen

Utica — Gene TenHulzen of Palmyra was elected president of the Nebraska State Dairymen's Association at the group's annual meeting here Friday He succeeds Dwayne Wittstruck of Martell

Other officers named were Frank Tammerman of Papillion, vice president, Phil Cole, University of Nebraska Extension dairyman, secretary-treasurer and Meno Murman of Glenvil, assistant secretary

New directors named were Tom Brubaker of Holmesville Terry Imig of Seward Robert Pfeiffer of Arlington and Rodney Sperling, of Scotia

The association also approved a resolution expressing strong support for the establishment of a five-state regional veterinary college on the University of Nebraska campus at Lincoln, through the auspices of the Old West Regional Commission

Packer Offers To Pay More

Omaha (AP) — For the first time since the city's paunch manure plant opened in the late 1960s a meatpacker has agreed to pay the city more than 10 cents a head

American Beef Packers Inc has agreed to pay 30 cents, city officials said Friday

The amount still would not pay the city's cost of about 60 cents per head for processing the paunch manure, the partially digested contents of cattle's stomachs

Twelve other packers are paying only a dime a head and city officials hope to increase that to cover the entire cost Taxpayers have been subsidizing the paunch manure operation, officials said

Profit Taking Puts End To Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The week-long advance of the stock market past the 1,000 level in the Dow Jones industrial average faltered amid profit taking Friday

Prices fell back sharply with steel issues among the most conspicuous losers

The Dow average of 30 industrials dropped 15 67 to 987 64, registering its second largest loss of the year and trimming its gain for the week to 14 72 points.

Losers outnumbered gainers by more than a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues

Hog Prices Drop Sharply

OMAHA, Neb (AP)—Hog receipts on the Omaha livestock market drifted to a higher-than-normal level for a Friday, and the result was a sharply lower trend.

The day's hog run was estimated at about 4,300 head

The trade on butcher weights under 260-pounds was fairly active, but action on heavier weights was rather slow on a limited supply.

There were only about 1,500 cattle and calves on offer, and most of them were feeders in for Friday's auction

Sheep were nominal.

Barrows and gilts turned $1.50-to-$2 50 lower, with many sales $2 00 off Sows lost $1.00-to-$1 25

Slaughter steers trended 25to-50 cents higher, while heifers trended firm to 25-cents higher, and cows moved $1.00-to-$1.50 higher.

Slaughter lambs turned 75-cents to $1 00 higher, and slaughter ewes trended steady

Consumers Can Complain To Industry Associations

By JANE BRYANT QUINN

Jane Bryant Quinn

New York — When you buy something that doesn't work, most of you are not shy about letting the dealer know you're sore. In most cases, he'll make an adjustment for you on the spot.

But what if he doesn't? Some people call their lawyers, others turn to the Better Business Bureau. Yet another possibility is the consumer complaint service run by various industry trade associations. Write to an association only if both the dealer and the manufacturer turn a deaf ear (the manufacturer's address should be included in whatever instructional material came with the product). Then fire off all the details to the trade group's consumer affairs director. Here are some of the more active groups:

MAJOR APPLIANCE CONSUMER ACTION PANEL, 20 North Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60606 (or call collect 312-236-3165). MACAP is sponsored by two appliance associations and the association of retail merchants, and handles such things as refrigerators, stoves, dishwashers and washing machines. Most complaints can be settled immediately, by phone or mail. Problem cases are referred to a non-industry panel that meets every five or six weeks. The panel's recommendations are not binding, but MACAP says they're followed in most cases. A drawback is that, because of the need to gather information and make a judgment, it may take a few months to settle the matter.

MACAP's 1975 record: 3,956 complaints received; 3,125 settled informally, and 831 passed to the panel. There, 246 were settled to the consumers' satisfaction; 402 were dismissed as unjustified; 48 proposed settlements were rejected by business; 22 were rejected by the customer; and the rest fall into miscellaneous categories or are still pending.

(Note: There's nothing MACAP can do about W.T. Grant appliances under warranty or service contracts — the bankrupt company can't perform repairs.)

FURNITURE INDUSTRY CONSUMER ADVISORY PANEL, P.O. Box 951, High Point, N.C. 27261. As a rule of thumb, the furniture industry won't accept complaints on furniture more than a year old. But it's fair to object to unreasonable wear on newer furniture. Like MACAP, FICAP resolves most complaints informally, and passes the rest on to a panel. Its 1975 record: 220 cases resolved informally, 27 referred to the panel, 104 complaints on furniture too old to conside, 138 cases pending. Although FICAP will write to any furniture dealer on your behalf, the panel will take up only those cases involving members of the Southern Furniture Manufacturers Assn.

ELECTRONIC INDUSTRIES ASSN., 2001 Eye St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20006. This is the place to go with problems about TV sets, hi-fis and stereo equipment. There is no formal panel; instead, the Office of Consumer Affairs writes to the manufacturer on your behalf, then follows up until the matter is settled. In 1975, EIA got 1,959 complaints, of which they say 88% were settled on the side of the consumer, 11% a compromise with the dealer, and 1% dismissed as unjustified.

Consumer affairs director Sally Browne says that many problems arise just because the consumer fails to read the instruction booklet, and therefore handles the product incorrectly.

CARPET AND RUG INSTITUTE, Box 2048, Dalton, Ga. 30720. This association used to have a consumer panel, but dropped it last September for lack of funds. Complaints are now merely forwarded to the companies or dealers, with no follow-up.

AUTOMOBILE CONSUMER ACTION PROGRAMS, sponsored by the National Automobile Dealers Assn., 1640 Westpark Dr., McLean, Va. 22101. These are places to bring unresolved problems with auto dealers who belong to NADA. So far, there are 34 AutoCAPs, run by state or local automotive trade associations — 17 of them in cities (including Louisville, New Orleans, Detroit, Buffalo, Cleveland and Washington, D.C.) and the other 17 operating statewide (in states as widely spread as Washington, Kentucky, Connecticut, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Iowa). To find out if there's an AutoCAP in your area, ask your dealer or write to NADA.

Fair Board Goes Round, Round In Plans For Revolving Stage

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Entertainment at the Nebraska State Fair will be going round and round if Fair Manager Henry Brandt can find someone to build a round stage that will turn during performances.

Fair board members Friday authorized a search for such a stage but insisted that a proposal to build one at a cost of $10,000 to $12,000 was excessive.

Jack Chapman of Hebron said, "Any pumpkin tosser could build one of those things. There might be $3,000 worth of materials in it."

The board, which is made up mostly of farmers used to building what they can't buy commercially, even considered having the staff of the fair construct the device.

In other action, the board set new rules for a minimum livestock show. To qualify for prize money a contest, a livestock breed must be represented by at least five exhibitors and 30 animals. Previously the minimum was five exhibitors but no minimum was specified for animal numbers.

The board finalized plans for a gigantic opening day show featuring Kate Smith and the Nebraska All State High School Chorus backed by the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra. It will be a happy birthday program, a part of a bicentennial festival program supported by the Nebraska Bicentennial Commission.

The board approved, providing fair lawyers agree, a proposal by a Canadian firm to place advertising kiosks promoting fair programs around the fairgrounds. A small slide show promoting the fair exhibits and some advertising by national advertisers will be placed in each kiosk at no cost to the fair board.

The board voted to rebid its proposed new electrical system because of changes in the specifications. The new bids will be opened on March 31.

Eastern Ambulance will be providing ambulance service at the 10-day fair at a cost of $2,470.

Security for the 1976 fair will be provided by Coordinated Services of Omaha.

The board also granted $4,000 to the Nebraska Educational Television Network to broadcast daily programs from the fair.

The board is nearing completion of a star-studded series of 10 evening programs for the fair. A special news conference will be held May 6 to announce the official list of entertainers at the fair.

Farmers Fatten 36% More Cattle

Nebraska cattle feeders were fattening 1,310,000 cattle for slaughter markets on March 1. That is 36% more than on the same date last year, but still 10% below 1974.

The data issued by Jack Aschwege, state statistician of the State-Federal Division of Agriculture Statistics, indicate feeders put 4,000 more cattle into their feedlots than they sold.

Nebraska feeders marketed 260,000 cattle during February and placed 264,000 cattle in their feedlots.

The marketing effort was 4% larger than 1975 but 2% smaller than 1974. The number of placements in Nebraska feedlots during February was up 94% from last year and up 38% from two years ago.

Seven states keep monthly records on cattle feeding activities: Nebraska, Texas, California, Arizona, Colorado, Iowa and Kansas.

The seven states had 8,121,000 cattle and calves on feed on March 1, up 48% from last year which was a record low, and down 12% from March 1 of 1974.

Placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven-state report totalled 1,401,000 head, 74% more than last year's record low but 31% above 1974.

Fed cattle marketed in the seven states during February totalled 1,517,000 head, up 15% from last year and up 13% from February of 1974.

GW Says Sugar Plant Report Very Premature

How sweet it is ... only it isn't.

"The announcement of a possible corn syrup plant to be built in Nebraska is very, very premature," said Larry McGee, a spokesman for Great Western United in Denver.

McGee said the story came from a meeting that was supposed to be closed to the public. "It was designed to inform the Nebraska congressional delegation that we are thinking about it. Some state officials were also at the meeting," McGee said.

"We have no approval from our board. We have no funding and we have no site selected. We are just thinking about a corn sugar plant. So is every other sugar company in the world," he said.

Great Western officials indicated that the employment figures and data on amount of corn used and syrup produced in the Washington story were inaccurate, but declined to supply accurate figures.

Sources in Washington had indicated that such a plant would cost $90 million, would employ 135 to 150 people and would use 18 million bushels of corn to produce 400 million pounds of syrup.

McGee said that such a plant was of interest to any sugar company but noted that lower world sugar prices made sugar from other sources readily available to compete with the product of such a plant if it is ever built.

Palmyra Man Heads Dairymen

Utica — Gene TenHulzen of Palmyra was elected president of the Nebraska State Dairymen's Association at the group's annual meeting here Friday. He succeeds Dwayne Wittstruck of Martell.

Other officers named were Frank Timmerman of Papillion, vice president; Phil Cole, University of Nebraska Extension dairyman, secretary-treasurer; and Meno Murman of Glenvil, assistant secretary.

New directors named were Tom Brubaker of Holmesville; Terry Imig, of Seward; Robert Pfeiffer, of Arlington; and Rodney Sperling, of Scotia.

The association also approved a resolution expressing strong support for the establishment of a five-state regional veterinary college on the University of Nebraska campus at Lincoln, through the auspices of the Old West Regional Commission.

Packer Offers To Pay More

Omaha (AP) — For the first time since the city's paunch manure plant opened in the late 1960s, a meatpacker has agreed to pay the city more than 10 cents a head.

American Beef Packers Inc. has agreed to pay 30 cents, city officials said Friday.

The amount still would not pay the city's cost of about 60 cents per head for processing the paunch manure, the partially digested contests of cattle's stomachs.

Twelve other packers are paying only a dime a head and city officials hope to increase that to cover the entire cost. Taxpayers have been subsidizing the paunch manure operation, officials said.

Profit Taking Puts End To Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The week-long advance of the stock market past the 1,000 level in the Dow Jones industrial average faltered amid profit taking Friday.

Prices fell back sharply with steel issues among the most conspicuous losers.

The Dow average of 30 industrials dropped 15.67 to 987.64, registering its second largest loss of the year and trimming its gain for the week to 14.72 points.

Losers outnumbered gainers by more than a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Hog Prices Drop Sharply

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Hog receipts on the Omaha livestock market drifted to a higher-than-normal level for a Friday, and the result was a sharply lower trend.

The day's hog run was estimated at about 4,300 head.

The trade on butcher weights under 260-pounds was fairly active, but action on heavier weights was rather slow on a limited supply.

There were only about 1,500 cattle and calves on offer, and most of them were feeders in for Friday's auction.

Sheep were nominal.

Barrows and gilts turned $1.50-to-$2.50 lower, with many sales $2.00 off. Sows lost $1.00-to-$1.25.

Slaughter steers trended 25-to-50 cents higher, while heifers trended firm to 25-cents higher, and cows moved $1.00-to-$1.50 higher.

Slaughter lambs turned 75-cents to $1.00 higher, and slaughter ewes trended steady.

Selling Wave Hits Soybeans

Chicago (AP) — Soybean futures tumbled 4½ cents on the Chicago Board of trade Friday in a wave of last minute selling.

Wheat futures were up 2 cents a bushel, while corn was down 2¼ and oats 1. Soybean oil declined more than ½ cent a pound, or 50 points, while meal futures closed on an irregular tone.

Domestic gold futures closed about $1 an ounce lower. Trade was very slow. Spot gold abroad also was lower.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Saturday, March 13

Of late I have difficulty relating to Taurus, especially natives with Moon in Taurus. I know that Taurus can be stubborn, self centered and even selfish. Yet there are other positive points to counterbalance these traits. Why am I having such difficulty with Taurus? I am very understanding, kind, generous — it must be the fault of Taurus.

☆ ☆ ☆

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Creativity, change, children, travel and romance all could be highlighted. Imprint style. Stand tall for beliefs. Refuse to be intimidated by one who seems to have weight of authority as ally. Member of opposite sex pays compliment — and means it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Dialogue at home should be encouraged. Exchange thoughts — remember clash of ideas is far more exciting than clash of firearms. You may find that note written at home has intriguing implications. Gemini, Virgo figure prominently.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Accent on versatility, humor, short journey. Taurus, Libra individuals are in picture. Domestic adjustment is necessary. Relatives and close neighbors express their feelings. Be diplomatic. You can win rather than force your way.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): If you stand up for rights, you'll add to possessions. Income picture is brighter — cash flow resumes. Pisces, Virgo figure prominently. Your opinions are sought — you are asked how to refine and streamline techniques. Be sure you're properly compensated.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Cycle high — organize priorities, take initiative. Emphasize personality, appearance. You are able to direct events, to dance to your own tune. Emotional involvement indicated and you will benefit. Cancer, Capricorn persons may be in picture.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You solve dilemma. You gain access to special information. Be discreet. If you keep a confidence, you'll be given key to advancement, greater prestige. Visit one who is confined to home, hospital.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Accent on emotional responses, desires, fulfillment of wishes. A friend returns favor. Creativity is highlighted. New start, project is favored. Leo, Aquarius individuals could figure prominently. Member of opposite sex makes you feel more alive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Emphasis on what to do about achieving goal. Key is to follow through, to build on solid base, to deal with Cancer individual. What seems to be an obstacle is actually a healthy challenge. Refuse to be intimidated by one who is mediocre, envious, restless and less than honest.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You can see beyond, are able to perceive trends and project future possibilities. Accent on study, travel — and very much on communication. Publish, publicize, advertise and distribute. Element of luck or timing is with you. Broaden horizons.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Someone may be kidding you on the square. Look behind the smile. Be willing to accept a valid hint. Emphasis on settling accounts. Aquarius, Leo and Scorpio could be involved. Check facts, figures — be on alert for loophole.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Accent on public, on partnership and marriage. Be ready for change of view, publicity, an arrangement that leads to writing and travel. Gemini, Virgo, Leo persons could be in picture. Let others state their case — listen and formulate your own program.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Adjustment within family circle would be constructive. Diet, work and health figure prominently. Your hours become subject for discussion. Taurus, Libra persons figure prominently. Maintain moderate pace.

IF MARCH 13 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you will travel more this year — and there will be greater opportunity for self-expression. Very early, you knew meaning of disappointment, survived a family split and emerged a sensitive, creative individual. Aquarius, Leo and Scorpio persons play important roles in your life.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Rockets Fall To C. Prep

By CHUCK SINCLAIR
Prep Sports Writer

The big question surrounding Lincoln Northeast's long-range late season gunnery success was what would happen if the lids were suddenly clamped on the baskets?

Thirteen thousand and six hundred fans, another record for the Nebraska Sports Center, found the answer rather abruptly Friday night as Creighton Prep took advantage of the Rocket void for a 64-49 semifinal triumph

Coach Brother Mike Wilmot's Junior Jays will meet metro conference foe Omaha North in Saturday's 8 30 p.m. finale marking the third straight year the Omaha conference has claimed the championship, and the second straight year for an all-Metro final.

In the foul ridden semifinal that saw 44 total fouls whistled by the officials, Northeast took a 29-23 lead to the lockerroom at the half despite cold first half shooting

Three Prep seniors, led by 6-5 all-state candidate Ted Parks, saw to it Northeast didn't hold the lead long

Brent Armstrong, Parks and Chris Salerno accounted for the next three baskets to knot the score at 29-all, and then Parks took over.

Honorary captain of their Metro division, Parks connected on four straight fielders, while Northeast could just counter with a lone bucket from Doug Berka as the Junior Jays took a 37-33 lead

Parks didn't stop, however, as he ran his string of shots without a miss to eight and 11 of 12 to add salt to the wounds.

The outcome was still in question as Northeast battled back to within one point at 43-42 with 6 33 left in the game

But 10 unanswered points from Prep six on free throws while Northeast's Joe Prai fouled out and Mike Sales collected his third and fourth personals.

"You've got to remember that we were down and came back up," Wilmot said "We came out the second half and ran our offense like we're supposed to

"We run a passing game and those guys know that Ted can shoot," Wilmot added "So they're going to get the ball to him if they can But mainly just hit the open man"

Parks finished the game with 28 points on 13 of 20 field goal attempts and two of two at the charity stripe.

The Junior Jays enter the final at 22-2 holding two previous wins over North, a 71-50 conquest in the Metro tournament and a 53-45 decision in early December

"Those scores don't mean a thing now," Wilmot said "North's about five million times better now than they were then They're a super basketball team, so it doesn't make any difference who is favored"

Lincoln Northeast coach Ed Johnson praised the youthful Rockets for their drive to the semifinals

"We played what I felt like was three good quarters of basketball," he said "Things just broke down for us and went Prep's way.

"They stopped our outside game," Johnson added, "and that pretty well cuts us down We'd certainly have liked to have made it to the finals, but Prep's a real fine team

They're disciplined both offensively and defensively," he said "We coped down to the last quarter I'm pretty pleased with this bunch. They've accomplished a lot more than I anticipated when we first started."

With four juniors in the starting lineup and five of his top six returning, Johnson foresees a positive future

If we develop any inside people," Johnson said, "we should be in good shape next year . but, of course, that's a long ways away"

Aurora Shocks Sidney In 57-54 Win

By DAVE SITTLER

Bill Holliday may go broke before the 66th annual state basketball tournament ends, but the Aurora coach is loving every moment of his trip to the poor house.

In an effort to improve his team's free throw shooting earlier this season, Holliday offered a steak dinner to any Huskie player who could hit 10 consecutive charity tosses in a game situation.

The idea has paid off handsomely. Holliday is seven steaks in the red and Aurora is in the state Class B finals.

It was free throw shooting Friday night that carried the Huskies to a 57-54 upset win over No. 2 rated Sidney and into the Class B championship contest against Holdrege.

"I'm down at least seven steaks to these guys," said Holliday of his club which hit 17 of 22 attempts from the free throw line including 11 of 14 in a tense fourth quarter.

While Aurora remained alive because of free throws, Sidney died trying to go the same route, before a record-breaking sell-out crowd of 13,600 at the Nebraska Sports Center.

Coach Joe Folda's Red Raiders managed only 10 free shots in 25 attempts. Seven of the misses were in the final period when Sidney was in the midst of a strong comeback effort.

"We've had trouble at the line the last half of the season," Folda said. "Things really started to go bad the last five or six games. We've shot a lot of free throws in practice. I don't know what the trouble is."

If Folda would ask Holliday how to solve his team's free throw problem, he might be shocked by the answer.

"I've changed my whole philosophy on free throw shooting," Holliday said. "We use to shoot a hundred apiece every night in practice and it didn't help."

Holliday admitted he questioned his new philosophy, just before the district tournament so he had his players start shooting 50 free throws again during practice.

"And we started shooting poor again in games," Holliday said. "I think some kids concentrate too hard. So we quit again."

Switching to the steak dinner idea, Holliday has seen his unhearlded club upset Ord in the district tourney final and upend defending state champion Crete in Thursday's first round of the state tournament to go along with the latest conquest over Sidney which ended the year with a sparkling 21-3 record.

Forwards Steve Cranfill and Scott Sinner were the free throw heroes against Sidney as both were a perfect four-for-four from the line in the last quarter.

Trailing 44-43 with 4:36 remaining, Aurora scored six straight points — four of them on Cranfill's charity tosses — to take a 49-44 lead.

Scrappy Sidney forward Steve Cook nearly brought the Raiders from behind as he scored 8 points in the last period. Six of his points came from the line, but they were not enough to offset six misses by teammate Jay Schmidt.

Behind 55-48 with only 48 seconds remaining, Sidney scored six quick points to narrow the gap to 55-54 with 12 seconds left Sinner's final free throws iced the game with three seconds to go.

"We just lost our concentration on defense the second half," said Folda of his team which held 15-12 and 26-25 leads after the first two periods. "And then we missed the free throws and that was the ball game."

Aurora was a model of consistency in the scoring column, as four players finished in double figures. Sinner's 15 tallies led the way while Cranfill had 12 and Joe Ernst and Donovan Goertzen 10 each.

Cook had 21 in a losing effort along with Jaye Kieselhort's 17 for the Red Raiders.

Looking ahead to Holdrege, Holliday said, "they are such a physical team that it could be tough. We're one of those drop the hanky type of teams I hope they (Holdrege) don't hurt us"

The veteran coach has termed this Aurora squad the most surprising team of his career because, "I thought this would be a real down year for us.

"I was just hoping to get through the stinking thing (season)," Holliday continued about his squad which is 17-6 "Now, these are the happiest days of my life"

And the most expensive the way things are going with the steak dinners

RANDY YORK

Prep Sports Editor

It took 10 years to pull Gregg McBride out of his newspaper retirement to watch a prep basketball game. He steered clear until Thursday when he watched Geneva defeat Southeast Consolidated in Class C at Pershing Auditorium.

"It's amazing," he said. "They still think they have to dribble that round ball before they shoot it. I never did understand that and I never did like the noise in basketball."

When McBride retired from the Omaha World-Herald in 1967, he made a promise to himself to avoid any and all prep basketball games.

He felt he had seen enough and endured enough in watching thousands of games in a newspaper career spanning more than a half century.

Gregg McBride
Out Of Hibernation

But Southeast Consolidated qualified for the state tournament for the first time in the school's 10-year history and since McBride was born and raised in Stella, he felt he owed his hometown his support.

McBride's memory stretches back a long way to Stella. "I remember the first basketball game Stella ever played in about 1905," he recalled. "It was on an outdoor court. They used the steel rings from old wooden beer kegs for the baskets.

"It rained that day they were supposed to play the first game," McBride remembered. "We all had to wait around until the court dried so Stella and Shubert could play."

McBride can be excused for not missing the racehorse pace of prep basketball. "When I used to cover the state tournament," he recalled, "I staffed eight games a day, starting at 8 in the morning and ending about 10:30 that night.

"I didn't even have time to go eat," he said. "My wife used to bring my supper to the games and had to walk about three blocks because there was no place to park. If you had to go to the restroom, you asked the guy next to you to cover for a couple minutes."

Those were the days . . . the kind you'd just as soon forget.

Still, Nebraska owes its healthy foundation in prep sports to McBride, who pioneered prep ratings in this state. When he was prep writer for the Lincoln Journal and Star, he authored ratings for the wire services as well as under his own byline.

Friday night at the Nebraska Sportswriters Association's annual banquet, McBride remembered one of his favorite stories:

"I was sitting at the press table, typing a state tournament story after a game at the Coliseum. This lady walked up to me and gave me holy heck for the way I had picked the game. I said: 'Sorry madam, but I'm not Gregg McBride. He's right up there.' I pointed to Bill Madden, who was then sports editor of the Hastings Tribune

"Bill was hard of hearing and couldn't see me setting him up. That lady walked over to him and started giving him the same treatment, only this time she was madder.

"Bill tuned in his hearing aid and listened politely to her complaint. He pointed back to me and tried to explain that I was Gregg McBride. She wouldn't bite She wanted no part of it. She stayed and gave him heck another five minutes. I got a great laugh out of it."

McBride admitted he saw part of one other basketball game since he retired A few years ago, he thought he'd take in the final half of the Lincoln Pius X-Gretna Class B opening round game.

"Pershing Auditorium is only 3½ blocks from my apartment," he recalled "Conde Sargent gave me a ticket and asked me to go watch I didn't think it would be crowded for an afternoon game

"I walked in and the place was packed I finally spotted one seat up kind of high between a bunch of high school kids As soon as I sat down, three or four of them decided to go get some popcorn

"Everyone of them stepped on my feet as he filed out When they came back, they spilled it all over me. Five minutes later, they needed some Cokes

"Everyone of them stepped on my feet as they went down. When they came back, they spilled it all over my pants I finished watching the game in one of the exits on the main floor"

Is it any wonder McBride chooses the comfort of his living room over the craziness of a basketball game?

Walthill's Tom Baumert (23) takes a shot over Howells' Dave Wiemann (50) and Brian Blum (22).

Bellar Boosts Walthill Win

By KEN HAMBLETON
Star Sports Writer

Jay Bellar stole the ball from Brian Blum and hit one of two free throws with three seconds left to help Walthill gain a 56-54 win over Howells in the Friday night Class C semifinal at the NU Coliseum.

Trailing 55-52 with 20 seconds left, Howells' Blum stole the ball and drove the court before Bellar came up with his game-saving steal.

The Walthill Bluejays, now 24-1, had taken a 47-40 lead at the end of the third quarter on a 10-point scoring spree by Jay Bellar.

Then 6-5 Bobcat center Dick Jakubowski, who finished with 19 points, fouled out with 4 47 left and Walthill appeared to have the win.

But the Bluejays missed their first nine shots of the fourth quarter and didn't hit a basket until 2 04 while Howells closed the gap to 54-50

The Bluejays missed two one-and-one free throw opportunities and Howells reserve forward Ernie Brodecky hit a jumper with 20 seconds left to set up the finale

Jay Bellar finished with 16 points to lead the 'Jays and teammate Tom Baumert added 12

The loss was the first for Howells coach Jim Morrisson in the NU Coliseum as Bobcat teams had won championships in 1973 and '74

'We didn't run our offense well and Walthill forced us into things we don't do well said Howells coach Jim Morrison "Our kids displayed a lot of effort but probably didn't play well enough to win

"We had some chances to win down the stretch but we didn't get the job done," Morrison said. Howells closed the season 23-2

"We felt we had to keep the ball away from Jakubowski. He's the best big man we faced to date," said Walthill coach Larry Fletcher "We tried to keep pressure on the point guard and on the wings to keep the ball from coming inside to him."

Looking to Geneva Fletcher feels the Wildcats will have speed and shooting to contend with. "If we're going to beat Geneva we're going to have to hustle back on defense."

"We're going to have the same problem Saturday when we face Geneva's Ken Adkisson," Fletcher said. "We'll be the underdog once again and they'll have a height advantage"

"Their guards were burning from the outside," Fletcher said of Geneva's win over Bassett Friday afternoon "They have five scorers and all are good shooters," he added

The two teams will meet in the Sports Center at 2 p.m Saturday Walthill's last entry in the state tournament was in 1927 and Geneva's was 1965 when the Wildcats won the Class B title

Aurora Shocks Sidney In 57-54 Win

By DAVE SITTLER

Bill Holliday may go broke before the 66th annual state basketball tournament ends, but the Aurora coach is loving every moment of his trip to the poor house.

In an effort to improve his team's free throw shooting earlier this season, Holliday offered a steak dinner to any Huskie player who could hit 10 consecutive charity tosses in a game situation.

The idea has paid off handsomely. Holliday is seven steaks in the red and Aurora is in the state Class B finals.

It was free throw shooting Friday night that carried the Huskies to a 57-54 upset win over No. 2 rated Sidney and into the Class B championship contest against Holdrege.

"I'm down at least seven steaks to these guys," said Holliday of his club which hit 17 of 22 attempts from the free throw line including 11 of 14 in a tense fourth quarter.

While Aurora remained alive because of free throws, Sidney died trying to go the same route, before a record-breaking sell-out crowd of 13,600 at the Nebraska Sports Center.

Coach Joe Folda's Red Raiders managed only 10 free shots in 25 attempts. Seven of the misses were in the final period when Sidney was in the midst of a strong comeback effort.

"We've had trouble at the line the last half of the season," Folda said. "Things really started to go bad the last five or six games. We've shot a lot of free throws in practice. I don't know what the trouble is."

If Folda would ask Holliday how to solve his team's free throw problem, he might be shocked by the answer.

"I've changed my whole philosophy on free throw shooting," Holliday said. "We use to shoot a hundred apiece every night in practice and it didn't help."

Holliday admitted he questioned his new philosophy, just before the district tournament so he had his players start shooting 50 free throws again during practice.

"And we started shooting poor again in games," Holliday said. "I think some kids concentrate too hard. So we quit again."

Switching to the steak dinner idea, Holliday has seen his unhearlded club upset Ord in the district tourney final and upend defending state champion Crete in Thursday's first round of the state tournament to go along with the latest conquest over Sidney which ended the year with a sparkling 21-3 record.

Forwards Steve Cranfill and Scott Sinner were the free throw heroes against Sidney as both were a perfect four-for-four from the line in the last quarter.

Trailing 44-43 with 4:36 remaining, Aurora scored six straight points — four of them on Cranfill's charity tosses — to take a 49-44 lead.

Scrappy Sidney forward Steve Cook nearly brought the Raiders from behind as he scored 8 points in the last period. Six of his points came from the line, but they were not enough to offset six misses by teammate Jay Schmidt.

Behind 55-48 with only 48 seconds remaining, Sidney scored six quick points to narrow the gap to 55-54 with 12 seconds left. Sinner's final free throws iced the game with three seconds to go.

"We just lost our concentration on defense the second half," said Folda of his team which held 15-12 and 26-25 leads after the first two periods. "And then we missed the free throws and that was the ball game."

Aurora was a model of consistency in the scoring column, as four players finished in double figures. Sinner's 15 tallies led the way while Cranfill had 12 and Joe Ernst and Donovan Goertzen 10 each.

Cook had 21 in a losing effort along with Jaye Kieselhort's 17 for the Red Raiders.

Looking ahead to Holdrege, Holliday said, "they are such a physical team that it could be tough. We're one of those drop the hanky type of teams. I hope they (Holdrege) don't hurt us."

The veteran coach has termed this Aurora squad the most surprising team of his career because, "I thought this would be a real down year for us.

"I was just hoping to get through the stinking thing (season)," Holliday continued about his squad which is 17-6. "Now, these are the happiest days of my life."

And the most expensive the way things are going with the steak dinners.

RANDY YORK

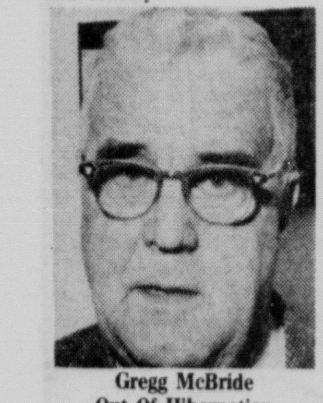
Prep Sports Editor

It took 10 years to pull Gregg McBride out of his newspaper retirement to watch a prep basketball game. He steered clear until Thursday when he watched Geneva defeat Southeast Consolidated in Class C at Pershing Auditorium.

"It's amazing," he said. "They still think they have to dribble that round ball before they shoot it. I never did understand that and I never did like the noise in basketball."

When McBride retired from the Omaha World-Herald in 1967, he made a promise to himself to avoid any and all prep basketball games.

He felt he had seen enough and endured enough in watching thousands of games in a newspaper career spanning more than a half century.



Gregg McBride
Out Of Hibernation

But Southeast Consolidated qualified for the state tournament for the first time in the school's 10-year history and since McBride was born and raised in Stella, he felt he owed his hometown his support.

McBride's memory stretches back a long way to Stella. "I remember the first basketball game Stella ever played in about 1905," he recalled. "It was on an outdoor court. They used the steel rings from old wooden beer kegs for the baskets.

"It rained that day they were supposed to play the first game," McBride remembered. "We all had to wait around until the court dried so Stella and Shubert could play."

McBride can be excused for not missing the racehorse pace of prep basketball. "When I used to cover the state tournament," he recalled, "I staffed eight games a day, starting at 8 in the morning and ending about 10:30 that night.

"I didn't even have time to go eat," he said. "My wife used to bring my supper to the games and had to walk about three blocks because there was no place to park. If you had to go to the restroom, you asked the guy next to you to cover for a couple minutes."

Those were the days . . . the kind you'd just as soon forget.

Still, Nebraska owes its healthy foundation in prep sports to McBride, who pioneered prep ratings in this state. When he was prep writer for the Lincoln Journal and Star, he authored ratings for the wire services as well as under his own byline.

Friday night at the Nebraska Sportswriters Association's annual banquet, McBride remembered one of his favorite stories:

"I was sitting at the press table, typing a state tournament story after a game at the Coliseum. This lady walked up to me and gave me holy heck for the way I had picked the game. I said: 'Sorry madam, but I'm not Gregg McBride. He's right up there.' I pointed to Bill Madden, who was then sports editor of the Hastings Tribune.

"Bill was hard of hearing and couldn't see me setting him up. That lady walked over to him and started giving him the same treatment, only this time she was madder.

"Bill tuned in his hearing aid and listened politely to her complain. He pointed back to me and tried to explain that I was Gregg McBride. She wouldn't bite. She wanted no part of it. She stayed and gave him heck another five minutes. I got a great laugh out of it."

McBride admitted he saw part of one other basketball game since he retired. A few years ago, he thought he'd take in the final half of the Lincoln Pius X-Gretna Class B opening round game.

"Pershing Auditorium is only 3½ blocks from my apartment," he recalled. "Conde Sargent gave me a ticket and asked me to go watch. I didn't think it would be crowded for an afternoon game.

"I walked in and the place was packed. I finally spotted one seat up kind of high between a bunch of high school kids. As soon as I sat down, three or four of them decided to go get some popcorn.

"Everyone of them stepped on my feet as he filed out. When they came back, they spilled it all over me. Five minutes later, they needed some Cokes.

"Everyone of them stepped on my feet as they went down. When they came back, they spilled it all over my pants. I finished watching the game in one of the exits on the main floor."

Is it any wonder McBride chooses the comfort of his living room over the craziness of a basketball game?

Bellar Boosts Walthill Win

By KEN HAMBLETON
Star Sports Writer

Jay Bellar stole the ball from Brian Blum and hit one of two free throws with three seconds left to help Walthill gain a 56-54 win over Howells in the Friday night Class C semifinal at the NU Coliseum.

Trailing 55-52 with 20 seconds left, Howells' Blum stole the ball and drove the court before Bellar came up with his game-saving steal.

The Walthill Bluejays, now 24-1, had taken a 47-40 lead at the end of the third quarter on a 10-point scoring spree by Jay Bellar.

Then 6-5 Bobcat center Dick Jakubowski, who finished with 19 points, fouled out with 4:47 left and Walthill appeared to have the win.

But the Bluejays missed their first nine shots of the fourth quarter and didn't hit a basket until 2:04 while Howells closed the gap to 54-50.

The Bluejays missed two one-and-one free throw opportunitites and Howells reserve forward Ernie Brodecky hit a jumper with 20 seconds left to set up the finale.

Jay Bellar finished with 16 points to lead the 'Jays and teammate Tom Baumert added 12.

The loss was the first for Howells coach Jim Morrisson in the NU Coliseum as Bobcat teams had won championships in 1973 and '74.

"We didn't run our offense well and Walthill forced us into things we don't do well," said Howells coach Jim Morrison. "Our kids displayed a lot of effort but probably didn't play well enough to win."

"We had some chances to win down the stretch but we didn't get the job done," Morrison said. Howells closed the season 23-2.

"We felt we had to keep the ball away from Jakubowski. He's the best big man we faced to date," said Walthill coach Larry Fletcher. "We tried to keep pressure on the point guard and on the wings to keep the ball from coming inside to him."

Looking to Geneva Fletcher feels the Wildcats will have speed and shooting to contend with. "If we're going to beat Geneva we're going to have to hustle back on defense."

"We're going to have the same problem Saturday when we face Geneva's Ken Adkisson," Fletcher said. "We'll be the underdog once again and they'll have a height advantage."

"Their guards were burning from the outside," Fletcher said of Geneva's win over Bassett Friday afternoon. "They have five scorers and all are good shooters," he added.

The two teams will meet in the Sports Center at 2 p.m. Saturday. Walthills' last entry in the state tournament was in 1927 and Geneva's was 1965 when the Wildcats won the Class B title.

Rockets Fall To C. Prep

By CHUCK SINCLAIR
Prep Sports Writer

The big question surrounding Lincoln Northeast's long-range late season gunnery success was what would happen if the lids were suddenly clamped on the baskets?

Thirteen thousand and six hundred fans, another record for the Nebraska Sports Center, found the answer rather abruptly Friday night as Creighton Prep took advantage of the Rocket void for a 64-49 semifinal triumph.

Coach Brother Mike Wilmot's Junior Jays will meet metro conference foe Omaha North in Saturday's 8:30 p.m. finale marking the third straight year the Omaha conference has claimed the championship, and the second straight year for an all-Metro final.

In the foul ridden semifinal that saw 44 total fouls whistled by the officials, Northeast took a 29-23 lead to the lockerroom at the half despite cold first half shooting.

Three Prep seniors, led by 6-5 all-state candidate Ted Parks, saw to it Northeast didn't hold the lead long.

Brent Armstrong, Parks and Chris Salerno accounted for the next three baskets to knot the score at 29-all, and then Parks took over.

Honorary captain of their Metro division, Parks connected on four straight fielders, while Northeast could just counter with a lone bucket from Doug Berka as the Junior Jays took a 37-33 lead.

Parks didn't stop, however, as he ran his string of shots without a miss to eight and 11 of 12 to add salt to the wounds.

The outcome was still in question as Northeast battled back to within one point at 43-42 with 6:33 left in the game.

But 10 unanswered points from Prep, six on free throws while Northeast's Joe Prai fouled out and Mike Sales collected his third and fourth personals.

And when Gary Karthauser finally did score on a 20-footer with 3:43 left, Prep reeled off another string, this time 11 points to open the biggest lead of the game, 64-44 with 1:41 left.

"You've got to remember that we were down and came back up," Wilmot said. "We came out the second half and ran our offense like we're supposed to.

"We run a passing game and those guys know that Ted can shoot," Wilmot added. "So they're going to get the ball to him if they can. But mainly just hit the open man."

Parks finished the game with 28 points on 13 of 20 field goal attempts and two of two at the charity stripe.

The Junior Jays enter the final at 22-2 holding two previous wins over North, a 71-50 conquest in the Metro tournament and a 53-45 decision in early December.

"Those scores don't mean a thing now," Wilmot said. "North's about five million times better now than they were then. They're a super basketball team, so it doesn't make any difference who is favored."

Lincoln Northeast coach Ed Johnson praised the youthful Rockets for their drive to the semifinals.

"We played what I felt like was three good quarters of basketball," he said. "Things just broke down for us and went Prep's way.

"They stopped our outside game," Johnson added, "and that pretty well cuts us down. We'd certainly have liked to have made it to the finals, but Prep's a real fine team.

"They're disciplined both offensively and defensively," he said. "We coped down to the last quarter. I'm pretty pleased with this bunch. They've accomplished a lot more than I anticipated when we first started."

With four juniors in the starting lineup and five of his top six returning, Johnson foresees a positive future.

"If we develop any inside people," Johnson said, "we should be in good shape next year . . . but, of course, that's a long ways away."

"Sox" Walseth
20-Year Career Over

Morning Briefing

Colorado 'Relieves' Walseth

Russell "Sox" Walseth was relieved of his basketball duties at Colorado University after a 20-year career, Athletic Director Eddie Crowder said.

"The decision has been made to change basketball coaches at the University of Colorado," said Crowder. "Sox Walseth is being offered new duties in the Athletic Department."

Walseth, who was named "Big Eight Coach of the Year" six times during his tenure finished this season with a 7-19 record and ends his coaching career with the Buffs at 261-245

His teams at CU have finished in the First Division of the Big Eight 10 times and three of his teams have represented the conference in the NCAA Regional Tournament.

Walseth joined CU in 1956.

Bob Keller of Bassett (12) starts to drive the baseline around Geneva's Steve Wentz (21). Wentz established position but Keller moved around him to get the shot. Geneva advanced to the finals with a 62-54 win over the Tigers.

Geneva Shoots Way To Title Game

By KEN HAMBLETON
Star Sports Writer

You can count Bassett coach Clayton Steele as another basketball coach that believes Geneva can't keep hitting from the field with such a high percentage

"They keep hitting well from the outside with the low percentage shots and I don't think they can hit like that all the way to the finals," Steele commented

But Geneva hit 25 of 45 shots (56%) from the field, including 13 of 16 field goals in the second half (80%) Friday afternoon to down pre-tourney class C favorite Bassett 62-54 at the NU Coliseum.

Geneva hit 57 per cent from the field in Thursday's win over Southeast Consolidated, 62 per cent against Wahoo Neumann in the regionals and 52 per cent in the district championship win over Hebron.

"I kind of count on that percentage shooting," said Wildcat coach Mark Cordes "We have some excellent outside shooters and Ken (Adkisson) and Wentz (Steve) hit well from the inside"

Ken Adkisson paced the Wildcats with 21 points, followed by brother Steve with 18, guard Jon Franck with 10 and Wentz with nine

"Anybody can play good defense every day like Bassett did against us," said Cordes, "but when you have the hot hand is when you get the wins."

Bassett kept the Wildcats within range in the first half relying on a 1-3-1 zone defense, but some long range bombs by Franck and Steve Adkisson helped Geneva hold a 28-25 halftime edge. Bassett hit just two field goals in the second quarter but hit a combined eight of 10 free throws.

The Tigers took advantage of four turnovers early in the third quarter and combined with two baskets by Bob Keller, and one each by Greg Gallaway, Monte Fletcher and Neil Ammon Bassett took a 35-34 lead at 2 53

That was all it took to get the Wildcats moving as they hit five of five field goals while Bassett managed just three of four free throws in the last two minutes of the third quarter. Geneva increased its seven point advantage at the end of the third quarter to 11 points when both Ken and Steve Adkisson hit baskets early in the final period to boost the Wildcats to a 49-38 lead

The Tigers made a short rally hitting four tipins from 4.45 to 3 16 but a basket by Wentz, three free throws by Ken Adkisson and two by Steve Adkisson iced the game for the Wildcats

"We're just too conservative with our leads, because we aren't looking to take shots we normally would," said Cordes. "But once we got behind we started hitting We just react to pressure well"

Cordes also praised Wentz with holding Bassett's Keller to 20 points. "Keller is a great player and very tough to guard because he moves so fast," said Cordes

"I picked Geneva to win the title if we didn't," said Steele, whose team closed the season 21-2 "We had three baskets taken away from us because of traveling calls and that made a lot of difference"

Geneva will meet the winner of the Howells-Walthill game at 2 p m in the Sports Center Saturday.

Hildreth Coach Aids Win

By TOM VINT
Star Sports Writer

Hildreth coach Sam Sharpe had told his youngsters if they could outrebound Sumner and make few mistakes, they could beat the Mustangs for the second time this season

Sharpe was right as the Greyhounds took a 58-53 win Friday night to advance to Saturday's noon Class D state championship finals against No. 1-ranked Nelson.

But hold the phone Sumner is the state tournament's smallest team with only three men on the roster measuring an even six feet and none taller. Why worry about rebounds?

"They never give up," said Sharpe "That's the trouble with that club."

Sumner had apparently not heard basketball was a game for the big men as Thursday night it topped tourney favorite Adams by a wide margin, 71-55 The Mustangs then stayed close to Hildreth throughout Friday's semifinal in the Nebraska Coliseum

"There's one thing about our kids, they're so determined, they don't care who they play," said Sumner coach Lynn Moeller "They're not afraid of anyone"

The tiny Mustangs proved it again Friday in the early going, leading 16-8 at one time in the first quarter. The Sumner fast break appeared to be ready to chalk up tourney win No 2.

Hildreth's Dan Garrelts and Crale Bauer weren't so sure. Garrelts, the 6-1 junior jumper, teamed with the 6-1 outside shooting sophomore to pull the Greyhounds back to a 27-27 deadlock by halftime

The Hildreth comeback also marked the beginning of the end for Sumner. The Greyhounds started the second half the same way, outscoring the Mustangs 16-6 in quarter three for a 43-33 lead

"I don't know what went wrong," said Moeller. "One thing we didn't do tonight was we didn't pass the ball and work it around like we have all year"

Moeller noted his club didn't shoot as well either. The Mustangs hit on only three of 18 field goal tries in that third quarter.

"We shot 43 per cent from the field all season," Moeller said. "But I guess everybody has a cold night sometime during the season We had ours tonight"

The 14-7 youngsters hit on only 31 per cent for the night compared to an even 50 per cent for the winners

Garrelts topped all scorers with his 26 points, most coming in the second half as 16-6 Hildreth began going inside to the big man

"We had the backdoor going and he's a good jumper," said Sharpe of Garrelts, who hit on seven of eight shots in quarters three and four The effort was a season high for Garrelts and matched the 26 scored by Bauer against Bartley Thursday, also a season high for the sophomore.

Larry Robbins, who had 32 points against Hildreth the first time the two teams met earlier in the season, scoring 15 to lead Sumner Friday. Bob Hollibaugh added 14 but both fouled out late in the fourth quarter. Bauer had 15 to help the Hildreth cause.

By the way, Hildreth also won that first meeting early in the year, topping Sumner 58-57.

"Sox" Walseth
20-Year Career Over

Colorado 'Relieves' Walseth

Russell "Sox" Walseth was relieved of his basketball duties at Colorado University after a 20-year career, Athletic Director Eddie Crowder said.

"The decision has been made to change basketball coaches at the University of Colorado," said Crowder. "Sox Walseth is being offered new duties in the Athletic Department."

Walseth, who was named "Big Eight Coach of the Year" six times during his tenure finished this season with a 7-19 record and ends his coaching career with the Buffs at 261-245.

His teams at CU have finished in the First Division of the Big Eight 10 times and three of his teams have represented the conference in the NCAA Regional Tournament.

Walseth joined CU in 1956.

Other Basketball

Top-seeded Immaculate and fourth-seeded St. Joseph's won their quarterfinal games Friday in the Regional Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women basketball playoffs.

Baseball

Chicago White Sox fans, or for that matter any souvenir hunter, will get a chance to take picks literally in Comiskey Park Saturday and Sunday.

The one-year storybook marriage between Cincinnati Reds catcher Johnny Bench and fashion model Vickie Chesser, baseball's All-American couple, has wound up in divorce court, Bench confirmed.

Racing

A federal grand jury has returned 19 criminal indictments charging 20 persons with violating federal income tax laws in connection with "ten percenter" schemes at race tracks.

Waldmar Farm's What a Pleasure, sire of last year's Kentucky Derby winner Foolish Pleasure and this year's pre-race heavy favorite Honest Pleasure, has been syndicated for a record $8 million.

Hockey

Defenseman Brad Park of the Boston Bruins was discharged from Boston hospital one week after undergoing surgery for removal of torn cartilage from his left knee.

Park said he hopes to rejoin the Bruins in five weeks, or in time for the national Hockey League playoffs.

Veteran defenseman Ed Van Impe, who refused to join the Pittsburg Penguines after being traded by the Stanley Cup Champion Philadelphia Flyers, changed his mind Friday and agreed to report to Pittsburgh immediately.

Football

Plans for a $10-million local bank loan to the Memphis Grizzlies as downpayment on a National Football League franchise have hit a snag, a Memphis newspaper said.

Richard "Dick" Boness, superintendent-principal and head football coach at Alliance St. Agnes Academy of the past five years, has announced his resignation effective June 1.

Other Sports

Franz Kallmer, the Olympic champion from Austria who already clinched the World Cup downhill ski title, won the final downhill race of the Cup series on Aspen mountain.

CBS-TV has accused the organizing committee of Lake Placid Winter Olympics of "unfair and discriminatory practices" in its reported decision to award ABC-TV exclusive rights to broadcast the 1980 games.

CBS, in a telegram to the committee, demanded that it be given an opportunity to bid for broadcasting rights reported to have been awarded to ABC for $7 million.

Despite a torn calf muscle in his left leg, Carmen Salvino of Chicago moved into the lead in the $65,000 New Orleans Open Bowling Tournament with a 34-game pinfall of 7,419, one better than Louie Moore of Columbus, Ohio.

Olympic gold medalist Sheila Young of Detroit turned in the year's best time for the women's 1,000 meters Friday when she was clocked in 1:24.66 in international ice skating competition in West Germany.

Muhammed Ali, world heavyweight boxing champion, has given his initial approval for a title division fight, possibly against Ken Norton, in Italy this summer.

Hayes Slips Into Lead

MIAMI (AP) — Jack Nicklaus' challenge ended in the water on the 18th hole and young Mark Hayes, a non-winner in two years on the pro golf tour, slipped into the second-round lead Friday in the $200,000 Doral Open.

Hayes, a soft-spoken 26-year-old from Oklahoma, fashioned a four-under-par 68 and established a one-shot lead at 135.

Bob Keller of Bassett (12) starts to drive the baseline around Geneva's Steve Wentz (21). Wentz established position but Keller moved around him to get the shot. Geneva advanced to the finals with a 62-54 win over the Tigers.

Geneva Shoots Way To Title Game

By KEN HAMBLETON
Star Sports Writer

You can count Bassett coach Clayton Steele as another basketball coach that believes Geneva can't keep hitting from the field with such a high percentage.

"They keep hitting well from the outside with the low percentage shots and I don't think they can hit like that all the way to the finals," Steele commented.

But Geneva hit 25 of 45 shots (56%) from the field, including 13 of 16 field goals in the second half (80%) Friday afternoon to down pre-tourney class C favorite Bassett 62-54 at the NU Coliseum.

Geneva hit 57 per cent from the field in Thursday's win over Southeast Consolidated, 62 per cent against Wahoo Neumann in the regionals and 52 per cent in the district championship win over Hebron.

"I kind of count on that percentage shooting," said Wildcat coach Mark Cordes. "We have some excellent outside shooters and Ken (Adkisson) and Wentz (Steve) hit well from the inside."

Ken Adkisson paced the Wildcats with 21 points, followed by brother Steve with 18, guard Jon Franck with 10 and Wentz with nine.

"Anybody can play good defense every day like Bassett did against us," said Cordes, "but when you have the hot hand is when you get the wins."

Bassett kept the Wildcats within range in the first half relying on a 1-3-1 zone defense, but some long range bombs by Franck and Steve Adkisson helped Geneva hold a 28-25 halftime edge. Bassett hit just two field goals in the second quarter but hit a combined eight of 10 free throws.

The Tigers took advantage of four turnovers early in the third quarter and combined with two baskets by Bob Keller, and one each by Greg Gallaway, Monte Fletcher and Neil Ammon Bassett took a 35-34 lead at 2:53.

That was all it took to get the Wildcats moving as they hit five of five field goals while Bassett managed just three of four free throws in the last two minutes of the third quarter. Geneva increased its seven point advantage at the end of the third quarter to 11 points when both Ken and Steve Adkisson hit baskets early in the final period to boost the Wildcats to a 49-38 lead.

The Tigers made a short rally hitting four tipins from 4:45 to 3:16 but a basket by Wentz, three free throws by Ken Adkisson and two by Steve Adkisson iced the game for the Wildcats.

"We're just too conservative with our leads, because we aren't looking to take shots we normally would," said Cordes. "But once we got behind we started hitting. We just react to pressure well."

Cordes also praised Wentz with holding Bassett's Keller to 20 points. "Keller is a great player and very tough to guard because he moves so fast," said Cordes.

"I picked Geneva to win the title if we didn't," said Steele, whose team closed the season 21-2. "We had three baskets taken away from us because of traveling calls and that made a lot of difference."

Geneva will meet the winner of the Howells-Walthill game at 2 p.m. in the Sports Center Saturday.

North Reaches Tournament Final In Omaha Battle

By CHUCK SINCLAIR
Prep Sports Writer

Omaha North's Bob Murray will agree with the Morton Salt slogan — when it rains it pours.

The veteran Omaha North coach is hoping his Vikings' newfound success in state tournaments continues for one more day.

For the first time in the school's 52-year history, the Vikings have reached the finals of the state high school basketball tournament, with a 52-48 semifinal win over Omaha Burke Friday afternoon.

The victory came on the heels of the school's first state tournament win, also in 52 years, when North won a first round decision over McCook Thursday.

"We've never been in the finals and never even won a game," Murray said. "This is fantastic. I don't even know what we're going to do tomorrow. We haven't given it any thought. We spent all our time on this one."

Murray was understandably excited as the game went down to the wire before a free throw from Tony Valentine with :11 left iced the game for North.

"Tony played a terrific game," Murray said. "He brought the ball down court for us every time and didn't turn it over once."

Besides that, Valentine picked up the slack for North when the projected shootout with North's Mike McGee and Burke's Jim Gregory never materialized.

Valentine hit six of seven field goal attempts and three of five free throws to compliment 17 points from the unusually cold McGee.

Averaging 25 points per game, McGee could manage just six of 21 field goals and five of 12 free throws, but his defense on Gregory, who is also averaging 25 per game, made up for his lack of scoring.

Gregory matched Valentine's output of 16 points on six of 15 tries from the field and three of four free throws.

North's fast-paced game allowed the Bulldogs of coach John Johnette the opportunity to close the gap.

"We don't stall and they don't stall," Murray said. "That's just the way we play basketball. The crowd likes it that way."

"Both teams can score extremely quick and that's why you never know how a game between two teams like this is going to turn out until it's over," Johnette said. "Nowadays, you just can't sit on a lead like you used to.

"We were two pretty even teams down the line," Johnette said. "'Our centers scored about the same, the guards were close and the forwards were almost even. It was just a matter of one or two points here and there."

"Prep's a pretty salty outfit," Murray admitted. "We know what they're like from the metro. And Northeast really looked impressive against Hastings. Whatever team we meet, it's going to be tough. They're all tough now."

North's win over Burke, the third straight this season, sent Burke to the stands with an 18-5 record while North improved its mark to 19-5 for the A final.

Hartington Butchered By Finalist Holdrege

By DAVE SITTLER

Listening to Holdrege coach Roger Hanson tell it, you'd think his team belonged in a butcher shop, or at best, on a football field instead of in the state Class B basketball finals.

But the state finals is exactly where Hanson and his Duster squad will be Saturday night at 7 p.m. at the Nebraska Sports Center.

Holdrege qualified for the championship contest by drubbing Hartington Cedar Catholic, 51-30, in semifinal action at the Sports Center Friday afternoon.

"We're kind of like a two dollar steak," said Hanson, who is in the finals for the second time in three years. "We get the job done.

"And remember," continued Hanson, whose Lexington squad lost to Lincoln Pius X in the 1974 finals, "we start a couple of football tackles."

Center Rick Haase and forward Randy Florell are the two hefty Duster cagers who are equally at home on a gridiron as a basketball court.

As they've done all season, Florell, Haase and guard Kyle Johnson keyed the easy romp over the No. 1 seeded Trojans, who ended the season with a sparkling 26-2 mark.

Johnson popped in 20 points to lead all scorers, while the 6-4 Haase added 13 tallies and snatched 11 rebounds. Florell, a 6-2, 215-pounder who was a member of the Sunday Journal and Star Super State football team, chipped in 6 points and 7 rebounds.

Shooting a sizzling 52 per cent from the floor, Holdrege was aided by a frigid Cedar Catholic club which could manage only a cool 26 per cent effort from the floor.

"Never in my whole life would I have imagined my kids getting as uptight as they were today," Cedar Catholic coach Gary Dunn said. "It's depressing because we're a much more representable team than we showed out there today."

Pointing to the Trojans 14 of 53 field goal performance, Dunn said: "Our shooting was like a bad disease. It got worse as the game went on and spread like a plague.

"Maybe we were a little tired after yesterday's game (against Omaha Ryan.)" Dunn said. "Usually Schieffer (forward Tom) or Uhing (guard Dick) can pick up the slack when we're having shooting problems . . . but not today."

Schieffer finished with eight points while Uhing added 12.

Hanson, who took last year off from coaching to farm in South Dakota, said he didn't know how he would prepare his team for the state finals.

"If I knew the secret to that I'd be a millionaire," he said. "The starters will definitely stay in their motel room off their feet resting. This thing (state tourney) can really drain you physically and emotionally after three straight days.

Despite the lopsided defeat, Cedar Catholic's Dunn said he could find a lot of solace in the fine season his team compiled.

"I was really upset with about four minutes to go. But now I thank the Lord for letting us get down here to the tournament."

D's Top-Seeded Nelson Outmuscles Polk, 60-48

By TOM VINT
Star Sports Writer

Nelson, the tournament's No. 1 seed, went to the boards to outmuscle Polk, 60-48, in Friday afternoon's Class D state tournament action.

The smaller Tigers, rated No. 1 most of the season, outrebounded towering Polk, 40-23, to make a bid at the state tourney crown.

"Boards are pretty much position and if you can block them out, unless they come over your back, there's not too much they can do," said Rick Mazour. Mazour led Nelson's scoring as the six-foot senior forward pumped in 18. He also had eight rebounds.

Nelson is heading toward a fete never before succeeded by a Nebraska high school team. The Tigers, who won the state Class D football championship in its first year, can now capture a second state title in the same school year.

"I don't know if it's helping us or hurting us," said Mazour of the championship pressures. "We're not that outwardly emotional before a game or anything. If we are behind, we play harder. If we're way ahead, we don't play as hard. I guess we play what we need."

The Tigers did just that Friday. Nelson held quarter leads of 17-10, 30-21 and 42-32 through the first three periods. Polk managed to come within six points midway through the third quarter but Nelson again put the game out of reach.

Nelson again had balanced scoring with four players in double figures. Roger Biltoft, who also had 18 rebounds, put in 14 points while Nick Biltoft and Steve Gebers added 10 each.

"That's what we've been doing the whole year," said Mazour. "We have five or six guys doing the scoring. Other teams don't know who to key on."

Game high scoring honors went to Polk's 6-5 Dana Anderson with 20 points but 6-6 Tom Carlstrom was held to only five by a sagging Nelson zone defense. The Cubs hit only 34 per cent for the game.

"We just weren't shooting like usual," said Polk coach Mike Fleming. "They collapsed on our inside shooting and our outside shooting wasn't on. We weren't able to draw their defense out.

"They're a tremendous ball club," Fleming added. "You can't take anything away from them. They do it all well."

Polks ended its season with a 19-6 record while the win put Nelson at 22-1 going into Saturday's noon championship game against xxxxxxx in the Nebraska Sports Center.

"We've gotten where we wanted to be right now," said Wayne Grumaer, Nelson's coach. "What we've got to do right now is play good ball. I think we'll be ready."

Roger Biltoft agreed the Tigers would be ready for the title game.

"We were pumped up today," said the 6-2 senior, "and I'm sure we won't have any trouble getting up for tomorrow."

Husker Medley Team Qualifies

Detroit, Mich. — Nebraska's distance medley relay team qualified for the finals at the 12th Annual NCAA Indoor Track Championships at Cobo Hall here Friday with a clocking of 10:02.5.

Husker freshmen Ron Fisher (880 leadoff of the relay) and Ron Mahoney (440 leg) and junior Matt Rechmeyer (1320 leg) and sophomore Harold Stelzer (mile anchor) led the way to qualify.

Finals will be held Saturday.

TITLE PICKS

by Randy York
Prep Sports Editor

Class A

Omaha North (19-6) vs. Creighton Prep (22-2), 8:30 p.m. — Prep beat the Metro champion Vikings twice during the early season — 53-45 and 71-59. The Junior Jays' swarming defense will put North to the supreme challenge. It's carried Prep to two straight state runnerup finishes. The 'Jays have to be hungry. But North, having won its first state tourney game in the school's 52-year history Thursday, is even hungrier.

Class B

Holdrege (18-4) vs. Aurora (17-6), 6:30 p.m. — Holdrege is the only pre-state tournament championship choice we have left in the running. Now's no time to give up on the Dusters.

Class C

Geneva (18-4) vs. Walthill (24-1), 2 p.m. — It's not very often the team with the worst record in its class wins the state tournament. This is one of those years. The season-long Class C game of Tell The Truth has gone on long enough. Stand up, Geneva. We all know you're the mystery team.

Class D

Nelson (22-1) vs. Hildreth (16-6), noon — It would be a Cinderella finish for first-year Hildreth coach Sam Sharpe, but Nelson has been talking about a state championship double since football season finished.

North Reaches Tournament Final In Omaha Battle

By CHUCK SINCLAIR
Prep Sports Writer

Omaha North's Bob Murray will agree with the Morton Salt slogan — when it rains it pours.

The veteran Omaha North coach is hoping his Vikings' newfound success in state tournaments continues for one more day.

For the first time in the school's 52-year history, the Vikings have reached the finals of the state high school basketball tournament, with a 52-48 semifinal win over Omaha Burke Friday afternoon.

The victory came on the heels of the school's first state tournament win, also in 52 years, when North won a first round decision over McCook Thursday.

North owned a substantial nine point, 54-45 lead, just into the final quarter, but a Burke comeback made the finish exciting.

North's fast-paced game allowed the Bulldogs of coach John Johnette the opportunity to close the gap.

"We don't stall and they don't stall," Murray said. "That's just the way we play basketball. The crowd likes it that way."

D's Top-Seeded Nelson Outmuscles Polk, 60-48

Nelson, the tournament's No. 1 seed, went to the boards to outmuscle Polk, 60-48, in Friday afternoon's Class D state tournament action.

The smaller Tigers, rated No. 1 most of the season, outrebounded towering Polk, 40-23, to make a bid at the state tourney crown.

"Boards are pretty much position and if you can block them out, unless they come over your back, there's not too much they can do," said Rick Mazour. Mazour led Nelson's scoring as the six-foot senior forward pumped in 18. He also had eight rebounds.

Nelson is heading toward a fete never before succeeded by a Nebraska high school team. The Tigers, who won the state Class D football championship in its first year, can now capture a second state title in the same school year.

"I don't know if it's helping us or hurting us," said Mazour of the championship pressures. "We're not that outwardly emotional before a game or anything. If we are behind, we play harder. If we're way ahead, we don't play as hard. I guess we play what we need."

The Tigers did just that Friday. Nelson held quarter leads of 17-10, 30-21 and 42-32 through the first three periods. Polk managed to come within six points midway through the third quarter but Nelson again put the game out of reach.

Nelson again had balanced scoring with four players in double figures. Roger Biltoft, who also had 18 rebounds, put in 14 points while Nick Biltoft and Steve Gebers added 10 each.

"That's what we've been doing the whole year," said Mazour. "We have five or six guys doing the scoring. Other teams don't know who to key on."

Game high scoring honors went to Polk's 6-5 Dana Anderson with 20 points but 6-6 Tom Carlstrom was held to only five by a sagging Nelson zone defense. The Cubs hit only 34 per cent for the game.

"We just weren't shooting like usual," said Polk coach Mike Fleming. "They collapsed on our inside shooting and our outside shooting wasn't on. We weren't able to draw their defense out.

"They're a tremendous ball club," Fleming added. "You can't take anything away from them. They do it all well."

Polks ended its season with a 19-6 record while the win put Nelson at 22-1 going into Saturday's noon championship game against xxxxxxx in the Nebraska Sports Center.

"We've gotten where we wanted to be right now," said Wayne Grumaer, Nelson's coach. "What we've got to do right now is play good ball. I think we'll be ready."

Roger Biltoft agreed the Tigers would be ready for the title game.

"We were pumped up today," said the 6-2 senior, "and I'm sure we won't have any trouble getting up for tomorrow."

TITLE PICKS

by Randy York
Prep Sports Editor

Class A

Omaha North (19-5) vs. Creighton Prep (22-2), 8:30 p.m. — Prep beat the Metro champion Vikings twice during the early season — 53-45 and 71-50. The Junior Jays' swarming defense will put North to the supreme challenge. It's carried Prep to two straight state runnerup finishes. The 'Jays have to be hungry. But North, having won its first state tourney game in the school's 52-year history Thursday, is even hungrier.

Class B

Holdrege (18-4) vs. Aurora (17-6), 6:30 p.m. — Holdrege is the only pre-state tournament championship choice we have left in the running. Now's no time to give up on the Dusters.

Class C

Geneva (18-9) vs. Walthill (24-1), 2 p.m. — It's not very often the team with the worst record in its class wins the state tournament. This is one of those years. The season-long Class C game of Tell The Truth has gone on long enough. Stand up, Geneva. We all know you're the mystery team.

Class D

Nelson (22-2) vs. Hildreth (16-6), noon — It would be a Cinderella finish for first-year Hildreth coach Sam Sharpe, but Nelson has been talking about a state championship double since football season finished.

Missouri Wants Crown To Be NCAA Springboard

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Missouri hopes its first undisputed Big Eight title since 1930 is just a springboard to bigger and better things.

And Coach Norm Stewart hopes his Tigers can make their first leap Saturday at the NCAA Midwest sub-regionals here.

"This team always seems to play well in spurts," Stewart said of his 10th-ranked Tigers. "We're just hoping we will have one of our good ones over the next couple of weeks."

Missouri, 24-7, will hook up with No. 11 Washington of the Pacific Eight Conference in the first game of a doubleheader. The Huskies are 22-5.

In the second contest, seventh-ranked Notre Dame, 22-5, clashes with the No. 13 Cincinnati Bearcats, 23-6. That game will be televised regionally.

The winners advance to further regional competition next week at Louisville, Ky.

Stewart is banking on his Tigers' quickness rivaling the height of the taller Huskies.

Specifically, the Missouri fortunes rest on the effectiveness of guard Willie Smith. The 6-2 senior led the Big Eight in scoring with a 24.6 average and he clinched two one-point victories with baskets in the final seconds.

The Huskies, who finished fourth in the Pac-8, feature 7-foot center James Edwards, who poured in 17.8 points a game. Flanking him are 6-10 Lars Hansen, who averaged 14.2 points a contest, and 6-7 Kim Stewart Guard Clarence Ramsey hit at a 15.9 pace.

"I think our strength has been inside normally We feel like it's going to be a match of our inside size against their quickness," said Washington Coach Marv Harshman. "It will probably depend on who gets the first jump."

Notre Dame is considered the strongest of the four teams by most observers. The Irish's five losses have all come at the hands of the ranked teams.

But Cincinnati is also ranked and it was the Bearcats who last beat Notre Dame in NCAA tournament action, handing the Irish a 95-87 setback in a consolation game last year.

"Nobody expects us to win, but it's Notre Dame and national television," said Steve Collier of the sophomore-laden Bearcats. "We'll be ready."

Cincinnati has been led this season by 6-11 center Robert Miller, with the help of Collier, Pat Cummings, Mike Jones and Brian Williams.

Notre Dame is paced by 6-5 All-American Adrian Dantley, who has averaged 29 points a game. Dick Williams, a sophomore guard, has helped out 11.6 points a contest.

"I feel we have really improved over the course of the season," said Irish Coach Digger Phelps. "I've seen improvement in all our players, especially Williams. I think we've learned a lot and I hope it pays off in the NCAA."

AP Selects Knight As Top Coach

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Bobby Knight, college basketball's coach of the year, and All-American teammates Scott May, the national player of the year, and Kent Benson have their Alphonse-Gaston routine down pat.

"Although I appreciate that honor and I'm greatful, let's not kid ourselves," the coach of the top-ranked and undefeated Indiana Hoosiers said. "It's those players out there who did that for me."

The 6-foot-11 Benson, just a junior, said, "I have to admit that I'm thrilled to be included on The Associated Press All-American team. But my thanks go to my teammates and my coach. They're the ones who made it possible."

And May, a smooth 6-7 senior forward, said "It's been a great privilege for me to play at Indiana and then receive these other honors. There's only one thing left, and that's to play our best in the NCAA tourney to repay all our great fans and Coach Knight."

Teams Battle In NIT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 39th annual National Invitation Tournament begins Saturday with a pair of unheralded North Carolina teams battling to prove their worth.

North Carolina A&T and North Carolina-Charlotte each was a surprise selection for the 12-team field, but neither drew an easy task in the first round. North Carolina A&T meets last year's NIT runnerup, Providence, and UNC-Charlotte plays San Francisco's celebrated group of freshman giants.

Kentucky, a young team that improved considerably near the end of the season, takes on Niagara in the 1 p.m. opener, followed by the A&T-Providence contest.

Indiana Starts NCAA Road

By Associated Press

"It's a different day, a different site and different circumstances," says St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca—but it's the same old Indiana.

Carnesecca knows what it's like to go up against the top-ranked, unbeaten Hoosiers—his Redmen lost to Indiana 76-69 in the final of the ECAC Holiday Festival Tournament in December. That was played before a highly partisan sellout crowd of 19,694 at New York's Madison Square Garden.

And he knows things will be different Saturday when his 17th-ranked Redmen face Indiana at South Bend, Ind., in one of 16 first-round games of the NCAA basketball tournament.

"We're not only playing Scott May and Bobby Knight, we're taking on the whole state of Indiana," said Carnesecca of the Mideast Regional matchup. But he doesn't mind the challenge: "You can't run and hide—sooner or later, you're going to have to play the executioner."

The Indiana-St. John's matchup, starting at 2:15 p.m. EST, will be the middle game of a tripleheader to be televised by NBC. Two games will be shown regionally starting at 12:15 p.m.: Alabama against North Carolina from the Mideast Regional and Princeton vs. Rutgers from the East. The Cincinnati-Notre Dame Midwest Regional contest, sarting at 4:15, concludes the TV lineup.

Kinney, Johnson To Speak Here

Kansas City Chiefs running back Jeff Kinney and Oakland Raiders middle linebacker Monte Johnson are the featured speakers Saturday at the third annual Fellowship of Christian Athletes State Basketball Tournament Breakfast at the Radisson Cornhusker.

Nebraska basketball center Larry Cox will join them as a speaker.

NWU Records Twin Shutouts

Bethany, Okla. — Nebraska Wesleyan University halted its losing skein on its southern baseball swing Friday with twin shutouts over Bethany Nazarene.

Wesleyan recorded 7-0 and 5-0 victories in raising its record to 2-4 on the season.

Hurricane Force Winds Join State's Snow, Rain

Strong March winds, gusting up to hurricane force of 76 miles per hour at Mullen and 75 m.p.h. at Norfolk, whipped across Nebraska Friday.

The blustery northwestern blasts were accompanied by snow, ranging up to three inches at Chadron and Verdigre, and rains up to 1.56 inches at North Platte.

Several highways in the north central Nebraska, around O'Neill, Bassett and Broken Bow, were closed for a time Friday because of blowing snow.

However, the State Patrol late Friday reported all highways open, but snowpacked and icy in parts of northern and northeastern Nebraska.

Roads in the O'Neill-Creighton areas were reported to be 80% to 100% snowpacked, while highways around Niobrara were 60% snowpacked. In the Arnold-Callaway and Humphrey vicinities roads were 50% snowpacked.

Rainfall received during the storm was topped by 1.56 inches at North Platte, 1.50 at Sutton, an inch at Hastings, .50 at Geneva and Uehling, .49 at Howells, .30 at Seward and .19 at Nebraska City.

Blowing dust was reported in southwestern Nebraska.

Early Friday winds gusted as high as 58 m.p.h. at Lincoln and continued blowing throughout the day. A trace of snow accompanied the inclement weather here.

By nightfall the high winds decreased throughout the state.

Omaha's 35 degrees was the highest for the day in the state with Sidney's seven degrees the lowest. In Lincoln the temperature range was 19 to 28.

Verbal Battles Prevail In Baseball Negotiations

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Major league baseball players abruptly shut down their informal training camps and totally rejected the owners' latest proposal, casting a darker cloud over the labor impasse.

The latest negotiating session ended without significant progress after approximately three hours, with both sides voicing bitter denunciations.

"They felt they had our swords and now they want our horses," said Chub Feeney, president of the National League and a member of management's Player Relations Committee.

Marvin Miller, the suave executive director of the Players Association, reacted like a man struck in the face with a telephone pole.

"They want us to slit our throats, ear to halfway, and then they say, 'We'll help you wipe up the blood.'" countered Miller.

With the scheduled opening of the season less than a month away, April 8, and talks reaching a critical phase, the two groups agreed to meet again here early Saturday.

"They promised they would have some new ideas," said Lee MacPhail, president of the American league.

Miller denied MacPhail's assertion that the players' committee had shut off the day's negotiations and asked for a renewal Saturday.

"We asked when they wanted to meet again—left it open for this afternoon or tomorrow morning," Miller said. "They said tomorrow morning."

While the pre-noon session was in progress, Tom Seaver, the New York Mets' ace pitcher, was dropping a bombshell with tremendous impact on the situation.

After meeting with a collection of some 40 players, representing the Mets, St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates, Seaver announced:

"The executives know we are working out. They can say, 'Why should we open the camps when the players are working out on their own?' We are not doing this in the sense of forcing an agreement. We hope it helps to get the official camps open."

Spill Mars Fonner Race Card

Joust Abit Windy, with Randy Meier up, broke his right leg at the start of the backstretch of the 5½ furlong fifth race.

After Joust Abit Windy went down, the next three horses spilled into him. Empire King, ridden by Dave Pettinger, Greggs Playmate with Wayne Anderson in the irons and Nellie's Prize, ridden by Rob Williams all fell into the injured horse.

Anderson and Meier were taken to the hospital. Meier fractured one leg, but the extent of Anderson's injuries, although not expected to be serious, was unknown. Pettinger and Williams were shaken up, but were not injured.

Joust Abit Windy was humanely destroyed after the spill.

Major Candidate Debate Asked By Hess Dyas

Democratic senatorial candidate Hess Dyas Friday night proposed a face-to-face debate between the major candidates.

A debate between himself and Omaha Mayor Ed Zorinsky would allow voters to judge the candidates on "facts and true comparisons," Dyas told Sarpy County Democrats.

"Without debates, questioning has to go on via news releases, charges and countercharges."

Dyas said he disagrees with Zorinsky's earlier statement that the Social Security System should be operated on a voluntary basis.

"The result would be to bankrupt the system and leave millions of retired Americans without this important means of support," he said.

Dyas said debates with Zorinsky would allow each of them to detail their positions on Social Security.

Ralph Parker New Executive Of Boy Scouts

Ralph Parker starts work Monday as the new executive of the Cornhusker Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

He succeeds R. Scott Agnew, who has joined the national scout staff in Mendham, N.J.

Parker comes to Lincoln from Denver, where he has been director of field services for three years.

He has also served as director of development in Buffalo, N.Y., and as a field director and executive in Massachusetts.

Missouri Wants Crown To Be NCAA Springboard

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Missouri hopes its first undisputed Big Eight title since 1930 is just a springboard to bigger and better things.

And Coach Norm Stewart hopes his Tigers can make their first leap Saturday at the NCAA Midwest sub-regionals here.

"This team always seems to play well in spurts," Stewart said of his 10th-ranked Tigers. "We're just hoping we will have one of our good ones over the next couple of weeks."

Missouri, 24-7, will hook up with No. 11 Washington of the Pacific Eight Conference in the first game of a doubleheader. The Huskies are 22-5.

In the second contest, seventh-ranked Notre Dame, 22-5, clashes with the No. 13 Cincinnati Bearcats, 23-6. That game will be televised regionally.

The winners advance to further regional competition next week at Louisville, Ky.

Stewart is banking on his Tigers' quickness rivaling the height of the taller Huskies.

Specifically, the Missouri fortunes rest on the effectiveness of guard Willie Smith. The 6-2 senior led the Big Eight in scoring with a 24.6 average and he clinched two one-point victories with baskets in the final seconds.

The Huskies, who finished fourth in the Pac-8, feature 7-foot center James Edwards, who poured in 17.8 points a game. Flanking him are 6-10 Lars Hansen, who averaged 14.2 points a contest, and 6-7 Kim Stewart. Guard Clarence Ramsey hit at a 15.9 pace.

"I think our strength has been inside normally. We feel like it's going to be a match of our inside size against their quickness," said Washington Coach Marv Harshman. "It will probably depend on who gets the first jump."

Notre Dame is considered the strongest of the four teams by most observers. The Irish's five losses have all come at the hands of the ranked teams.

But Cincinnati is also ranked and it was the Bearcats who last beat Notre Dame in NCAA tournament action, handing the Irish a 95-87 setback in a consolation game last year.

"Nobody expects us to win, but it's Notre Dame and national television," said Steve Collier of the sophomore-laden Bearcats. "We'll be ready."

Cincinnati has been led this season by 6-11 center Robert Miller, with the help of Collier, Pat Cummings, Mike Jones and Brian Williams.

Notre Dame is paced by 6-5 All-American Adrian Dantley, who has averaged 29 points a game. Dick Williams, a sophomore guard, has helped out 11.6 points a contest.

"I feel we have really improved over the course of the season," said Irish Coach Digger Phelps. "I've seen improvement in all our players, especially Williams. I think we've learned a lot and I hope it pays off in the NCAA."

AP Selects Knight As Top Coach

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Bobby Knight, college basketball's coach of the year, and All-American teammates Scott May, the national player of the year, and Kent Benson have their Alphonse-Gaston routine down pat.

"Although I appreciate that honor and I'm greatful, let's not kid ourselves," the coach of the top-ranked and undefeated Indiana Hoosiers said. "It's those players out there who did that for me."

The 6-foot-11 Benson, just a junior, said, "I have to admit that I'm thrilled to be included on The Associated Press All-American team. But my thanks go to my teammates and my coach. They're the ones who made it possible."

And May, a smooth 6-7 senior forward, said "It's been a great privilege for me to play at Indiana and then receive these other honors. There's only one thing left, and that's to play our best in the NCAA tourney to repay all our great fans and Coach Knight."

Kinney, Johnson To Speak Here

Kansas City Chiefs running back Jeff Kinney and Oakland Raiders middle linebacker Monte Johnson are the featured speakers Saturday at the third annual Fellowship of Christian Athletes State Basketball Tournament Breakfast at the Radisson Cornhusker.

Nebraska basketball center Larry Cox will join them as a speaker.

NWU Records Twin Shutouts

Bethany, Okla. — Nebraska Wesleyan University halted its losing skein on its southern baseball swing Friday with twin shutouts over Bethany Nazarene.

Wesleyan recorded 7-0 and 5-0 victories in raising its record to 2-4 on the season.

Teams Battle In NIT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 39th annual National Invitation Tournament begins Saturday with a pair of unheralded North Carolina teams battling to prove their worth.

North Carolina A&T and North Carolina-Charlotte each was a surprise selection for the 12-team field, but neither drew an easy task in the first round. North Carolina A&T meets last year's NIT runnerup, Providence, and UNC-Charlotte plays San Francisco's celebrated group of freshman giants.

Kentucky, a young team that improved considerably near the end of the season, takes on Niagara in the 1 p.m. opener, followed by the A&T-Providence contest.

Indiana Starts NCAA Road

By Associated Press

"It's a different day, a different site and different circumstances," says St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca—but it's the same old Indiana.

Carnesecca knows what it's like to go up against the top-ranked, unbeaten Hoosiers—his Redmen lost to Indiana 76-69 in the final of the ECAC Holiday Festival Tournament in December. That was played before a highly partisan sellout crowd of 19,694 at New York's Madison Square Garden.

And he knows things will be different Saturday when his 17th-ranked Redmen face Indiana at South Bend, Ind., in one of 16 first-round games of the NCAA basketball tournament.

"We're not only playing Scott May and Bobby Knight, we're taking on the whole state of Indiana," said Carnesecca of the Mideast Regional matchup. But he doesn't mind the challenge: "You can't run and hide—sooner or later, you're going to have to play the executioner."

The Indiana-St. John's matchup, starting at 2:15 p.m. EST, will be the middle game of a tripleheader to be televised by NBC. Two games will be shown regionally starting at 12:15 p.m.: Alabama against North Carolina from the Mideast Regional and Princeton vs. Rutgers from the East. The Cincinnati-Notre Dame Midwest Regional contest, sarting at 4:15, concludes the TV lineup.

Verbal Battles Prevail In Baseball Negotiations

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Major league baseball players abruptly shut down their informal training camps and totally rejected the owners' latest proposal, casting a darker cloud over the labor impasse.

The latest negotiating session ended without significant progress after approximately three hours, with both sides voicing bitter denunciations.

"They felt they had our swords and now they want our horses," said Chub Feeney, president of the National League and a member of management's Player Relations Committee.

Marvin Miller, the suave executive director of the Players Association, reacted like a man struck in the face with a telephone pole.

"They want us to slit our throats, ear to halfway, and then they say, 'We'll help you wipe up the blood.'" countered Miller.

With the scheduled opening of the season less than a month away, April 8, and talks reaching a critical phase, the two groups agreed to meet again here early Saturday.

"They promised they would have some new ideas," said Lee MacPhail, president of the American league.

Miller denied MacPhail's assertion that the players' committee had shut off the day's negotiations and asked for a renewal Saturday.

"We asked when they wanted to meet again—left it open for this afternoon or tomorrow morning," Miller said. "They said tomorrow morning."

While the pre-noon session was in progress, Tom Seaver, the New York Mets' ace pitcher, was dropping a bombshell with tremendous impact on the situation.

After meeting with a collection of some 40 players, representing the Mets, St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates, Seaver announced:

"The executives know we are working out. They can say, 'Why should we open the camps when the players are working out on their own?' We are not doing this in the sense of forcing an agreement. We hope it helps to get the official camps open."

Spill Mars Fonner Race Card

Joust Abit Windy, with Randy Meier up, broke his right leg at the start of the backstretch of the 5½ furlong fifth race.

After Joust Abit Windy went down, the next three horses spilled into him. Empire King, ridden by Dave Pettinger, Greggs Playmate with Wayne Anderson in the irons and Nellie's Prize, ridden by Rob Williams all fell into the injured horse.

Anderson and Meier were taken to the hospital. Meier fractured one leg, but the extent of Anderson's injuries, although not expected to be serious, was unknown. Pettinger and Williams were shaken up, but were not injured.

Joust Abit Windy was humanely destroyed after the spill.

Hurricane Force Winds Join State's Snow, Rain

Strong March winds, gusting up to hurricane force of 76 miles per hour at Mullen and 75 m.p.h. at Norfolk, whipped across Nebraska Friday.

The blustery northwestern blasts were accompanied by snow, ranging up to three inches at Chadron and Verdigre, and rains up to 1.56 inches at North Platte.

Several highways in the north central Nebraska, around O'Neill, Bassett and Broken Bow, were closed for a time Friday because of blowing snow.

However, the State Patrol late Friday reported all highways open, but snowpacked and icy in parts of northern and northeastern Nebraska.

Roads in the O'Neill-Creighton areas were reported to be 80% to 100% snowpacked, while highways around Niobrara were 60% snowpacked. In the Arnold-Callaway and Humphrey vicinities roads were 50% snowpacked.

Rainfall received during the storm was topped by 1.56 inches at North Platte, 1.50 at Sutton, an inch at Hastings, .50 at Geneva and Uehling, .49 at Howells, .30 at Seward and .19 at Nebraska City.

Blowing dust was reported in southwestern Nebraska.

Early Friday winds gusted as high as 58 m.p.h. at Lincoln and continued blowing throughout the day. A trace of snow accompanied the inclement weather here.

By nightfall the high winds decreased throughout the state.

Omaha's 35 degrees was the highest for the day in the state with Sidney's seven degrees the lowest. In Lincoln the temperature range was 19 to 28.

Major Candidate Debate Asked By Hess Dyas

Democratic senatorial candidate Hess Dyas Friday night proposed a face-to-face debate between the major candidates.

A debate between himself and Omaha Mayor Ed Zorinsky would allow voters to judge the candidates on "facts and true comparisons," Dyas told Sarpy County Democrats.

"Without debates, questioning has to go on via news releases, charges and countercharges."

Dyas said he disagrees with Zorinsky's earlier statement that the Social Security System should be operated on a voluntary basis.

"The result would be to bankrupt the system and leave millions of retired Americans without this important means of support," he said.

Dyas said debates with Zorinsky would allow each of them to detail their positions on Social Security.

Ralph Parker New Executive Of Boy Scouts

Ralph Parker starts work Monday as the new executive of the Cornhusker Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

He succeeds R. Scott Agnew, who has joined the national scout staff in Mindham, N.J.

Parker comes to Lincoln from Denver, where he has been director of field services for three years.

He has also served as director of development in Buffalo, N.Y., and as a field director and executive in Massachusetts.

Douglas Brief Supports Simants Press Gag

By United Press International

District Judge Hugh Stuart of North Platte acted correctly when he restricted pretrial publicity in the Erwin Charles Simants murder case, Nebraska Attorney General Paul Douglas said in a brief filed with the U.S. Supreme Court Thursday.

The brief, submitted on behalf of the judge, said the news media have the power to so "inform and arouse the interests and feelings of the community so that no fair trial can be had."

Simants was convicted in January of slaying six members of a Sutherland, Neb., family.

A number of news organizations have asked the court to rule Stuart's order restricting pretrial publicity unconstitutional.

The Douglas brief said, "Various reported (court) decisions have held that the right to freedom of the press exists co-equally with other constitutional rights and must be afforded the same constitutional protections from undue interference by the government.

"The same is not true, however, in cases in which the first amendment freedom of the press and the sixth amendment right to a fair trial inexorably conflict."

He said it is an "established principle that the freedoms guaranteed by the first amendment are not absolutes, and may be altered or restricted when the exercise of competing privileges requires such action."

The brief said pretrial publicity had to be restricted in the Simants case to allow selection of an impartial jury, necessary if Simants was to receive a fair trial. The trial court had an "affirmative duty" to protect the interests of the defendant, according to the brief.

It went on to say one of the main dangers with pretrial publicity is "its unchecked impact on potential jurors" and this is "especially true in extraordinary or bizarre cases which are covered more extensively by the press and generally are more exciting, intriguing, or newsworthy than other criminal cases."

In the Simants case, the brief said, the Nebraska Supreme Court fully protected the sixth amendment rights of Simants without imposing unreasonable restraints on the news media.

The U.S. Supreme Court is expected to hear arguments on the constitutionality of the Stuart order this spring.

Koefoot Blasts Priority Of Cardiovascular Unit

Strenuous opposition to the proposed $8 million cardiovascular facility at the Medical Center in Omaha came Friday from University of Nebraska Regent Robert Koefoot.

Koefoot said the university system's Medical Center budget as approved by the regents didn't include the cardiovascular facility and he can't support it.

The Appropriations Committee last Monday voted 7-2 to provide $250,000 in planning money to get the proposed project started.

"At no time has this cardiovascular center been on the capital construction priority list of the Board of Regents," Koefoot said.

"At no time has the Board of Regents asked for the expenditure of $1 for this project," he added. "Yet through the political arena we find this center given priority above many, many other much-needed projects."

Bliss Awarded $150

Rodney B. Bliss, a freshman in the College of Engineering and Technology at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, has been awarded the $150 Omaha Post-Society of American Military Engineers Scholarship. Bliss, a construction management major, is from Nebraska City.

Alcohol Deemed Cause Of Death

The death of a 26-year-old Lincoln man Wednesday has been attributed to an excess of alcohol in his blood, according to the Lancaster County attorneys office.

Rolin Phillips, of 300 S. 16th, was found lying in a bed in the home of a friend at 2208 S. 14th, police said.

Friends said the man had been drinking all day. His blood alcohol content was tested at .42%, according to police. A limit of .10% is legally drunk.

The Lancaster County Attorney's Office said no evidence has been found that Phillips was taking Antabuse, a drug that causes a violent physical reaction when a person taking the medication consumes alcohol.

One of Phillips friends had told authorities that Phillips was taking Antabuse, which is sometimes prescribed by courts when judges feel alcohol contributes to an offender's problems.

Lancaster County Attorney Bernie McGinn said that normally a person will vomit or pass out before he can drink enough to kill himself. Those bodily defense mechanisms apparently did not work in Phillips case, McGinn said.

An autopsy was conducted in the case.

Woman Accused Of Drug Sales

A 29-year-old woman was charged Friday with selling heroin and amphetamines to two bearded undercover Lincoln police officers.

The alleged transactions with Nancy J. Taube allegedly took place at her home at 2608 Nottingham Ct.

A preliminary hearing in the case will be set March 23. Bond was set at $2,000.

Tax Reform Offered

Washington (UPI) — Legislation to reform the federal estate tax laws and designed to save the family farm was introduced into the House by Rep. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa.

Reversal Asked Of Phone Tap Suit Decision

St. Louis (AP) — A federal appeals court has taken under advisement a suit in which a Nebraska man is seeking damages from a detective agency which allegedly helped his wife tap his telephone.

Attorneys for Duane White of Bellevue, Neb., told the court Thursday that White was entitled to damages under the federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act.

That law allows persons whose wire or oral communications are intercepted to file a civil suit against the persons responsible.

A lower court ruled against White, saying the law was intended to counter organized crime, not to regulate wire taps by one spouse against the other in connection with domestic relations conflicts.

White claimed that a detective for the Midwest Bureau of Investigation Inc. helped his wife tap his telephone in an effort to prove he was having an extramarital affair. He is seeking $14,200 in damages.

An attorney for the detective firm told the appeals court that it had merely supplied the equipment to White's wife and told her how to operate it.

Heavyweight Boxer Given Three Terms In State Pen

Omana (AP) — District Court Judge Samuel Caniglia Friday sentenced Morris L. Jackson, 31-year-old Omaha heavyweight boxer, to three terms in the Nebraska Penal Complex.

Jackson was sentenced to two terms of three to nine years on each of two counts of robbery and another three years on a charge of a felon in possession of a firearm.

Caniglia ordered that all three terms be served at the same time, making Jackson eligible for parole in about two years.

Jackson pleaded guilty Feb. 11. He was arrested last November and charged with robbing two Shaver's Food Marts in Omaha.

Police said a total of $3,700 was taken in the two robberies

Omaha Woman Enters Guilty Plea In Trial

Omaha (AP) — A woman who testified that she shot a man after he beat her for refusing to help him set up a prostitution ring pleaded guilty to manslaughter Thursday.

Margie L. Martin, 24, of Omaha, entered the plea during her Douglas County District Court trial on an original charge of second-degree murder.

Mrs. Martin, who is 4-feet-8-inches tall and weighs 69 pounds, was accused of shooting John Silas, 21, of Omaha. She said Silas was about 6 feet tall and was more than three times her weight.

Pre-Sentence Probe Ordered

Omaha (AP) — Douglas County District Court Judge Theodore Richling has ordered a pre-sentence investigation following the second-degree murder conviction of Richard Walker, 32, of Omaha.

Walker was found guilty in the Aug. 7 death of his wife, Mary Linda.

Mrs. Walker, 22, was shot twice while sitting in her brother's car.

Douglas Brief Supports Simants Press Gag

By United Press International

District Judge Hugh Stuart of North Platte acted correctly when he restricted pretrial publicity in the Erwin Charles Simants murder case, Nebraska Attorney General Paul Douglas said in a brief filed with the U.S. Supreme Court Thursday.

The brief, submitted on behalf of the judge, said the news media have the power to so "inform and arouse the interests and feelings of the community so that no fair trial can be had."

Simants was convicted in January of slaying six members of a Sutherland, Neb., family.

A number of news organizations have asked the court to rule Stuart's order restricting pretrial publicity unconstitutional.

The Douglas brief said, "Various reported (court) decisions have held that the right to freedom of the press exists coequally with other constitutional rights and must be afforded the same constitutional protections from undue interference by the government.

"The same is not true, however, in cases in which the first amendment freedom of the press and the sixth amendment right to a fair trial inexorably conflict."

He said it is an "established principle that the freedoms guaranteed by the first amendment are not absolutes, and may be altered or restricted when the exercise of competing privileges requires such action."

The brief said pretrial publicity had to be restricted in the Simants case to allow selection of an impartial jury, necessary if Simants was to receive a fair trial. The trial court had an "affirmative duty" to protect the interests of the defendant, according to the brief.

It went on to say one of the main dangers with pretrial publicity is "its unchecked impact on potential jurors" and this is "especially true in extraordinary or bizarre cases which are covered more extensively by the press and generally are more exciting, intriguing, or newsworthy than other criminal cases."

In the Simants case, the brief said, the Nebraska Supreme Court fully protected the sixth amendment rights of Simants without imposing unreasonable restraints on the news media.

The U.S. Supreme Court is expected to hear arguments on the constitutionality of the Stuart order this spring.

Koefoot Blasts Priority Of Cardiovascular Unit

Strenuous opposition to the proposed $8 million cardiovascular facility at the Medical Center in Omaha came Friday from University of Nebraska Regent Robert Koefoot.

Koefoot said the university system's Medical Center budget as approved by the regents didn't include the cardiovascular facility and he can't support it.

The Appropriations Committee last Monday voted 7-2 to provide $250,000 in planning money to get the proposed project started.

"At no time has this cardiovascular center been on the capital construction priority list of the Board of Regents," Koefoot said.

"At no time has the Board of Regents asked for the expenditure of $1 for this project," he added. "Yet through the political arena we find this center given priority above many, many other much-needed projects."

Bliss Awarded $150

Rodney B. Bliss, a freshman in the College of Engineering and Technology at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, has been awarded the $150 Omaha Post-Society of American Military Engineers Scholarship. Bliss, a construction management major, is from Nebraska City.

Alcohol Deemed Cause Of Death

The death of a 26-year-old Lincoln man Wednesday has been attributed to an excess of alcohol in his blood, according to the Lancaster County attorneys office.

Rolin Phillips, of 300 S. 16th, was found lying in a bed in the home of a friend at 2208 S. 14th, police said.

Friends said the man had been drinking all day. His blood alcohol content was tested at .42%, according to police. A limit of .10% is legally drunk.

The Lancaster County Attorney's Office said no evidence has been found that Phillips was taking Antabuse, a drug that causes a violent physical reaction when a person taking the medication consumes alcohol.

One of Phillips friends had told authorities that Phillips was taking Antabuse, which is sometimes prescribed by courts when judges feel alcohol contributes to an offender's problems.

Lancaster County Attorney Bernie McGinn said that normally a person will vomit or pass out before he can drink enough to kill himself. Those bodily defense mechanisms apparently did not work in Phillips case, McGinn said.

An autopsy was conducted in the case.

Woman Accused Of Drug Sales

A 29-year-old woman was charged Friday with selling heroin and amphetamines to two bearded undercover Lincoln police officers.

The alleged transactions with Nancy J. Taube allegedly took place at her home at 2608 Nottingham Ct.

A preliminary hearing in the case will be set March 23. Bond was set at $2,000.

Tax Reform Offered

Washington (UPI) — Legislation to reform the federal estate tax laws and designed to save the family farm was introduced into the House by Rep. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa.

Reversal Asked Of Phone Tap Suit Decision

St. Louis (AP) — A federal appeals court has taken under advisement a suit in which a Nebraska man is seeking damages from a detective agency which allegedly helped his wife tap his telephone.

Attorneys for Duane White of Bellevue, Neb., told the court Thursday that White was entitled to damages under the federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act.

That law allows persons whose wire or oral communications are intercepted to file a civil suit against the persons responsible.

A lower court ruled against White, saying the law was intended to counter organized crime, not to regulate wire taps by one spouse against the other in connection with domestic relations conflicts.

White claimed that a detective for the Midwest Bureau of Investigation Inc. helped his wife tap his telephone in an effort to prove he was having an extramarital affair. He is seeking $14,200 in damages.

An attorney for the detective firm told the appeals court that it had merely supplied the equipment to White's wife and told her how to operate it.

Heavyweight Boxer Given Three Terms In State Pen

Omana (AP) — District Court Judge Samuel Caniglia Friday sentenced Morris L. Jackson, 31-year-old Omaha heavyweight boxer, to three terms in the Nebraska Penal Complex.

Jackson was sentenced to two terms of three to nine years on each of two counts of robbery and another three years on a charge of a felon in possession of a firearm.

Caniglia ordered that all three terms be served at the same time, making Jackson eligible for parole in about two years.

Jackson pleaded guilty Feb. 11. He was arrested last November and charged with robbing two Shaver's Food Marts in Omaha.

Police said a total of $3,700 was taken in the two robberies.

Omaha Woman Enters Guilty Plea In Trial

Omaha (AP) — A woman who testified that she shot a man after he beat her for refusing to help him set up a prostitution ring pleaded guilty to manslaughter Thursday.

Margie L. Martin, 24, of Omaha, entered the plea during her Douglas County District Court trial on an original charge of second-degree murder.

Mrs. Martin, who is 4-feet-8-inches tall and weighs 69 pounds, was accused of shooting John Silas, 21, of Omaha. She said Silas was about 6 feet tall and was more than three times her weight.

Pre-Sentence Probe Ordered

Omaha (AP) — Douglas County District Court Judge Theodore Richling has ordered a pre-sentence investigation following the second-degree murder conviction of Richard Walker, 32, of Omaha.

Walker was found guilty in the Aug. 7 death of his wife, Mary Linda.

Mrs. Walker, 22, was shot twice while sitting in her brother's car.
